'TERRIBLE THING'

Starvation Death Probe By Scurrah

By JOHN MIKA

Mayor Percy Scurrah said today he will make a personal investigation of the death by starvation Thursday of a 71-year-old Chinese old age pensioner.

The tragedy, which sent violent ripples of shock through the city, has touched off separate investigations by police, health and welfare departments. Police Chief John Blackstock said today a report also would be made to coroner Dr. Edward Hart.

Doy Lum, 71, of 546½ Herald, apparently staggered down the stairs from his apartment building room Tuesday and collapsed in a side alley—only about 75 feet from the Chinese Hospital directly across the street.

He was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital emergency ward by police acting on a cryptic telephone call. He died within 24 hours without regaining consciousness.

At death, he weighed 60 pounds, was emaciated and in filthy condition with his finger and toe nails an inch long.

$75 A MONTH

Welfare officials confirmed the fact that he was receiving a $55 monthly old age pension and a $20 monthly bonus. He also had a provincial government card entitling him to free medical services.

"I'm going to go down to the neighborhood myself and make an effort to find out what happened to see if this sort of thing can be avoided," he said.

City Welfare Administrator William Hooson said there may be many similar cases of recluses falling ill and dying among the estimated 600 elderly Chinese sitting out their last days in one-room cubicles scattered through the Chinatown area.

CAN'T BE FOUND

"There's nothing we can do for these people because we can't find them. They won't come to ask for help and their neighbors don't report them," he said.

Both Mr. Hooson and Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy, Victoria-Esquimalt medical health officer, said the appalling death pointed up the need for expansion of the 24-bed Chinese hospital which has been overcrowded for years.

"To put it bluntly," said Dr. Mahaffy, "these people are not willing to go to Occidental hospitals. They want to be among their own people. The only solution is to increase the size of their hospital."

REFUSED DOCTORS

Eric Joe, manager of the aparement building where Doy Lum lived and 1958 president of the Victoria Chinatown Lions Club, said the recluse refused every offer of assistance.

"I sent three doctors to see him. But he would have absolutely nothing to do with Occidental doctors. He refused to consider going to hospital," he said.

"Last year I got a Chinese doctor to visit him and he told me that Lum was not suffering

Searchers Listen In Vain

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Two hundred searchers remained outside overnight in the area surrounding the Willow River home of two-year-old Cindy Lou MacLane in hopes the child, if still alive, would make some sound that would lead them to her.

They heard nothing. Hopes that the little girl, missing from her home since 9 a.m. Tuesday, might still be alive flickered.

However, 500 searchers were back on the job shortly after daybreak and RCMP expected the number to swell to more than 1,000 later today.

Schools at Willow River closed for 1½ days so that students could take part in the search 14 miles east of Prince George, reopened this morning.

Britain, U.S. Ready to Meet On Atom Ban

LONDON (AP)—Britain and the United States today agreed to meet Russia in Geneva Oct. 31 to negotiate a world-wide ban on nuclear weapon tests.

They restated their willingness to quit firing atomic and hydrogen weapons for one year from that Oct. 31 date.

In notes to the Soviet Union made public today simultaneously in London and Washington, the two countries rejected Premier Khrushchev's proposal that the Geneva talks be limited to two or three weeks.

The British reply said:

"Her Majesty's government of course agree that the negotiations should be concluded as quickly as possible, but believe that their importance requires the expenditure of whatever time may mutually be deemed necessary for their successful conclusion."

NO PERMANENT BAN

The American and British notes both make it plain that the two countries do not accept Khrushchev's demands that the ban on tests be made permanent.

Missingg In Atlantic

U.K. EXPLODES H-BOMB

LONDON (AP) — Britain today exploded a nuclear device in the central Pacific, the defence ministry announced. The device — presumably a hydrogen bomb—was dropped by a Vickers Valiant jet bomber.

CONVOY ESCORTED BY U.S.

Reds Beat Off Quemoy Relief

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Nationalist supply ships, convoyed by American warships, reached Quemoy beach today but were forced to turn back by a heavy Red artillery barrage before they could unload the bulk of their cargo.

Associated Press Correspondent Gene Framer said an "intense saturation shelling" forced two supply ships to withdraw from the beach after they had unloaded only a few supplies for the Nationalist garrison.

American warships stood off at a distance, he said.

The Nationalist defence ministry said earlier that the supply ships had returned undamaged to their Pescadores base after unloading.

SECOND FAILURE

This was the first attempt to run supplies to the garrison since Monday, when Communist artillery blew up an ammunition ship and forced another to retreat after losing most of its cargo.

The Red artillery opened up at the appearance of the convoy today after being silent 21 hours.

The U.S. command on Formosa announced that U.S. jet pilots have begun taking an active part in the defence of Formosa itself.

'HOT PURSUIT' IF ATTACKED

ABOARD THE CARRIER MIDWAY, OFF FORMOSA (AP) — If Communist planes attack aircraft of the U.S. 7th Fleet, they will be pursued to the coast of Communist China and possibly beyond.

The commander of the fleet's carrier striking force, Rear-Admiral Ralph S. Clarke, said today his pilots are restricted at present to flying no closer than 20 miles to the China coast.

But if attacked they will, under the doctrine of "hot pursuit," chase attackers to the mainland. Once there, it would be up to the individual pilot's discretion whether to pursue farther.

Ike May Tell Peace Plans On TV Tonight

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower was expected to discuss possible compromises to prevent war with Communist China in a speech to the nation tonight. The address will be broadcast all around the world by the Voice of America.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles hinted at his news conference Tuesday that some concessions might be made if the Communists would renounce use of force in the area.

President Eisenhower's address will be carried both by television and radio.

The speech will be carried live by Channel 5, Seattle, starting at 7. Radio stations CJVI and CBU will also carry it at the same time. It is expected to last a half-hour.

CHEK-TV will join the CBC network for a delayed telecast at 11.15. Channel 4, KOMO-TV, Seattle, will carry the delayed telecast at the same time.

Keen Race For Leader Predicted

Tory Convention Opens In Vancouver

By PETE LOUDEN
Times Political Reporter

Voting takes place Saturday afternoon just prior to the convention finish. At this point anyone could win.

Candidates will make final campaign speeches Friday night.

Today's program was given over to registration of the first of the expected 600 delegates who are trickling in from all parts of the province.

Preliminary committee meetings are also being held.

Opening general session was set to begin at 8 tonight.

Acting president of the provincial executive, William Payne, MP, was to give the call to order. Keynote address was to be made by federal Public Works Minister Howard Green.

A battery of special guests is slated to appear at the three-day meet. These include Defence Minister George Pearkes, Justice Minister Davie Fulton, Burnaby MP Douglas Jung, Alberta Tory leader W. J. C. Kirby, MLA, and Allister Grosart. Mr. Grosart, responsible for national party organization, is described as the man who won Canada for Prime Minister Diefenbaker in the last federal election.

FULL TURNOUT

Registration to date ensures a successful convention according to Derrick Humphreys, chairman of registration. Delegates are arriving by boat, plane, rail and private car from all parts of B.C. All 42 provincial and 22 federal ridings will be represented.

"A representation is even coming down from Alaska, just 30 miles south of the B.C.-Yukon border," said Mr. Humphreys.

LABOR PLANK

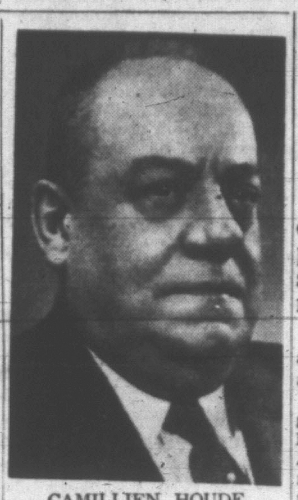
Leadership candidate Dr. Kidd said he felt one of the most important planks in the new Conservative platform will be the policy on labor matters.

He added that during his recent tour of B.C., he had been in 41 out of 42 ridings, and had spoken at least 60 times.

"I think I have spoken to 80 per cent of all the delegates, I don't know whether they all agree with me or not."

Asked what makes him think he will be a better leader than Mr. Finlayson, Dr. Kidd replied: "I know this province extremely well for one thing. I don't believe we have a provincial organization comparable to the federal organization. I would work on the provincial organization. It is not completely done."

He said if he did not win he would throw his full support behind Mr. Finlayson.



CAMILLIEN HOUDE

'Mister Montreal' Dies at 69

MONTREAL (CP)—Camillien Houde, 69, whose colorful terms as mayor earned him the title of Mr. Montreal, died suddenly today.

Mr. Houde, living quietly in retirement since 1954, had also served in the Quebec legislature and the federal parliament.

But it was as mayor of Montreal that he gained international fame, part of it due to his interfment during the Second World War because of his opposition to conscription.

He was first elected mayor in 1928 and served until 1932. He was re-elected in 1934 and resigned in 1936. He was elected again in 1938 and served until 1940 when he publicly opposed national registration of Canadians.

On his release from internment in 1944 he was given a hero's welcome on his return to Montreal and was promptly re-elected mayor. He was undefeated in subsequent elections until his retirement due to ill health in 1954.

He served one term in Parliament from 1949 until 1953.

LED CONSERVATIVES

In provincial politics, he was elected to the Quebec legislature as a Conservative in 1923. He was defeated in 1927 but re-elected in a 1928 by-election. He was chosen leader of the Quebec Conservatives in 1929 but was defeated in the 1931 provincial election. Later he sat in the legislature for a brief period as an independent.

Mr. Houde was born Aug. 13, 1889, the son of Azade Houde and Josephine Frenette. Their home was a two-room tenement flat. Camillien was the only one of 10 Houde children to live beyond the age of two.

His first job was to carry butcher's delivery parcels for $1 a week. When he was 16 he got a job in a bank and rose to be a branch manager at 26.

YOUNG TORIES SUPPORT KIDD

Bargaining Club For Negotiators

More than 8,000 employees of the B.C. government have decided by an estimated 80 to 90 per cent ballot to take a strike vote, "if necessary," to force more pay from the Bennett administration.

Victoria civil servants will decide on their action at a mass meeting here Monday, and several other branches are still to be heard from.

John Murrell, director of organization for the 11,250-strong B.C. Government Employees Association, told The Times replies to an "Are you prepared to take drastic action" letter have brought a loud "yes" so far from civil servants in 20 communities throughout B.C.

They are Vancouver, New Westminster, Chilliwack, Comox, Fort St. John, Golden, Powell River, Prince George, Kamloops, Merritt, Nanaimo, Princeton, Penticton, Terrace, Tranquille, Williams Lake, Salmon Arm, Woodlands School (Vancouver), Allison Pass and Vernon.

This is what the government employees voted "yes" to:

- Forego wage increases for 1958 (they have been demanding a 10 per cent boost);
- Go "all the way" for a pay boost starting at 11 per cent in 1959 by ensuring that sufficient money is provided in the 1959 budget for increases as of April 1, 1959;
- Take "all necessary steps," including a strike vote, to enforce demands.

No Satisfaction Given—Time to Act

"We don't like the government's attitude," said Mr. Murrell, "We have been trying to get some sort of satisfaction from Bennett for a long time, and now it's time to do something about it.

'But remember we are not pioneering a strike vote. Such a vote will be taken only if absolutely necessary and there seems no other way. We just would like to know where we stand."

The association demanded a 15-per-cent increase in 1957, but received only 7½ per cent.

Mr. Murrell said he had written several times to Premier Bennett, but did not receive any acknowledgement.

"The other day I made an appointment with one of the cabinet ministers, then changed the time of day when he asked me to. I took a plan and arrived in good time, but when I went to meet the minister I was told he was out of town.

"Is this any way to run the government? The public is entitled to something better from the men it has elected."

Mr. Murrell added the Bennett government had not been "at all courteous" in its dealings with its own employees.

Earlier, association officials said there is little likelihood the government will include money in the 1959 estimates to provide wage increases "unless the members of the association are prepared to take some militant action."

History of Fight for Recognition

The civil servants' recent story began at the annual convention Oct. 11 and 12, 1957, when the association directed its executive to press for improvements in wages, superannuation, semi-monthly, substitution pay, night shift differential, annual holiday and other benefits.

These demands were incorporated in a brief to the cabinet Dec. 3, 1957. No answer was received.

On March 28, 1958, another brief was sent to cabinet, emphasizing the association's concern over the government's attitude in ignoring briefs, the Premier's failure to answer association letters, and the fact the government had failed to implement understandings (on pay) arrived at in the 1957 settlement.

A further brief was presented June 6, with a reply requested by July 7.

On July 7 a reply was received from the provincial secretary outlining the action taken by the government "to date." The only major action reported was retroactive pay for Toll Bridge Authority employees.

In July, 1957, there was a 7½ per cent settlement but "it did not bring salaries up to the level of outside employment and since that time they have slipped to a position of approximately 11 per cent below comparable outside salaries."

The government gave no indication they intended to remedy the situation and the fact that no money was provided in the estimates at the last session is said to prove they have no such intention.

The association letter to employees declares, "These lagging salaries place government employees in the position of subsidizing the government's austery program to the tune of $4,750,000 in 1958, in addition to their normal contribution to government coffers as citizens and taxpayers."

The employees threatened to walk off their jobs at 7 a.m. July 12, 1957, but the strike was averted on the eve of the walkout when the 7½ per cent boost was agreed to by the cabinet, and (then) Chief Justice Gordon Sloan appointed to head a board of reference to hear arguments on changes in bargaining procedure.

Reprieve Refused In Death for $1.95

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The Alabama supreme court today refused to reconsider an earlier decision which upheld the death sentence of Jimmy Wilson for a $1.95 robbery. The Negro handyman's execution was reset for Friday, Oct. 24.

Wilson's death sentence for the robbery of an elderly white widow was upheld by the supreme court last June 12, but the condemned man asked for a rehearing. That request was denied by the court today.

The effect of the denial was to uphold the death penalty for a second time and to order the 55-year-old illiterate ex-convict put to death in the electric chair.

Wilson, whose fate has attracted world-wide attention, was sentenced to death on a charge of robbing 82-year-old Mrs. Estelle Barker at her home at Marion, Ala., July 27, 1957.

Mrs. Barker told the trial jury the Negro, along with taking the money, choked her, tried to rape her and threatened her life.

Robbery is a capital offence in Alabama, but only Negroes have ever received this maximum penalty.

DR. KIDD REPLIES ON REPORTED PM BACKING

'Supporting No Candidate'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Provincial Conservative leader Deane Finlayson today cleared up the mystery of a letter of support from Prime Minister Diefenbaker — he said there was no such letter.

The 39-year-old leader, who is seeking confirmation of his office at a party convention opening tonight, was questioned about the reported letter at a press conference.

After denying any knowledge of such a letter, Mr. Finlayson said: "This is a provincial convention and I am prepared to stand on my own feet."

By PETE LOUDEN
Times Staff Reporter)

VANCOUVER — Assurance that Prime Minister John Diefenbaker is "supporting no particular candidate" in the current Conservative leadership race has been received by Dr. Desmond F. Kidd, he said today.

Dr. Kidd, who is jousting with incumbent leader Deane Finlayson at the Tory convention which opened here today, denied Mr. Finlayson had received the P.M.'s backing in a letter.

"If Mr. Finlayson had any such letter, I challenge him to produce it," said Dr. Kidd.

Following a report that the prime minister had written Mr. Finlayson indicating support, Mr. Finlayson kept a discreet silence.

Meantime, Dr. Kidd's committee issued its first public criticism of the Finlayson leadership.

Kidd committee spokesman, George McLean said "only 22 ridings were organized in the last provincial election — the Conservative party has died in many areas."

"The committee feels a re-

Governor Blamed For Segregation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Counsel for the Little Rock School board told the supreme court today that Gov. Orval E. Faubus and other state and local authorities "frustrated" racial integration of Central High School.

He said during cross-examination by the justices that the board would not be seeking a two and one-half-year delay in integration if state authorities had given their unequivocal support.

Richard C. Butler also sug that Faubus' answer to integration may not work.

It's possible, he said, that the Arkansas Supreme Court will rule unconstitutional the special law pushed through the state legislature authorizing Faubus to close any school forced by court order to integrate.

Butler told the supreme court that a delay in integration is needed to provide time for resolving "a head-on collision between the federal and state governments."

Faubus to Defy Supreme Court?

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Governor Orval Faubus indicated today that he expects the United States Supreme Court to order integration of the schools in Little Rock and said, "I will not force my people to integrate against their will."

He made the statement at a press conference shortly after the supreme court convened in Washington.

"I will fight to preserve the rights guaranteed to the people under the constitution," he said, "and that includes the control of the schools."

PM Won't Press Formosa at UN

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker now does not plan to pursue his suggestion that the United Nations intervene in the Formosa Strait dispute, it was learned Wednesday.

Feeling here is that there is no particular need for the UN to intervene now that the United States and Communist China are planning to hold ambassadorial talks in Warsaw on the situation.

Meanwhile, the national CCF party Wednesday sent a telegram to the prime minister expressing concern about "press and radio" reports that the United States Navy will land Chinese Nationalist forces on Quemoy Island in the next 24 hours.

The telegram, signed by CCF national president David Lewis, said if the reports are true they represent a "most serious and immediate" threat to world peace.

Mr. Lewis urged the government to abandon its "foolhardy course."

The "entire question" of Formosa should be referred to the United Nations.

birth cannot take place under present leadership. That is why the committee is sponsoring Dr. Kidd. Mr. Finlayson had six years to foster a rebirth—and no rebirth has been forthcoming."

Dr. Kidd withheld personal criticism of Mr. Finlayson, but he issued a lengthy statement concerning the allegation that the prime minister favored the Finlayson leadership.

"I have been assured today that the prime minister is supporting no particular candidate for the leadership—either publicly or privately.

"His attitude, I am told, is the same as it was or is for other provincial leadership conventions, that of taking no sides.

"There has been a reference made in some sections of the B.C. press to a letter reputed to have been sent to Mr. Finlayson, expressing his (the prime minister's) support.

CHALLENGE THOWN

"In view of the assurance I have received, I would be most surprized if there is, in fact, such a letter. If Mr. Finlayson has any such letter, I challenge him to produce it. Proof of the PM's attitude will be made evident to all Sept. 25 when he expects the new leader to meet him on his arrival in Vancouver.

"If any member of the press wishes to confirm this, the prime minister is available in Prince Albert today."

Dr. Kidd would not comment when asked if the assurances were given to him direct by the prime minister.

"That question should be directed to Mr. Finlayson. I didn't start this thing, it began in Stuart Keate's (Victoria Times publisher) column."

Finlayson would neither confirm nor deny the existence of the letter. He said:

"The prime minister is an old political campaigner. I have supported him for years in his leadership of the Conservative party because I believed he was the right man.

"I've been in his company a number of times and I campaigned for his candidates in 1957 and 1958. He knows who I am and what I've done for the party."

Mr. Diefenbaker said in a telephone conversation in Prince Albert he would make no comment on the reported letter.

The prime minister said he never becomes "involved directly or indirectly" in provincial party affairs.

from any particular illness. He was thin and living in squalor but that was the way he wanted it.

"I offered to get him some decent clothes from the Lions Club or the Salvation Army because he was wearing rags, but he wouldn't have any of it."

NO PLACE TO GO

"He was living in a terrible condition but I couldn't turn him out, there was no place for him to go," said Mr. Joe. "I don't know of any relatives he may have had."

Investigations so far have not penetrated the circumstances of the death. However, several persons involved in the various investigations believe that he fell ill and became too weak to go out for food.

"I hadn't seen him for a month, but that was not unusual because he kept entirely to himself," said Mr. Joe. "I just got back last night from a holiday and I don't know what happened since I last saw him."

BIGGER HOSPITALS

Mr. Hooson said there is a growing problem in meeting the needs of elderly Chinese here since the Communists took over Ghina. Few Chinese return to their homeland now when they grow old.

"They stay on here but they live alone and they are extremely reluctant to come to us when they need help," he said. "We can't trace them all.

"But most of them, when they are ill, are willing to go to the Chinese hospital where they are among their own people and eat their own food. That's why we must find a way of expanding that hospital to help these people."

Funeral arrangements are in the hands of the Dart Coon Club. The body will be buried in Royal Oak Burial Park when arrangements are completed.

Flowers on Display

The Gordon Head Garden Club will hold its annual fall show in the Gordon Head community hall Saturday from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m.

There will be a stall for sale of bulbs and plants.

EDDIE, DEBBIE SEPARATE AMID GOSSIP

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Debbie Reynolds and Eddie Fisher have separated although Debbie says, "I'm still in love with my husband."

They split up Wednesday amid rumors that Elizabeth Taylor was the cause of it all.

But Liz indicated there were some unhappy chapters in Hollywood's storybook marriage.

"I don't feel that I've taken Eddie away from Debbie—because they weren't getting along, anyway," said Miss Taylor.

She slipped into seclusion. Eddie moved in with a friend, comedian Joey Forman. Debbie, after hiding out Wednesday with friends, returned to the family home.

"I am still in love with my husband," she said Wednesday night. "I am deeply shocked over what has happened."

That means the planes stand on runways, fully armed and warmed up. American pilots are ready to take off the moment there is any report of unidentified planes approaching.

U.S. PLANES READY

The spokesman would not say how many U.S. planes and pilots are involved, but it is generally believed there are about 250 to 300 U.S. air force and marine jets on Formosa ready for combat.

Peiping radio reported that militia men have been mobilized at Amoy and the Tateng and Hsiao-teng islands across from Quemoy.

The broadcast said they were "ready to co-ordinate with the Chinese people's liberation army in wiping out invaders at any moment."

The Russians also issued another warning to the United States that war with China would mean war with the Soviet Union.

In a broadcast beamed to North America, Moscow radio repeated its pledges to come to China's aid and warned that China is no "little Lebanon." It repeated Premier Krushchev's demand that the 7th Fleet withdraw from the Formosa Strait and U.S. troops get out of Formosa.

Final Rites Set Saturday For City Man

Mainland Milk Strike Threat Averted by $25 Wage Boost

VANCOUVER (CP) — The threat of a lower mainland milk workers' strike was lifted Wednesday.

Milk drivers union spokesman Ben McCrone said peace terms were arranged at an all-day mediation session presided over by William Fraser, provincial government conciliator.

Operators agreed to give milk drivers a $25 monthly pay increase retroactive to April 1, and this will be boosted to $30 when a contract is signed.

From Jan. 1, they will receive an additional $13.75 until the agreement expires March 31, 1960.

Plant workers will get a $25 raise effective April 1 this year and a further $15 next April.

Women workers in the plants receive half these amounts.

The union originally asked $48 a month for drivers in a one-year agreement, and $43 for inside workers.

Drivers' pay will now average about $355 a month and plant pay will range up to $342.

HOURS LIMITED FOR BOAT RAMP

Effective immediately, the boat launching ramp near Oak Bay boathouse will be barred from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m., Reeve Fred Norris said today.

The move is being taken, he said, because of inconvenience to nearby residents associated with increasing use of the ramp.

We've gone fishing for facts

Education and information is an important part of the Department of Fisheries' work—telling the facts about Canada's fishing industry.

Fish are a great national resource . . . vital to this country's economy. Canada's welfare—which means yours—depends on keeping them in plentiful supply. The educational program of the Department is designed to tell Canadians what's being done to preserve the nation's extensive fish stocks and how valuable they are as a basic food resource.

This work is carried out through the daily and weekly press; radio and television; magazines; educational publications; recipe pamphlets for housewives; exhibitions; permanent fishery displays; film and filmstrip showings; and illustrated educational talks to fishermen and consumers.

Boy of 8 'Confesses' To Slaying Parents

Psychiatric Examination Probes Truth

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight-year-old Melvin Nimer, Jr., who, authorities said, told them he slew his mother and father with a kitchen knife, today was sent to New York's Bellevue Hospital for psychiatric examination.

The action was taken by children's court justice Charles E. Ramsgate with the concurrence of the district attorney and Harris B. Steinberg, counsel employed by relatives to represent the youngster.

Steinberg asserted at the hearing that "I don't think he ever raised a finger against his mother and father."

A preliminary psychiatric report on the child indicated he has a persecution complex and a personality compatible with the commission of violence.

The boy's uncle, Dr. Harold Nimer, said he does not believe the confession to the killing of Dr. Melvin Nimer and his pretty brunette wife, Lore Jean, both 31.

A source close to the investigation quoted the uncle as saying the boy had recanted after making a similar confession.

The boy's confession was obtained by District Attorney John M. Braisted last Saturday but was not disclosed until Wednesday night.

In the meantime, the calm, dry-eyed youngster flew to Utah and attended his parents' funeral—apparently never indicating that he had confessed.

No matter what the final findings in the case may be, the boy can not be charged with murder because of his age.

'DEFINITELY CAPABLE'

"He definitely is capable" of the killings, a detective said when asked about the boy's size and physical ability to inflict the stab wounds.

Braisted said young Melvin told him:

That he plotted the slaying days in advance—apparently aggrieved by some real or fancied action of his parents.

That he seized a knife from the kitchen, walked up stairs to the parents' bedroom, and stabbed his father first, then his mother.

That his father somehow staggered to his feet and chased him downstairs, then collapsed there—where police found him.

That he washed off the knife and replaced it in the kitchen.

Despite the boy's story, authorities said they still have not been able to identify the knife used in the slaying.

Originally, the search was concentrated on a missing four-inch scout knife belonging to Melvin.

This later was reported found between the pages of a Mormon magazine, Era. The magazine contained a story about a child's responsibilities entitled I Think of Papa.

DID MALENKOV SUICIDE?

GEORGI MALENKOV

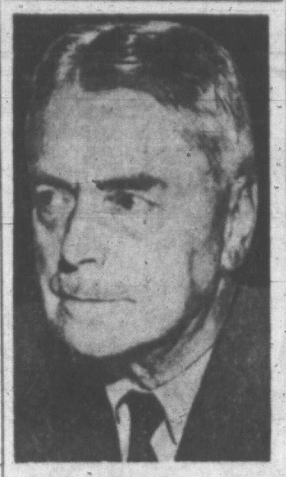
LONDON (AP)—A rumor that former Soviet premier Georgi Malenkov has committed suicide was circulating again in some London diplomatic circles today, but most Soviet experts here were skeptical.

The Daily Express said it received a Malenkov suicide report from "a particularly reliable source." The Express said the report appeared to be "the strongest among a spate of reports that have been reaching the West about the fate of the man Khrushchev toppled from power."

Today's new report claimed that Malenkov killed himself about 11 weeks ago rather than face trial for "sabotaging" Soviet industrial plans.



SURRENDER of Quemoy and Matsu islands to the Communist Chinese was advocated today by New Zealand's Prime Minister Walter Nash. He told parliament Formosa should become a neutral, demilitarized zone under United Nations protection.

NO PAY BOOST FOR FEDERAL CIVIL SERVICE

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Fleming has in effect rejected any general salary increase for the civil service at this time.

The minister today made public letters to the two chief civil service associations in which he said the Civil Service Commission had recommended against a general salary boost at this time. The last one was a year ago.

Mr. Fleming indicated the government has accepted the recommendation of the commission.

The commission said latest figures show civil servants were paid an average of $70.58 per week compared with $70.33 per week for Canadian industrial workers.

More U.S. Troops Quit Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—A second battalion of U.S. marines will sail home from Lebanon next week, but retiring President Camille Chamoun says the remaining 10,000 American troops may stay here until the end of October.

The 1,700-man battalion will begin boarding ship Monday. They will sail for the U.S. four days later, Sept. 19.

The battalion had been scheduled to go home from Mediterranean duty last May. The defence department in Washington said its place at sea with the 6th Fleet will be taken by about 1,900 men of the 6th Marine Regiment.

Admiral James L. Holloway, commander of U.S. forces in Lebanon, gave no indication that withdrawal of more American troops is imminent. Holloway has been in frequent conference lately with Chamoun and the man who will succeed him as president Sept. 24, Gen. Fuad Chehab.

The admiral reaffirmed U.S. declarations that the troops would remain "only as long as desired by the Lebanese government." They landed in July at Chamoun's request.

United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammaskjold began conferences with Chamoun and other Lebanese officials Wednesday. After talking with the secretary-general for 90 minutes, Chamoun said all U.S. troops "are not going to leave before the end of September and perhaps even the end of October."

More Than Street Brawls

BECAUSE IT CUTS SO SHARPLY against British tradition, race rioting in London, Nottingham and other English centres has shocked the democratic world.

Not the least deeply stirred are Britons themselves who have cherished their land's position as a refuge for the unpopular, the unwanted, the fugitive from discrimination in other countries.

The outrage expressed against the actions of a small minority involved in the fighting shows in itself the disposition of most people in Britain towards these unhappy incidents.

Explanations may be given for the cause of the trouble. Such explanations are not accepted by thoughtful people as justification for violence that has flared in various localities.

The development is ugly—a disfigurement on the nation's face.

But there is more to the issue of race trouble in Britain—infinitely more serious potential consequences—than a mark of shame inflicted by the individuals or groups directly involved.

In the climate of today, race-rioting and discrimination with violence have wide connotations. Where they occur, be it Little Rock or Notting Hill, they stand in the mind of many Asians and other native peoples now struggling for national recognition as symbols of an attitude by white people to the vast majority of this world's population which is not white.

The attack of the Teddy Boy on a colored person in a London district carries its own significance to the literate inhabitant of Bombay or Ghana. It is endowed with particular meaning to non-whites struggling up from the status of citizens in an under-developed former colonial country to a position of equality in a world of new nations.

In no international association is the solution of racial problems more important than in the British Commonwealth. A relatively small part of that family of nations is white. It is imperative that Britain convince the skeptics among those whose skin is dark that Britain's traditional tolerance towards them is not hypocritical.

Unless that proof is forthcoming, says The London Times, "the Commonwealth would not long survive the disillusionment" at the failure to find a solution to the racial question which is now a practical rather than a theoretical problem.

Perhaps the strength of the Commonwealth rests today on no characteristic more important than the ability of its members to get along with one another, regardless of creed and color. In many areas that ability is under severe test. If, to the angry disputes which exist among some of the family members, is added a failure in Britain to provide a just and equitable means of overcoming racial friction, then the unity and potential power of the Commonwealth is critically injured.

If, on the other hand, an answer is found—an answer acceptable to all concerned—then the chance of Britain and the Commonwealth assuming new and impressive leadership in the world of mixed peoples is greatly enhanced.

Of course arguments can be offered in support of hostility by some white people in Britain to the influx of colored immigrants—arguments based on economic facts and on emotional reactions — just as arguments can be advanced to excuse violence initiated by colored people.

But unless those arguments present ideas which lead to a satisfactory solution of the problem, they are profitless. Much more is at stake in these incidents than justification for one side or the other in clashes in the streets of London or Nottingham.

New Light on Algerian Issue

A RECENT REPORT ON THE costs of integrating Algeria completely into metropolitan France has thrown a new light on the problem confronting the Fifth Republic.

The report, circulated among deputies of the French Assembly, carries discouraging economic implications.

If Algeria were to be given full status as an integral part of France—as the Colons (French settlers) in Algeria claim it should—the drain on French revenue would be enormous.

A few points in the report illustrate the financial difficulties.

France ties its minimum salary schedules to a cost of living index. Applied to Algeria, that would double or triple existing pay scales there. The metropolitan average annual income is $900. In Algeria it is $175, although two-thirds of Algeria's Moslems average only $40 to $42 a year.

Metropolitan social security benefits extended to Algeria would cost metropolitan France at least $225,000,000 annually.

If educational standards were raised to those in France, capital expenditure on schools and instruction would be tremendous, since 75 per cent of Algerian children at present get no schooling at all and the birth rate there is far above that of France. By 1982, on the basis of current estimates, Algeria will have as many school-age children as France itself.

Development of North Africa resources—oil among them—would require vast capital expenditure from which adequate returns would be slow in coming.

In addition, defence expenditures would be a long-term and costly drain on French resources.

An indication of the possible answer has been furnished by Algeria's reaction to the imposition of new gasoline prices. In France a gallon costs nearly a dollar. In Algeria it has been 60 cents. When Gen. de Gaulle indicated Algerian gasoline prices should be lifted to those of France, as part of the integration move, immediate objection arose in Algeria. Eventually the tax was advanced only four cents in that region.

If that is the reaction to a boost in gasoline prices, what would the Colons do in the event of the infinitely greater charges involved in full integration? The answer seems implicit in the reaction to the proposed fuel increase. The costs of integration, added together, says one French newspaper, "completely leave the domain of reality."

Aquahoods

IN NANAIMO POLICE COURT recently a 16-year-old youth was fined $15 for violating the clause in the Canada Shipping Act requiring "safe and sane" operation of small vessels.

Evidence revealed that the boy in a fast outboard had "buzzed" a girl swimmer, cutting so close to her that the boat threw spray in her face and the propellor missed her by a narrow margin.

According to the news report, the conviction was believed to be the second of its kind in B.C. under new amendments to the act.

It is to be hoped full use will be made of the legislation to subdue any other smart alecks who endanger swimmers or others pursuing their lawful and inoffensive activities afloat. The sooner the irresponsible boat operator is put in his place, the better.

But the legislation might be applied more broadly than to those deliberately harassing others on the water. It might be brought into play to determine the degree of responsibility invested in very young people allowed to operate fast boats. Are they any more responsible than young people forbidden to drive cars until a certain age without adult supervision?

Alphabetic Economy

MR. ISAAC J. PITMAN, CONservative member of the British Parliament and disciple of George Bernard Shaw's phonetic English campaign, has quoted Shaw to support the adoption or formation of a new alphabet.

The old playwright, says Mr. Pitman, once told him that "England knows nothing of phonetics, hates education, but will do anything for money."

And when it is devised, Shaw's play "Androcles and the Lion" will be published in a book with one page carrying the words in the new alphabet and facing pages in standard English so that the public can make comparisons.

That, admittedly, is a fair way to invite judgment on the two forms. Funny way, though, to "save type, paper and time—hence money."

'That's Not Bad for Just Drifting—All the Way From the Middle East'

FROM WASHINGTON — By JOSEPH ALSOP

How the Decision Was Made

FOUR men have the primary responsibility for the immensely grave decision to use American troops, if need be, for the defence of Quemoy and the Matsus. At least half of the total responsibility and perhaps as much as two-thirds or three-quarters, must be allotted to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. Just about all the remainder belongs to three of the four joint chiefs of staff, the chairman, Gen. Nathan Twining, the chief of air staff, Gen. Thomas White, and the chief of naval operations, Adm. Arleigh Burke. These three were Dulles' main supporters at the council table.

Alsop

The Pentagon civilians no doubt approved the great decision, but they did not join in the policy-making process in the active, continuous and influential way that was customary in the past, when James V. Forrestal, or George C. Marshall, or Robert A. Lovett headed the defence department.

The able Secretary of Defence, Neil McElroy, was actually on vacation during the critical period, from mid-August through Labor Day. McElroy returned to Washington for a day or two, however, more than once during his vacation period.

Meaningless Decision

And a highly tentative decision in principle to join in the defence of the islands if need be, was taken on one of these occasions, while McElroy was here and before Secretary Dulles went off to his lake and the President departed for his golf course.

Yet this earlier decision in principle was still relatively meaningless.

If taken as reliably reported, the decision in principle was reached when many of the leaders of the government were clinging to the conviction that the Chinese Communists did not really mean business. Such a decision, taken in the belief that it will not have to be painfully implemented, is always relatively meaningless.

This one, if you like, could have been the other side of the medal of the American government's decision that we had no interest in Korea, which theoretically remained in force until the Communist aggression there.

The crucial moment of truth, in short, was the moment of Secretary Dulles' return from his lake on Sept. 1. By then, even the most complacent had begun to admit the Chinese Communists really might mean business after all. By then, it was necessary to fish or cut bait.

Dulles therefore flew off to Newport and secured the President's assent to the famous eight-point statement of American policy. The statement the President approved contained several loopholes and escape clauses. Speaking partly in his own name and partly through the remarkably transparent mask of a "high government official," Dulles then closed the loopholes and annulled the escape clauses. And that was that.

Anyone who has watched Dwight D. Eisenhower in action during the last five years must conclude that the President took his position on Quemoy and the Matsus with great reluctance and lively distaste. The escape clauses and loopholes included in the statement the President initialed at Dulles' behest are strong evidence, in themselves, of Eisenhower's real frame of mind.

Dulles' Assets

But Dulles had three enormous assets in his task of persuading Eisenhower to take this great and grave step.

The President long ago resigned to his secretary of state an unprecedented share of the decision-making power in the whole foreign field. The secretary had, as above noted, the strong support of three of the four joint chiefs of staff, with only the army chief, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, making the kind of hesitant objections that Gen. Omar Bradley also made when the Korean decision was taken.

And Dulles was further in the position of asking the President to say he would carry out in practice a previously sketched decision in principle.

Thus, it seems clear, the die was cast. (Unless, to be sure, the die is hastily picked up at the last moment; and we once again take the suicidal course of backing down, after still another round of big bold talk by the American government.)

Dominating Figure

The figure of Foster Dulles clearly dominated and towered above the whole process by which the die was cast. He has long wished to make a stand against the Communist advance. Last year, he and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd even wanted to send the Turks and the Iraqis into Syria, in order to forestall the left-wing coup d'etat there.

A stand has now been made after enormous prior losses, and at almost the worst possible point. But there is no good answer to the Dulles argument that all will be lost if a firm stand is not made now. One must be thankful for Dulles in this instance.

FLOW OF WORDS

A true book madman, like myself, isn't concerned with such a mundane affair as reading a book. He just likes to have them around. There are, of course, terrible dangers in this. Some book accumulators stock-pile books. They accumulate in the upper rooms of the house like a glacier, and slowly flow down, sweeping the furniture before them, until they reach the Melt line of the front door.

Derby Winners

I noticed recently in your information column an inquiry as to the Derby winner in 1895.

It was Sir Vista, which was the property of the late Lord Roseberry. This horse also won the St. Leger which, like the Derby, is limited to three-year-olds. I am keenly interested in British racing records and will endeavor to furnish information on that subject to the best of my ability.

Smoke But No Fire

Your correspondent "Alarmed" (Sept. 8) is rightly concerned by the fearful yearly loss of life and property caused by careless smokers. But he overlooks the real villian of the piece. He is the maker of the cigarets who has treated his product with a chemical that causes the cigaret to continue to burn when dropped. A cigaret made of untreated paper and tobacco will cease to burn when discarded.

When Will Nonsense Stop?

When is this silly nonsense going to stop? Now it's the poor old elevator which surely has had enough troubles without piling more on.

This striking business has got to stop, otherwise we are going to price ourselves out of the world's market. Strikes are not the answer. Like wars—if you win you loose. In wars you loose the cream of manhood; in strikes you loose your savings and prices on goods must go up accordingly. Who ever heard of wages going up and prices of commodities going down?

What we must have is a world's organization for peace and prices. Do away with war and all its hatred.

Going to the moon and all that crazy stuff—which is costing millions of dollars that could be spent to many purposes much better. The moon, stars and the heavens were put there for a purpose and believe old Bill or not, we will be wise not to disturb them—or we may destroy ourselves.

BILL ARCHER.

How Long?

Down on the East Coast the once proud Canadian merchant marine has sailed over the horizon, manned by crews of Cubans—who, I am told, make as good sailors as do post-war Canadians and in addition are prepared to do a day's work for less than three days' pay. News reports do not say whether the instigators of the strike that has wrecked this national enterprise have found other jobs for the erstwhile crews.

Out on this coast the final accounting has still to be made of the cost of the late coast-wise steamship strike. At the moment it appears that ultimately some two-thirds of the crews involved will lose their jobs. This figure may be increased somewhat with the final pay-off of the longshoremen's strike, which is just getting nicely under way.

Between the two coasts the railways are faced with wage demands which cannot be met without a 20 per cent increase in freight rates. It is not clear whether this estimate makes any allowance for the inevitable contraction in traffic that will follow such an increase in shippers' costs. We have recently had examples of two important British Columbia industries throwing in the sponge and moving their plants to locations where they have a chance of meeting expenses.

With the abundant fisheries catch that is now being landed, one would expect the packing industry here to get out of the red and make up last year's losses. The trouble, however, is that no one wants to buy our fish at prices that the unions say must be paid. After all, why should not a troller or a crewman on a seiner make eight or ten thousand dollars a year? If it were not for those Swedes and Finns and Russians we would be able to sell our lumber in the world's markets at prices that would allow a whistle punk in the woods to make $16 a day, less union dues.

Some years ago the Aluminum Company of Canada came to British Columbia to smelt aluminum with the low-cost power that they planned to develop here, I venture to say that they have a different idea now as to what a wage structure can do to them and that many of their executives right now wish that they had never heard of Kitimat, let alone British Columbia.

For 50 years the Britannia Mining & Smelting operated profitably in this province with copper prices often at 12 cents or even less. During this time the company provided a livelihood, directly or indirectly, for some thousands of people. Thanks to the economics of unionism this livelihood is gone forever and the company is reported to be in liquidation. The price of copper?—26 cents a pound.

How long, O Lord! How long?

"A. P."

'. . . and Instituting Socialism'

The Frank Partridges are still shouting their hysterical nonsense about high wages causing high prices and without any concrete evidence to prove it.

The economic facts show that The Second World War, by cutting off some imports and by demanding more workers for the armed forces and the armament industry, created an excess of demand over supply of many commodities, including labor-power, and initiated the present boom. The post-war armament industry, credit buying and import of capital have helped to keep it going. A general price rise is usually followed by a general rise in wages, if prices fall, wages fall. A movement of wages is almost always the result of changes in other factors of capitalist economy, never the opposite. A study of the subject will confirm this.

In the field of production of nonsense though, the Frank Partridges are not the only competitors (and it's a big field these days). The Victoria Labor Council is right in there pitching. Mr. Barrie, its president is quoted as saying that the VLC will "continue to strive to eliminate inequalities for all citizens," etc., and further, "To this end also, we endorse the united appeal of the Community Chest."

The workers are to be congratulated on their altruism (it's a wonder this jungle environment hasn't destroyed it altogether) in giving from their low incomes to help their less fortunate brethren (how less can you get?) to get on their feet again to take their "rightful" and useful place on the production lines.

But charity doesn't solve any basic problems either for the "beneficiaries" or for society at large. It only solves problems for the few who own and rule. The problems of the masses can only be solved by ending the social order that causes them, and instituting Socialism.

Somebody Else Is Watching

The longshoremen "could hold out for a year, or for ever if need be. We are going to stay out on strike until we get what we are asking for, no matter how long it takes."

—William Henderson, union official.

Like Napoleon's Will

From The Montreal Gazette

WHEN the Emperor Napoleon died, he left a will. In this will he made generous bequests to his friends. But his executors encountered one difficulty in carrying out his wishes. There was just no money from which the bequests could be made.

A similar situation has risen with regard to the CPR and the CNR. A Conciliation Board heard the wage dispute between the railways and their non-operating employees. It recommended a wage boost. The wage boost, it is estimated, would cost the two railways some $60 million dollars a year.

The railways have not rejected the recommendation of the Conciliation Board. But they drew attention to one difficulty. The two railways anticipate a deficit in the current fiscal year of about $30 million.

Makes No Sense

This means, then, that two railways, anticipating a deficit of $30 million, are recommended to pay wage increases that would amount to an additional $60 million. It is the sort of situation that makes no more sense than Napoleon's will.

Two facts face the railways. The one is that they are peculiarly vulnerable to the pressure of organized labor in raising their operating costs. The second is that they are peculiarly restricted by Government regulations in the raising of revenue. While the unions push the costs of the railways upwards, the Government regulations are restricting the rise of the railways' operating revenues. It is these contrary pressures that are compressing the railways into their distressing deficit position.

The unions have very frankly admitted their power and intention to force costs upwards. This appears, for example, in a recent issue of the official journal of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and Other Transport-Workers. An Article in this journal, entitled "Government Holds the Throttle," was written by Mr. Richard Nielsen of the education and research department of CBRE and OTW. Mr. Nielsen says:

"Alone among Canadian workers, railway employees have it in their power (if we choose to use it) to bring the economy to a halt or to defy the Government.

"The public is aware of the tremendous strength of railway labor, so is management, so are the Board Chairmen who are called upon to conciliate our disputes with management. What is worthwhile considering is the effect this "awareness" has had on our negotiations—not just those being concluded—but on all our negotiations dating back over the last ten years or so . . .

"What is really happening in railway negotiations is that the Government is being challenged by the only group of Canadian workers as yet capable of making such a challenge stick."

That, to be sure, is plain speaking. But equally plain is the fact that the railways, faced with this "awareness" of labor's power, are faced with an "awareness", no less evident, of Government restriction. Their freedom to adjust rising costs is limited. Nor can they find relief merely by receiving permission to raise their rates by a certain percentage. In some categories of transportation this might only lead to the loss of business, as the increased cost of transportation by rail would increase the advantages of the railways' competitors by highway, air, waterway, or pipeline.

If the railways are not to be ground between the upper and the lower millstones, they must have freedom to increase revenue in those ways that would not result in less revenue. There are, for instance, the fantastic Crow's Nest Pas rates for the shipment of grain for export—rates that stand today at the figures set in the distant reign of Queen Victoria.

Insolvency Danger

The statement made yesterday by the CPR and the CNR was the only realistic statement that could be made under the circumstances. They could not promise to pay money they will not have. To plunge the railways still deeper into deficits would, among other disadvantages, imperil the job security of their employees, by weakening the integrity of the railways' financial structure. Insolvency is a poor basis for job security.

There the matter rests. In this time of general economic uncertainty in Canada, the Prime Minister has called for restraint in demands. But if restraint in these demands is to be considered unnecessary, then the means of meeting these demands must be considered very necessary indeed.

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK

By RUTH ENKE

Lesson of Litter

AS PART OF my week's holiday from column-writing, I had two wonderful days in the Olympic National Park with one of my more energetic friends who is an ardent botanist.

She nearly killed me. But, apart from a tendency to scream in my sleep and whimper when I walk downstairs, I'm now sufficiently recovered to be planning next summer's trip.

It must be eight years since I was up on the park's Hurricane Ridge, and I'd forgotten what a cheap and simple trip it is.

For instance, we left Victoria at 8 a.m. (Standard time, and the schedule changes on September 16). My return fare was $3.60, and the return ticket for the car was $12. I also chipped in $2 for gas. That's only $11.60. Which strikes me as remarkably cheap for all we saw and did.

Ruth

From Port Angeles we took the new road up to the Ridge. After a few miles of gravel, it is paved all the way. It's wide, scenic and so well graded that we never had to change gear.

From near the Lodge on the Ridge we took the gravel mountain road to Obstruction Point. That road is steeper and narrower, and calls for some degree of courtesy and caution.

The campsite where we stayed is along that road. It has about 12 fireplaces but only three picnic tables, and we were glad that we reached it by Saturday noon because it was full that night. By Sunday night it was empty again. Empty and spotlessly clean.

And I'd like to emphasis that word CLEAN.

In all our walking and driving within the park we saw almost no paper or rubbish carelessly thrown down. The viewpoints, the trails, the roadsides, the campsites were all free of litter.

Early on Sunday morning we drove to Obstruction Point where the road ends at a viewpoint, CLEAN. From there we walked four miles or so to a beautiful little lake, and returned by a trail that was marked as seven miles and seemed double the distance.

On the way down to the lake, we met 12 hikers in three different parties. All had camped overnight at the lake. On the trail down we saw one piece of paper and one gum wrapper. The lakeshore was entirely litter-free.

While we were having a sandwich lunch by the lake, a boy who has a summer job with the Park Service came bounding down the trail and talked to us for a while. We commented on the general cleanliness.

"I don't think it's so good," he said, looking surprised. "I come over this trail every Sunday and pick up the paper I find."

Well, he can't have found much that time because we'd picked up the one bit of paper, though we did leave the gum wrapper.

★ ★ ★

As an added illustration, my friend told me that when she and her husband were in a Montana park they were just speaking of the absence of litter when the people in the car ahead of them threw out an empty cigaret package.

"First time I've seen that here," said my friend.

"B.C. licence on the car," said her husband, as they drove on behind their dirty compatriots.

Today, I did mean to write about the wild-flowers, birds, animals, and the Olympic Pioneer Memorial Museum since these were all delights for which I'd like to thank our American neighbors.

But the Lesson of Litter is one which we Canadians might do well to learn. Too many of us go to campsites and leave them looking like Tobacco Road.

I hate to think that Americans are cleaner than Canadians but, after this weekend, it seems to me that they are better educated in this line than we are, and have a greater sense of personal responsibility for maintaining the beauty of their public parks.

After all, the park personnel can't be everywhere, and picking up litter costs money. This is one place where we could save ourselves some good hard cash. I'm all for it.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Knowledge of Ancestry

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

Every so often I see a patient with some nervous disease of hereditary origin, or I see two young people with some hereditary disease in both their families who realize that they should not marry, or I see the unhappy parents of a feeble-minded or blind child who want to know what their chances are of having a normal child if they try again. Often, in such cases, I wish that the couple knew much more about their family history on the two sides. It would help so much in forming an opinion if they knew more about those "blackouts" or "fainting spells" that one of the grandmothers used to have. Were they really epileptic attacks or were they ordinary fainting spells?

Or what were those two "nervous breakdowns" that one of the aunts had? Were they definite depressions?

Alvarez

Or what was the real story back of the strange death of an uncle? Was it suicide, as his friends maintained, or was it an accident as the family preferred to call it? Was the man badly depressed before he shot himself? It is unfortunate that so commonly the members of a family gloss over the fact that a relative had epilepsy or a depression or committed suicide. The result is that when a grandchild goes to a physician with a curious story of many short jittery spells each day, the doctor does not even think of the possibility that the child has epilepsy, and thus the correct diagnosis is missed.

A hundred years ago Sir Francis Galton, the founder of the science of human genetics, feeling the great need for better family records, published a couple of books that could be used by heads of families for the preservation of information about the health of their immediate ancestors. Unfortunately, Galton was so far ahead of his time that I am sure little was done with the books that he got out. I have in my library—as curiosities—copies of them. Recently, I called attention in this column to record books that have been gotten out in this country, largely for the purpose of keeping records of the illnesses of the several children in a family. How often, when a young man is exposed to mumps does he wish he knew whether he had ever had the disease! It might make a tremendous difference in his future life if he didn't have them; mumps after childhood can have some disastrous results. Now, Mr. Charles E. Tuttle, the eminent book dealer in Rutland, Vermont, has republished a family record book which was brought out originally by William H. Whitmore in 1885.

I feel I should keep emphasizing my conviction that the most important facts that people can put into a family record are those in regard to the character, temperament and mental health of their known ancestors and near relatives, which must include uncles and aunts, nephews and nieces and cousins. It is of but slight interest to me to know that my father's grandmother was named Barbara; it interests me to know that she was well and strong in her eighties and it interests me even more to know that she was a woman of such great character and wisdom that people came to her from miles around to get her advice about their problems. It interests me much, also, to know that the scientific and mechanical and inventive interests that crop up here and there in my family showed up in an uncle of my father who, over a hundred years ago, was banding birds, and making watches for the fun of it.

So often in America when a physician wants very much to know something about the family nervous inheritance, the patient says, "I know nothing about my grandparents and uncles and aunts because they were all left behind in Europe. Matters are so much better in the Scandinavian countries where church and township records sometimes are available for the last several hundred years.

I get letters from people who feel sure they have found a good cure for some disease, and are distressed because we doctors do not care to buy it or test it out. Often they appeal to me for help, and usually I have to say that there is nothing very new or promising about their prescription. Sometimes it turns out to be a medicine that was given up as useless a hundred years ago, long before I was born.

Most persons think we physicians are too "snooty" to use a remedy found by a man who is not an MD, but they are so wrong. Last year there were some 450 new drugs synthesized and put on the market, and I imagine all of them were made by chemists and none were discovered by physicians.

Years ago, the great Oliver Wendell Holmes, the professor of anatomy at Harvard, wrote that doctors of old "learned from a monk how to use antimony, from a Jesuit how to cure agues (malaria), from a friar how to 'cut for the stone' (remove a stone from the urinary bladder), from a soldier how to treat gout, from a sailor how to keep off scurvy, from a postmaster how to sound the Eustachian tube (that runs from the throat to the ear), and from a dairy-maid how to prevent smallpox" (she told Dr. Jenner that when milkmaids got "cow-pox," they were immune to smallpox.)

The Day YOU Were Born

Patricia Mary Appleby, 221 Stormont Road, is a figure skating enthusiast, and will be taking lessons this year. She plays softball with the View Royal team, which won the 1958 B.C. championship. Pat is also a pianist, and has distinct home-making talents.

On the day she was born:

Fifty-three Italian warships, after a running battle with the Nazi air force, succeeded in reaching Malta and surrendering to the Allies. One ship, the Roma, was sunk on the way.

An earthquake in Japan killed or seriously injured 1,400 people.

Nazi U-boat activity would be stepped up, said Swedish naval authorities. More submarine crews were being trained, and new detection devices and improved torpedoes had been developed.

Italians were urged to defend their country against Nazi attacks, in accordance with the terms of the recent armistice.

War-risk insurance rates on cargo ships were substantially reduced by London Underwriters.

Nelson Eddy was singing in the Chocolate Soldier at the Oak Bay.

The date? Saturday, September 11, 1943.

Plenty of Indoor Jobs for Gardener

Jack

The scrubbing of the greenhouse or sunporch on the inside, and the washing of glass both inside and outside, is a job to complete before the rains come.

A mild solution of any good disinfectant is fine for the inside, and plain water and a stiff brush will soon make the glass sparkle.

Another outdoor job which is more easily accomplished on a warm day is the scrubbing of pots, for there never seems to be enough clean pots on hand during winter.

Potting soil is another thing which is consumed in large amounts once the indoor growing season starts. It is a wise gardener who begins to collect a goodly supply and stores it in a convenient, rainproof place ready for later use.

Compost and sand are two other ingredients of potting mixtures which should be prepared, and a check of bonemeal and blue whale on hand may prove that a further supply is needed.

Bulbs for growing indoors in pots will soon be available, and the pots, soil mixture, and a place in the garden to bury them for the eight-week rooting period, should be attended to.

Broken pots are never thrown away. These are reduced to small pieces with a hammer and used to cover the drainage holes of pots and to provide the one-inch or so of drainage material needed by some indoor plants.

Getting these supplies ready and under cover is pleasant work while the weather is warm, and it creates an incentive to get started when the days become chilly and wet.

BARNARD'S EXPRESS LEAVING YALE FOR WILLIAMS CREEK

Before the railways reached British Columbia's interior our first organized transportation system there was Barnard's Express or the "BX" as it was known. In 1862 Francis Barnard was given a contract by Governor Douglas to carry the mails into the interior. The postal rate was four shillings for a letter from Yale to Antler Creek in the Cariboo and an additional two shillings from there to Williams Creek, where Barkerville was located.

Barnard's mail stage coaches, such as we see here, were pulled by two or three teams of spirited horses. They were bred on the ranges near Kamloops and Vernon and were beautiful animals. They were never broken to the saddle but trained only for stage-coaching. They were changed about every 15 miles. The BX operated (under various owners) for 50 years until the railways and automobiles brought an end to this romantic means of travel.

The stage-coaches carried passengers from Yale to Barkerville, and under a mounted guard carried down to the coast the precious gold of the Cariboo. Although bandits help up the CPR trains there was never a BX stage-coach robbery. In 1865 the BX carried down to the coast over three million dollars in gold dust and nuggets.

BOOKMOBILE NEED FELT IN OAK BAY

Victoria Library Board Tuesday referred to Oak Bay Council four letters from Oak Bay residents requesting a bookmobile service to the municipal council.

"It's their baby," said chairman J. E. Neely. "We can't act until Oak Bay council formally requests a bookmobile service. It would involve an increase in the municipality's contribution to library services."

Japanese War Colony In Jungle?

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) A colony of Japanese soldiers from the Second World War is believed to be thriving in dense jungle near the northern coast of Dutch New Guinea

Rev. Albert Kroenert, a Baptist missionary back here after nine years in New Guinea, says about two months ago the crew of an aircraft flying between Hollandia and Edenburg saw five neat-looking huts in dense jungle.

As the plane flew low to investigate, a number of short-looking men ran into a hut.

"The crew could not definitely say whether the men were Japanese, but were certain they were not natives," Kroenert said.

"There were definitely no missions working in the area and the Dutch had no knowledge of a white settlement in the area."

Kroenert said attempts may be made later to reach the village by helicopter.

U.K. Satellite Closer

LONDON (UPI) — Britain is considering launching a satellite after the successful firing of its Black Knight missile Sunday, Minister of Supply Aubrey Jones said today.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

What Is An Aye-Aye?

If you lived in Madagascar you might carry a twig from the aye-aye's nest instead of a rabbit's foot. For the Malagasy people say it brings good luck. On the other hand, they say it is fatal to touch an aye-aye. He is a starry eyed, monkey type animal and quite rare, even in his native Madagascar. Few people have studied his home life and what we hear from the Malagasy people is a mixture of fact and fairy tale. The aye-aye has been handled without fatal results. And, says Andy, a twig from his nest will not make you lucky or unlucky.

The aye-aye is heard more often than he is seen. He is named for the sad sound he makes, eye-eye, eye-eye, crying through the night in the bamboo thickets. He never wanders around during the daytime. He sleeps through the day in his nest, a ball of twigs built high in a tree top. The nest is about as big as a beach ball. It has a small tunnel through which the aye-aye crawls to a cozy chamber inside.

The aye-aye is as big as a house cat. He wears a thick coat of coarse, dark brown hair and he has a very long, furry tail. His ears are large and bat-like and his wide face wears a sweet, puzzled expression. His most notable feature is a pair of large, starry eyes. His gentle eyes are gifted with night vision and do not see too well in daytime.

The charming creature is a great tree climber. He has very long fingers and toes and his hands and feet look like four large spiders peeping from under his furry coat. The middle finger on each hand is especially long and very remarkable.

The Malagasy say that he taps the tree trunks with this long middle finger. And, they say, he can tell from the sound whether grubs or insects are buried in the wood. If he suspects they are present he uses his chisel-like teeth to chew a hole. Then he uses his long finger to pry them out and eat them.

So far this is only a Malagasy report and no one has seen him do this in captivity. He will, however, chew wood and spit it out. Perhaps this is because he has rodent-type teeth. They are forever growing and must be filed down.

In captivity the aye-aye seems to prefer a diet of fruit. And he uses his long middle finger as a drinking cup. He dips it through the water and up to his mouth 40 times a minute. His wonderful finger is also used as a curry comb to keep his furry coat neat and clean.

For a long time the aye-aye was believed to be a lemur. He was classed with these strange, half-monkey charmers of Madagascar. But certain of his features, the rodent teeth and the amazing hands, set him apart from the lemurs. The rare aye-aye is now classed in a family all by himself.

'Girly' Stage Show Set To Start Chest Drive

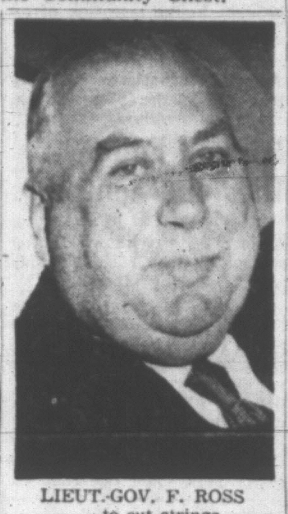
By DAVID COWLISHAW

Those magical qualities "ooomph" and "ooo-la-la" have been introduced into the Community Chest.

Twenty "young ladies" will parade before a mass meeting of canvassers at the Odeon Theatre Sept. 28 on the eve of the campaign start in a pageant designed to spur the 2,500 volunteers on their cash-collecting mission from door to door in the days that follow.

More girls, maybe including Miss Victoria, are expected to do their stuff when it comes time to call on the army, navy and air force.

The plans—still in the brewing stage—were revealed at a meeting of campaign committeemen at Spencerhouse Wednesday.



LIEUT.-GOV. F. ROSS
. . . to cut strings

One Agency Each

The way Chest publicist Cliff Rutledge sees it, the 20 girls who will cavort on the theatre stage will carry a placard bearing the name of a Chest agency.

"We want to put a bit of color into this thing," Mr. Rutledge told the meeting.

The canvassers will also see a film, "Carve Her Name With Pride," based on the life of a charity worker.

The parade of girls before the armed forces is the idea of public services division chairman Bill Yardley, who noted, "These men will need a kind of coercion different from that they get from the sergeant-major."

Balloon Goes Up.

The $300,000 campaign proper begins Sept. 29 with a parade and speeches in front of the Empress Hotel. Lieut.-Governor Frank Ross has agreed to cut the string of a 40-cubic-foot balloon filled with helium (courtesy U.S. government) that will soar over the city for the duration of the drive. As the cash total goes up, so will the balloon.

Campaign manager Justin Harbord told the committee he was "terribly enthused" by drive progress so far, although he saw some weak spots in the door-to-door arrangements that would require "a considerable amount of re-canvassing."

"The chest can't go on failing year after year, and we're not going to fail this year," he said. "There is too much at stake and too many people dependent on us."

He said the committee would be "tickled to death" with the results of the payroll deduction division, which expects to sign up every firm and organization which can be signed up, before the campaign gets under way.

Tourists Exempt

The committee accepted "with gratitude" the offer of painter Emily Sartain to place a chest collecting box alongside her exhibition of flower paintings at the Dominion Hotel Nov. 2, but frowned on the suggestion of industrial-commercial chairman Eric Mallett that tourists watching the Sept. 29 parade should be "tapped for the odd buck."

A letter was read from John Gough, district superintendent of schools, saying that the Greater Victoria School Board had decided against allowing chest donation boxes in schools, although the board left the door open for the chest to place some advertising material in the schools instead.

Said Mr. Harbord, "I am a little disappointed" (about the boxes being rejected) "but there's always next year."

Federal Labor Curbs Asked

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Construction Association Wednesday submitted a brief to the office of Labor Minister Starr urging legislative curbs on a variety of union powers.

It advocated the prohibition of actions including refusal to cross picket lines, jurisdictional strikes, "organizational" strikes or picketing, and "secondary boycotts."

It requested clarification of existing legislation concerning illegality of picketing and strikes in various forms.

Public services and utilities "shall at all times be subject to the no-strike clause," it suggested. Legislation should acknowledge the "right to work," throwing out the union shop.

Defiant Africans Killed

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia (Reuters) — Police Wednesday killed eight Africans and injured 14 when villagers armed with spears refused to quit their homes on land wanted for an artificial lake.

The Africans had been ordered to move to higher ground from the Gwembe Valley where the waters of the Zambesi will start to rise later this year to form a lake for the Kariba hydro-electric dam project.

An official statement said the Africans made "determined charges" against the police and threw spears at them.

The police suffered one minor casualty.

Governor Sir Arthur Benson said in a broadcast that Africans were told "over and over again" they would have to move to new homes provided by the government but they still refused to move.

U.S. DOLLAR WORTH MORE?

Misprint Bills Here

A small amount of misprint American dollar bills which could be a collector's item may be floating around Victoria.

The bills, bearing the words "In God We Trust," were brought to the attention of an Empress Hotel clerk today.

Offered one in change, an American tourist reportedly told the clerk: "You should hold on to this. It's a misprint 1957 series and may be worth more than a dollar."

A Victoria banking official said he hadn't seen any of the bills but agreed that they may have more than face value.

PLEASURE AFLOAT

Fibre Glass Goes Big-League

Until recently, the major use of fibre glass reinforced plastics (FRP) has been for the construction of boats of 12 to 16 feet in overall length. Now many builders are adding longer models to their production lines. Cruisers and utilities of 22 or more available for outboard motor use and 31-foot inboards are now in production.

Builders of large power boats have been somewhat slower to adopt FRP as a construction material than have the makers of sail boats. However, in England, the experience has been just the opposite of that in the United States. There the use of FRP has been mainly in the field of motor boat construction.

Attention of the British, and that of the rest of the boat building world, was awakened to the possibilities of FRP construction for larger craft by the performance of Perpetua, a 45-foot twin diesel-powered motor boat launched in 1954. Built by Helmatic, Ltd., Portsmouth, England, this boat was subjected to severe but successful tests. Based on the success of this boat, the Helmatic company built larger and larger motor boat hulls. Today they are in regular production on hulls up to 56 feet in length.

Experience in the use of FRP for boat construction has not been limited to pleasure craft. A small tug boat has been in service in the Northwest for nearly eight years. FRP lifeboats, soon to be available by American manufacturers, have been in service on British ships for several years.

New Lifeboat

The 36-foot lifeboat produced by the W. & J. Todd Ltd., of Weymouth, England, is among the most significant of FRP applications. Designed to a general specification laid down by the ministry of transport, the FRP lifeboats have far exceeded the statutory requirements. In the MOT 100 per cent overload tests, the Todd boat was suspended from a ship's release gears and loaded to an all-up weight of 34 tons—then dropped into the water. Deflections before the drop were 7-16 inch sag in the keel, less than 1-16 spread, and 3-16 inch drop in the gunwale. At normal 25 per cent overload, deflections were too small to be accurately recorded. On unloading, all readings returned to zero.

While FRP construction has resulted in sailboats costing from 10 to 15 or more per cent than equivalent boats of other construction, the same has not been true of motor boats in the larger sizes. However, it is not the first cost but the upkeep that is the important consideration when buying a boat. Based on experience to date, a boat of FRP can cost 25 per cent more than a boat of more commonly used materials and still represent a smaller total cost at the end of 10 years.

Sooke Lake Tunnel Project Estimates Due Next May

Land and construction cost estimates for the proposed Sooke Lake tunnel development should be ready by May, water commissioner Ronald Upward told Greater Victoria water board Wednesday.

The 5½-mile tunnel project, expected to take three years' construction time, would provide the Greater Victoria area with enough water to meet the needs of more than 250,000 people.

A 1944 estimate of the cost was in the $4,000,000 bracket. Present cost figures probably would be double.

SPEED-UP SUGGESTED

Mayor Scurrah asked if the construction start, scheduled for 1960, should be advanced in view of population expansion in Saanich.

Mr. Upward said construction could start after May, but in view of the size of the project and its financing, a 1960 start seemed probable.

"We are deferring it as long as we dare," he said. Restrictions on lawn sprinkling might be necessary just before completion of the total development in 1965.

Sprinkling is a growing problem to the commission because water has to be stored for 10 months in order to supply two months' irrigation needs, he said.

Mr. Upward suggested that municipalities should eliminate present reduced rates offered for summertime sprinkling and irrigation to help meet the problem.

Oak Bay Reeve Fred Norris said his council is working on a system that would restrict use of automatic irrigation systems to the hours between 9 p.m. and 9 a.m. in order to relieve water demand at peak daytime hours.

The board agreed in principle to a proposal that it exchange 100 acres of land with Kapoor Lumber Co. in order to obtain property along the route of the proposed Sooke Lake tunnel.

'SHE' BECOMES 'HE' SO LADIES' MEET IGNORED

PARIS (UPI) — An attractive, 17-year-old French women's sprinting champion who was to go to Britain this weekend for a track meet, put herself out of the running today by changing her sex.

Collette Mathieu, of Metz, holder of the French women's "junior" 100-meter dash title, announced she had undergone special surgery and henceforth will run against the other boys as Claude Mathieu.

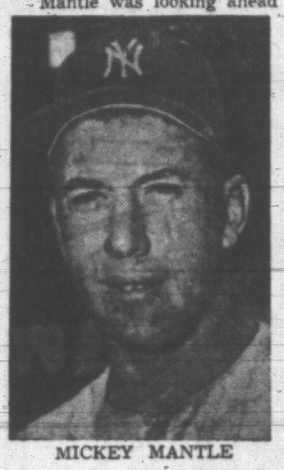
French track officials were expected to allow Claude to compete eventually in the men's category.

ANOTHER SLANT

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW Y(UPI)—An optimistic Mickey Mantle served notice on Mi. .ee Braves today that neither they nor Lew Burdette can do it again.

Mantle was looking ahead to the World Series. And he wanted the Braves to understand that a fit New York Yankee team had no anticipation of any such shennanigans as the Braves' seven-game triumph last fall.



MICKEY MANTLE

"Burdette couldn't win three games again," he said flatly. "Pitchers just don't do that, particularly twice in a row, and I don't care if it was a Walter Johnson or who it was."

Fit and "feeling better than I ever have at this time of the year," Mantle tempers his optimism with a certain amount of caution. Always in the forefront of his mind is the strange series of accidents or injuries which almost always seem to strike him during the classic—right from that first one in 1951.

That was the series in which, running across the Yankee outfield after a fly ball, he stepped in a drain opening and dropped as if shot.

★ ★ ★

"Something just gave way," says the bull-necked blond from Oklahoma, a long-time victim of osteomyelitis. "I lay there in a cold sweat and thought my whole career was ended just as it was starting.

★ ★ ★

Mantle had been hampered by bad legs throughout his career, and they always seem to act up the worse at World Series time.

"Last year," he recalled with a trace of bitterness, "it was something they called shin splints. Frankly, I don't know what it was. But it sure did hurt. Then, just as that started to come around, Red Schoendienst fell on my arm in that play at second base. After that I couldn't hardly raise my arm to throw."

Another big Yankee gun, Moose Skowron, was crippled up during that 1957 series in which Burdette hurled three triumphs to lead Milwaukee to its first world championship.

'Let's Save It All for the Series'

"I thought we were the best team," says the usually laconic Mantle. "If we had been fit, we'd have proved it, too. So, feeling just wonderful now, I'm pretty hopeful coming up to the Series."

Mantle, sitting with Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants as they announced plans for a post-season American-National League All-Star Game at Yankee Stadium on Oct. 12—a joint promotional venture for the 30 ball players involved—returned always to the Series.

★ ★ ★

"Jackie Jensen, Roy Sievers and Bob Turley look like the best bets for most valuable player honors in the American League," he analyzed, "but I'd just as soon see Turley be the most valuable player in the Series."

He has ideas along those lines for Mantle, too.

★ ★ ★

"I don't have any excuses because I've felt good all season," Mickey said slowly. "I've just had a fairly bad year. But—a good Series would make up for all of that.

"Of course," he added, "the way we're hitting right now, my kid could beat us. But we have the kind of a club which could break loose all of a sudden."

That, quite obviously, is what Mantle expects will happen against "Best Bet" Burdette and the Braves.

"Unless," he said with an eye to that old World Series jinx, "I go out and break my leg tomorrow."

'FEELING BETTER?'

Not Champs, But Fans Just Love Those Bucs

By Associated Press

The amazing Pittsburgh Pirates may not win the National League pennant but they're going to be honored at a victory celebration anyway.

Plans for a full-scale parade through the downtown business district Sept. 23 went into the hopper Wednesday as Pirate fans literally swamped the front office to buy tickets for remaining games.

The Bucs, who haven't been this high since 1944, now hold second place by 5½ games over San Francisco after beating Giants 6-4 to complete a three-game sweep. But the Milwaukee Braves, 6½ games ahead, kept rolling toward a second straight pennant by beating Cincinnati 3-0 on Juan Pizarro's three-hitter.

St. Louis tied Cincinnati for fourth, beating the Chicago Cubs 3-1. Philadelphia knocked off Los Angeles 8-6.

20TH FOR FRIEND

Pirates rolled on when Bob Friend became the first pitcher to win 20 games in the National League this year.

Friend, 27, had to go 10 innings to get it, winning on Dick Stuart's two-out, two-run homer, his 15th. The Giants tagged Friend for a dozen hits and three walks. But Friend, with his mates getting only three hits over the last eight innings, left 11 on base and blanked the Giants on four singles over the last five games.

Friend hadn't won more than 17 in one season before with the Pirates—but they had finished last or next to last since he joined them in 1951.

GOOD TURNOUT

A "back-the-Indians" drive paid off with a crowd of 50,021 and a touch of irony at Cleveland.

It was the Tribe's largest night game draw since 1954, the last year they won the American League pennant. But the Injuns came through with the same sort of play that has kept the folks away ever since, losing 8-3 to New York Yankees. Two of their runs were unearned, and the third was hustled home on three walks and a hit batsman.

The crowd was attracted by fireworks, music, entertainment, prizes and a chance to see the Yankees, who had lost four of their last five games, reduce their magic number to five.

Chicago White Sox, with nothing else to shoot for, padded their second-place edge over Boston to 2½ games by beating the Red Sox 7-2. Washington knocked off Detroit 5-4 and Kansas City defeated Baltimore 4-2.

Lightly-Regarded Hanson Rolls On

SAN FRANCISCO (CP)—When the U.S. amateur golf championships began Monday Toronto's Eric Hanson was rated no better than third among the five Canadians entered.

Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., was considered the top Canadian hope after an impressive performance in last week's Americas Cup international competition.

Canadian amateur champion Bruce Castator of Toronto was figured to have the next best chance.

Cowan, however, lost out in the first round and Castator was eliminated Wednesday in the third round.

Today he has probably his toughest match, meeting Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor, the 41-year-old Pomona, Calif., dentist who lost in last year's U.S. amateur final to Hillman Robbins.

Robbins was eliminated Wednesday, leaving two-time winner Harvie Ward the favorite.

Robbins packed his bags and headed for his home in Memphis, Tenn., after being ousted by the colorful Martin Stanovich in the third round. Stanovich, in turn, was sent to the sidelines by a bespectacled accountant from Bethlehem, Pa., named Clyde Oskin.

Oskin came up as the new darkhorse of the tourney with his brilliant stretch runs in his three matches so far. After getting a bye in the first round, he won his next two matches on the 19th hole, then won from Stanovich on the 18th.

Point Title In Dave's Bag; Island Trophy Next on List?

Dave Cooper will sit in the No. 1 car when the auto racing season rolls around again next year.

"The Flying Plumber" of Western Speedway hasn't quite matched his great performance of a year ago, but he still has topped all drivers in the individual point standings for a second successive season.

Cooper was assured of finishing atop the point parade when the Vancouver Island Track Racing Association released their official point list this week.

Although Saturday's races will also count in the tabulations, second-place Dick Varley will not be able to displace the veteran Cooper. Cooper has an even 300 points, 26½ more than Varley.

NOT ENOUGH

A maximum effort, which includes a clean sweep in the time trials, trophy dash, one heat and the main event, would only produce 19¼ points.

Besides winning the point crown last season, Cooper also won the Gold Cup race and the Island championship. This year, he missed the Gold Cup.

Cooper will defend the Island Championship trophy Saturday night. The 50-lap race is the last of the major races at the Langford oval. Jalopies will stage their big championship race the following weekend and racing ends for another season after the annual "trophy presentation night" on Sept. 27.

Saturday's time trials get under way at 7.30.

Following are the drivers' official point standings:

Poor Weather Forces Tuna Anglers Ashore

WEDGEPORT, N.S. (CP)—The lull of inactivity set in today as the world's top deepsea anglers waited out a spell of bad weather in hopes of resuming fishing Friday in the 15th international tuna tournament here.

Tournament officials Wednesday night called off fishing for today because of turbulent seas and heavy winds and rain.

The tournament ends at 6 p.m. Saturday, a day late.

The teams of the four competing nations — the United States, defending champion Mexico, the British Commonwealth and Cuba—were still in a determined mood after a numbing vigil Wednesday on a churning, splashing sea. There were no strikes.

James M. Hutton of Cincinnati, American team captain, revealed that he and teammate Stuart Peeler of Los Angeles "got two good glimpses" of tuna.

Peeler watched a tuna come to the surface, chase his line of teaser bait a while, then disappear. Hutton said he noted one quick swirl near the stern of his boat. A sighting was also reported from the judges launch.

Informal Bid Made To Purchase Lions

Ex-Esk Official Heads Syndicate After Grid Club

VANCOUVER — A five-man syndicate, headed by former Edmonton Eskimo president Ken Montgomery, was expected to continue efforts today to purchase control of the British Columbia Lions football club despite an initially cool reception.

Montgomery, also one-time president of the Canadian Rugby Football Union, made the first offer Wednesday night during an informal meeting with Lions' president Harry Spring. He was expected to follow it up with a written offer to the team's 26-man board of directors.

Montgomery, representing businessmen from across the country, was reported prepared to buy the Lions outright or purchase a 51 per cent controlling interest in the club.

Spring was reported to have greeted the offer cooly and said he doubted that the offer would be considered seriously by the directors.

TROUBLED TEAM

The Lions, unable to field a contender since they entered the Western Conference in 1954, have been beset by troubles since the season began. The team has lost six straight games and the top-heavy board of directors fired coach Clem Crowe Aug. 26 after the team lost its fourth game. He was replaced by former Lion and NFL end Dan Edwards, who played his college football at the University of Georgia.

Since joining the Western Conference, Lions have boasted the top attendance record in Canadian football, averaging more than 22,600 persons per game during the past four years. Despite the losing team, the Lions were drawing even better this year at Empire Stadium.

Bamberger Tops Coast Pitchers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—George Bamberger of the Vancouver Mounties racked up the best earned run average in the Pacific Coast League this season, official statistics show.

Bamberger, who led in that department most of the season, had a final average of 2.45 for 184 innings in 31 games.

Carlos Bernier of Salt Lake City had the most hits with 181 and tied with Joe Durham and Barry Shetrone of Vancouver in triples with 11.

T-Men Force Deciding Tilt

Timbermen, who had to win to stay in contention for the Inter-City Lacrosse League championships, obviously had no intention of doing otherwise when they went out against New Westminster Salmonbellies in the sixth game of the best-of-seven finals.

And win they did, drubbing the 'Bellies 14-6 to force a final game Friday at New Westminster.

Sparked by goalie Fred Fulla's performance, Timbermen scored the first goal, saw the score tied briefly by Doug McRory, but then pumped in five more to carry a commanding 6-1 lead into the second period.

From then, Nanaimo never looked back.

The margin was 9-2 at the half and 11-4 moving into the fourth quarter.

Fulla blanked New Westminster from 4.28 of the first period, when McRory scored, until the 14-minute mark of the second quarter, a period of 24 minutes, 32 seconds, during which the Hub City crew increased their lead from 1-1 to 9-1.

In all, Fulla stopped 34 of the 40 shots that Salmonbellies fired in his direction.

Joe White, Arnie Dugan and Don Sherry led the Timbermen offensively with three goals apiece. Dugan also added four assists for the outstanding individual performance of the night.

Lisle Scott, who scored one goal, turned in a steady chore on defence as he checked Jack Bionda well, although the big New Westminster star managed to flick three goals past Fulla.

HOCKEY NOTES

Whitby Netminder Joining Cowboys

(From CP Reports)

Thirty-five players will be on hand when Winnipeg Warriors of the Western Hockey League open training at Winnipeg Monday.

Players returning will be goaltender Ray Mikulan, defencemen Danny Summers and Ed Zembrau, and forwards Bill Mosienko, Pete Kapusta, Steven Witiuk and Dick Lamoureux.

Newcomers will include defenceman Bill Folk and centre Red Johansen, who played last year for Vancouver Canucks.

Several players from the Winnipeg area will be trying to make the team.

Warriors will play their first exhibition game against Detroit Red Wings of the National League less than two weeks after they start training.

In other WHL news Wednesday, Calgary Stampeders announced that Roy Edwards, goaltender for the world champion Whitby Dunlops last season, would attend their training camp this fall.

Last year, Stampeders had former NHL goalie Al Rollins in the net. Rollins has held out for a better contract this season.

"At the moment I will have to sink or swim with Edwards," Calgary coach-manager Gus Kyle said.

'Has-Been' Still Is Top Tennis Threat

TORONTO (CP)—A so-called tennis has-been, tall, greying Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, provided one of three upsets in the second round of the international invitation tennis tournament Wednesday.

Mulloy, 45, a big favorite with the gallery, took a three-set win from 24-year-old Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., 5-7, 8-6, 6-3.

Canada's bright hope in the tennis world, Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., whipped internationally-ranked Ulf Schmidt of Sweden, 6-1, 6-2.

The third upset was provided by unranked Billy Knight of England who toppled fourth-ranked Kurt Neilsen of Denmark, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Otherwise, the week-long tourney at the Toronto Lawn Tennis Club went pretty much according to seedings, with Australian whiz Mal Andreson stroking past Eddie Moylan, 6-1, 6-3.

Finest showing by a Canadian woman came from Toronto's Mrs. Louise Brown, 1957 Canadian champion, who lost 6-1, 4-6, 6-4, to Australia's Thelma Long.

BRAMPTON PREFERS . . . . . TO PLAY IN TRAIL

Answers Known Tonight

TRAIL—Two questions are to be solved here tonight:

Who will win the second game of the Minto Cup series between Bampton Excelsiors and Victoria Shamrocks, and will enough fans turn up to keep the best-of-seven Canadian junior lacrosse championship series in this Kootenay centre of 15,000?

At the opening game Tuesday, won by Brampton 7-6, only 700 fans were on hand. This means 1,300 will have to take in tonight's game to reach the minimum of a 2,000 total for the first two games as established by the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association.

Doug Fletcher of Victoria will telephone his report to the CALA following the game tonight. If the total is not met, the CALA may make Victoria the venue for the rest of the series, starting Monday.

"The junior series was first put here as a promotion to revive lacrosse interest in this district," Fletcher said Wednesday.

"The CALA is willing to take quite a loss before moving the series away."

Even though Trail fans are pro-Victoria, Brampton prefers to have the series played here. One Excelsior source said: "Here we get a sprinkling of encouragement while at Victoria we would be the lowly villians."

In preparation for the game tonight, both clubs ran through full-dress practices Wednesday. Rocks stressed offensive movement, with shots from just outside the free-throw line coming in for special instruction.

"We were trying to get in too close Tuesday night for our shots,' said Bradshaw. "You have a good chance of scoring from out here."

DAY TELLS COURT

Inexperience Hurt Warriors

WINNIPEG (CP) — Clarence (Hap) Day, former general manager of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, said Wednesday that if the manager of the Winnipeg Warriors hockey club had been more experienced he would have snapped up several players offered him in the 1956-57 season.

Day was testifying for the defence in a damage action by Warriors of the Western Hockey League for the $125,000 from Leafs and Montreal Canadiens.

The court also was told both NHL clubs had dropped counter-claims for $25,000 each against Warriors.

Day said Warriors were offered four good players—Gerry James and Bill Harris on one occasion, and later Ken Hayden and Ed Slowinski.

He said that each time John Perrin, Warrior general manager, wanted time to discuss the men offered with Winnipeg coach Alf Pike.

"In my opinion if Mr. Perrin had been a more experienced hockey manager, he would have taken these players as fast as they were offered," Day said.

Warriors are claiming $125,000 damages and repayment of $12,621 on the grounds the two NHL clubs did not live up to an agreement to supply players of WHL calibre to the Winnipeg club during the 1956-57 season. Warriors finished last that season.

Day said he considered the players supplied to Winnipeg were all of WHL calibre. If they had not been, Day said he would not have paid them $2,000 each for signing.

"And I wasn't very free with Maple Leaf money, either," he added.

Columbia Takes Favorite's Role In Sailing Series

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Rain forced a postponement Wednesday of the sixth trial race between Columbia and Vim to select a yacht to defend the America's Cup against Britain's Sceptre.

The selection committee ordered the sixth trial today.

The Columbia goes into the race with the nearly certain knowledge that a victory will win her the honor of defending the cup against the British challenger Sceptre in the races starting Sept. 20. The selection committee must name its choice by Saturday midnight.

The Columbia, a newly built boat, whipped the 19-year-old Vim Tuesday for the third time in five tries.

The winner whipped over the race course two minutes and 49 seconds faster than the Vim. Yachting experts generally agree that the newer boat is faster while the veteran has a more experienced crew. The performance of the crew is an equally important consideration.

Lions Purchase Import Linebacker

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manager Jim Ausley of Winnipeg Blue Bombers announced Tuesday the club has sold import centre and linebacker Hall Whitley to British Columbia Lions for an undisclosed amount of cash.

Title Bout 'News' To Fight Promoter

MONCTON (CP) — A world light-heavyweight title fight between champion Archie Moore of San Diego, Calif., and Yvon Durelle of Baie St. Anne, N.B., has been set for Dec. 10 in the Montreal Forum, it was announced Wednesday night by Durelle's manager, Chris Shaban.

But the announcement came as news to other boxing officials.

Shaban said he talked by phone with Truman Gibson of the International Boxing Club in Chicago. Gibson told him he had come to financial terms with Moore while on the west coast for the Carmen Basilio-Art Aragon fight.

Moore's terms will be announced later. He has constantly demanded $100,000 for a title defence. Durelle will be guaranteed $12,000 but stands a chance of making more depending on the TV and gate recipes.

In Montreal, fight promoter Eddie Quinn who had been trying to make arrangements for a Durelle-Moore match said Shaban's announcement was "all news to me."

In Chicago, Gibson told a reporter: "It's very premature. We are trying to make a Moore-Durelle title fight for Dec. 10 in Montreal but there are quite a few things to be ironed out before it can be definite."

Vancouver Athletes Top Nominating List

Bob Reid of Vancouver, silver medalist in the pole vault at the 1958 British Empire Games, has been nominated B.C.'s choice for the Norton H. Crowe trophy, awarded to Canada's outstanding track and field athlete of the year.

The B.C. Track and Field Association, which make the selections for four trophies, announced Reid is also its nomination for the F.N.A. Rowell trophy, for the outstanding field athlete.

B.C.'s other nominations for the national awards also from Vancouver, are: Runner Sig Ohleman, a 440 and 880 specialist, for the Viscount Alexander trophy for outstanding junior athlete;

KNOW SOMETHING, ARCH? WE BELIEVE YOU, TOO!

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—In the boxing record books, light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore is 41 years old.

Ol' Arch, touring the night spots, was in a mellow mood when he was asked by a newspaperman: "How old are you champ?"

"I'm going to tell you something I've never told anyone else," Moore confided. "Next Dec. 13 I'll be 49."

JUDGE 'CARRIED AWAY'

Court Reserves Appeal Decision

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Court of Appeal was told Wednesday that a six-month jail sentence imposed on National Hockey League star Murray Bert Olmstead would mean "lifetime destruction as a professional hockey player."

The three appeal judges, Chief Justice A. C. Des Brisay and Justices J. M. Coady and F. A. Sheppard, reserved their decision on Olmstead's appeal for quashing of the jail term.

Senator J. W. Farris, appearing for the hockey player, asked the judges to impose a moderate fine instead.

ASSAULTED AT BANQUET

The 31-year-old forward, formerly with Montreal Canadiens but traded in the off-season to Toronto Maple Leafs, was convicted and sentenced by Magistrate N. J. Bartman for assaulting Ralph D. Rooney of West Vancouver at a Vancouver Trapshooting Association banquet this summer.

Senator Farris said Wednesday the beating was not unprovoked and that Rooney struck the first blow by hitting Olmstead in the stomach. He called Rooney's allegation that Olmstead struck him at least 50 times "absurd."

He said Magistrate Bartman was "carried away with the extravagant descriptions of blood and pulp on the man's face" given in the police court.

N. R. Crump, CPR president, called him a "clean-cut young man not known to be a fighter."

NHL president Clarence Campbell said Olmstead always enjoyed the highest reputation for good character and conduct both on and off the ice.

Mr. Farris said that if the penalty were to be changed, that a fine in excess of $500, "say $1,000," would not be out of line.

TIME OUT! by JEFF KEATE

Triple for Rocky

NEW YORK (AP) — Glenn (Rocky) Nelson, 33-year-old first baseman of the Toronto Maple Leafs, this year captured the International League's triple crown for the second time with a .326 batting mark, 43 home runs and 120 runs batted in.

Nelson also led in all three departments while with Montreal in 1955.

JAY JOINS DRAKES — FOR FRIDAY'S EXHIBITION

Ramblers Beefy Bunch

Oak Bay Drakes, who have had things pretty well to their liking in Victoria Intermediate Football League play during the past three years, can be excused if they dress a bulldozer Friday night.

Chances are Drakes will be able to put the machine to good use when they meet Seattle Ramblers in an exhibition encounter at Royal Athletic Park.

Bulwarked by a beefy line that averages 204 pounds, Ramblers are expected to give their Canadian hosts a good lesson in football. The game will be played under Canadian regulations.

Anchor man in the Seattle line is Bill Castrow, a six-foot, seven-inch tackle who formerly played with Olympic College. He weighs 240 pounds.

Drakes are expected to be without the services of fullback Ken Higgs, who scored four touchdowns in Oak Bay's first two games, and tackle Joe Kurylo.

Coach Jack Patrick, starting to work his passing arm back into shape, will move Wayne Henderson to fullback, along with newcomer Ronnie Jay, Peterborough athlete who originally came to Victoria to play lacrosse with Victoria Shamrocks.

Jay was on the first string of the Peterborough High School team two years ago and promises to add plenty of speed to the Drake backfield.

Friday's game starts at 8 p.m. and Drakes will play a return match at Edmonds, Wash., on October 11.

Maybe League Easier?

NEW YORK (AP) — Gordon Windhorn of Denver, a New York Yankee farmhand who flopped in the International League last season, won the 1958 American Association batting championship with a .328 average. Willie Tasby of Louisville, rookie of the year, finished second with .322.

'Anonymous Angel' Gift Big Boost for Village

By HAL MALONE, Times Business Editor

Kiwanis Village Society has been visited by many Victorians during its five-year existence but none was so welcome as an anonymous "angel" who liked what he saw and wrote a cheque for $4,513.97 to further the project.

The cheque has been deposited in the village society coffers, but Victoria Kiwanians were keen in their approval of an official "handing over" ceremony Tuesday when Ron Lochhead, THE man behind the project, turned a stage cheque over to village secretary-manager Glenn Hope.

Located in the Cedar Hill area, Kiwanis Village is a low rental project for senior citizens and widows or widowers. Tenants pay rents varying from $24 to $34 monthly. A married couple on combined old age monthly pension of $110 can live quite comfortably and still put away savings.

Lochhead said the donation was made with the stipulation that the benefactor, not a Kiwanian, would remain anonymous. Apart from the fact that he is a local businessman and 15-year resident, Lochhead would divulge no information about the philanthropist.

Kiwanians are the men behind the village society. Their efforts made possible the opening in two years of the five-year project.

There are 48 units, singles and doubles, in the $350,000 village. There's a long waiting list for entry. Kiwanians hope it will be depleted in stages as the $1 million project nears realization.

Here's something for Chief Constable John Blackstock to ponder over tea and crumpets . . . Convention visitors to Tacoma, Wash., are given a sticker for their cars upon arrival. The sticker allows free parking anywhere in the city during their stay. It works, too. Laundry man Sam Swetnam says he left his chariot overnight in a loading zone and the gendarmes left his windshield unmarked. For the same offence here . . . Well, there's plenty of room in the bastille.

Grain movements in Canada have almost come to a standstill. The longshoremen's strike and a railways' embargo against the movement of all grain to Pacific coast terminals have completely stifled traffic. Increasing congestion at the Lakehead, together with what amounts to an embargo by the railways against grain shipments in that direction, have contributed to the stoppage. Since Aug. 1 only 11 million bushels of grain have moved from terminals. With a railway strike a possibility, the immediate future looks grim.

There is supposed to be no sentiment in business but a U.S. businessman recently read a poem which contains as much good sense as sentiment.

Titled "A Man's Measure," it goes:

His standard has been his measure since time itself began.
He's measured not by tithes or creed,
High sounding though they be;
Nor by the gold that's put aside,
Nor by his sanctity.
He's measured not by social rank when character's the test,
Nor by his earthly pomp or show, displaying wealth possessed.
He's measured by his justice, right;
His fairness at his play,
His squareness in all dealings made,
His honest, upright way.
These are his measures,
Ever near to serve him when they can,

BEER COSTS $15 A CAN

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — What price beer in thirsty Ontario?

"It's going to work out to about $15 a can," said Magistrate Harley Hallet Wednesday as he fined Roy Goran, 25, $115 for illegal possession of liquor.

Goran was arrested when provincial police found eight cans of U.S. beer in his car.

NEW CAR ANNOUNCED—Ford of Canada president, Rhys M. Sale, above, today announced a distinctively Canadian car, the Monarch Mark II, will be introduced in November as a new entrant in the medium-price field. The new model will give Ford 13 distinct lines of passenger cars.

BIG SWITCH OF COMMERCE URGED IN U.K.

LONDON (Reuters) — A £300,000,000 ($840,000,000) switch of British trade from American and other foreign sources to the Commonwealth has been proposed by a group of Conservative party legislators.

Included in the suggested trade transfer would be £46,000,000 of Argentine meat to Australia, £8,000,000 of United States and Indonesian rubber to Malaya, Nigeria and Ceylon, and £3,000,000 of American and Dutch tobacco to Rhodesia and Jamaica.

Strike Deadline Speeds Auto Talks

DETROIT (AP) — The big three auto makers headed back into contract talks with the United Auto Workers Union today with a threat of the industry's first major strike since 1950 hanging over Ford Motor Company.

The UAW, bogged down in contract negotiations with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler for almost six months, singled out Ford Wednesday night as its strike target and set the deadline for next Wednesday.

Strengthened now by the auto companies' need for smooth production in the opening weeks of the turning out the 1959 model, the UAW said in a statement its hopes of a settlement without a strike were bolstered by a change in the bargaining attitudes of the companies.

INCO Strike Vote Set Amid Wide Labor Strife

TORONTO (CP)—About 15,000 employees of the International Nickel Company have decided to hold a strike vote Friday, casting a deeper shadow over Ontario's already dark labor scene.

Nearly 10,000 other workers already are on strike in the province.

The Inco dispute — at plants in Sudbury and Port Colborne —grew worse Wednesday as signs of settlements appeared in the province's beer strike and the threatened walkout of Toronto's 3,500 outside civic employees.

Mass meetings of Inco employees Wednesday night rejected a conciliation board report that turned aside their demands for a 10 per cent pay increase.

Monetary talks were to continue today with brewery spokesmen attending in hopes of reaching an industry-wide settlement. Demands of brewery workers vary from company to company while the 1,200 striking distribution employees want increases of $9 to $14 a week. They have been offered $2.40 this year and the same amount next.

The average salary of members of the United Brewery Workers of America (CLC) is $80 a week throughout the industry.

There appeared to be little progress at Hamilton in negotiations to end the strike at the Steel Company of Canada plant that began five weeks ago.

Still dividing negotiators was the union's demand for a package increase of 33 cents an hour over the $2.30 hourly average. The company has offered a five-cent package.

In Toronto, a strike by the city's 3,500 garbage collectors and other civic workers was headed off Wednesday as leaders of Civic Employees' Union agreed to reopen talks.

Vancouver Bucks Transit Sale

(From CP Despatches)

VANCOUVER — City council voted 8-2 Wednesday to oppose the sale of the B.C. Electric Company's transit system to private investors.

The council also asked lower mainland municipalities to join Vancouver in presenting its views to the provincial government. The city said power and transit systems should continue to operate as a unit.

The BCE is currently negotiating with a group of investors for the sale of the transit system.

BCE vice-president Dr. Harry Purdy urged the council to wait until more details on the proposed sale are available. He said the chances of a sale are "still only about even."

Council decided that disposal by the BCE of its transit system would lead either to higher bus fares or eventual taking over of the system by the city.

$3,560 DAMAGES

VANCOUVER — A woman who said she was injured when she tripped over a tow rope between two cars, and her husband who claimed damages for loss of her "society and services," were awarded $3,560 in Supreme Court here Wednesday.

Olive France claimed the tow rope stretched between two stationary cars, one stopped in an alleyway and another on a thoroughfare.

She said she did not see the rope and in falling received back and leg injuries.

HEADS ASSESSORS

CHILLIWACK — Lewis Greensword of Burnaby was elected president Wednesday of the B.C. Association of Assessors in convention here.

Elected first vice-president by the more than 60 delegates was Ken Keefer, Penticton. Second vice-president is John Ismay, Esquimalt; third, Sy Barnes, Surrey and fourth, Peter Read, Kitimat.

COUNCIL UPSET

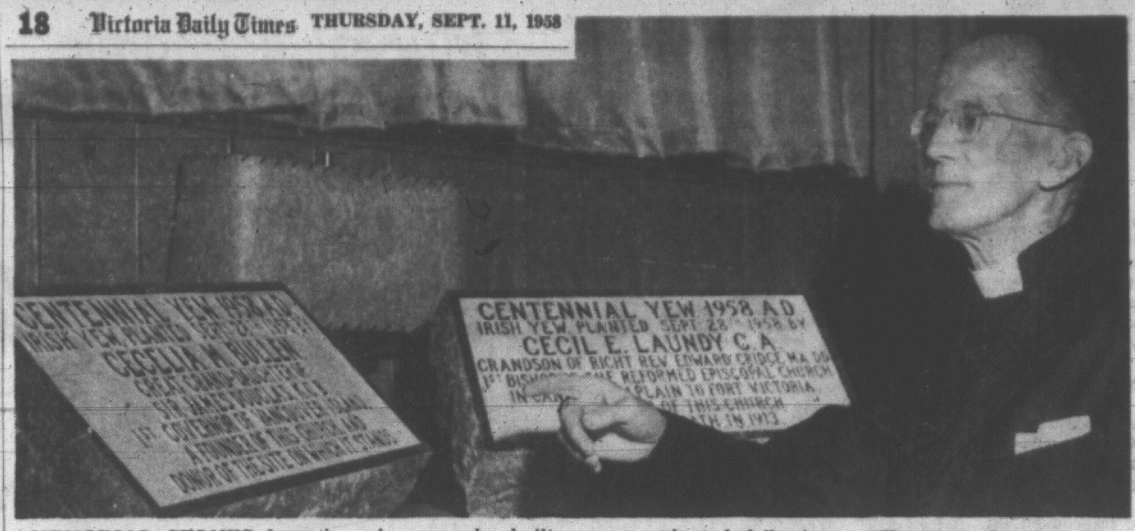
VANCOUVER — City council decided Wednesday that if it does not receive an answer to its last two wires asking for action on a proposed sewage treatment plant, it will ask Lieutenant - Governor Frank Ross to intervene.

The council said it had not received a reply from the government since it sent the first wire last month. Another telegram was sent Tuesday and council recessed Wednesday while Mayor Fred Hume telephoned the premier, who was not in his office.

CHARGES DISMISSED

VANCOUVER — Charges of assault against two men were dismissed after they had spent 76 days in jail here because of language difficulties. They had been remanded 14 times.

Steve Chusin, '34, and Mike Susmely, 44, both Hungarian immigrants, had been charged in police court June 25 with assault causing bodily harm to Sarl Systad, a Norwegian.



MEMORIAL STONES honoring pioneers who built Victoria's oldest existing church in 1873 are admired by Bishop D. A. G. Rankillor of the Church of Our Lord. The stones will be unveiled and two Irish yews planted following a "Founder's Day" service September 28 conducted by the Bishop. Descendents of many pioneer families in Victoria are expected to be present at the annual service in the church.

U.K. Research Pool Planned

TORONTO (CP)—Lord Hailsham says the British delegation to the forthcoming Commonwealth economic conference in Montreal will probably propose a unified research scheme, with older countries helping young ones.

He said in an interview Wednesday night:

"The future lies with research and education, but primarily with research. It is the pioneering work of science which is going to carry people along."

Lord Hailsham, lord president of the council and chairman of the British Conservative party, is in Toronto to address the Canadian Bar Association's annual convention Friday.

"There is absolutely no reason why the undoubtedly excellent research facilities in Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa cannot equally be brought into use.

"When you send a research team into a country in this way you do two things. First, you enlarge your own knowledge, which is always valuable. Secondly, a country sending such a team inevitably builds relations which will later bring about a share of the trade made available by the development."

The famous carillon of the Peace Tower at Ottawa has 53 bells with a range of four and a half octaves.

Mutual Economic Protection Plan

TORONTO (CP)—A former assistant attorney-general of the United States today suggested his country establish a commission to deal with economic problems of interest to Canada and the U.S.

The proposal came from Norman M. Littell of Washington, D.C., during a panel discussion at the annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association.

Mr. Littell also listed a set of rules for U.S. businessmen with Canadian operations, based on the premise their plants are "a part of Canada, not the United States."

The Washington lawyer said the commission on international economic matters should have such powers that the U.S. federal tariff commission could make no decision affecting Canadian relations without the special commission considering its effect on Canada's economy.

Quotas on imports from Canada would have to be approved.

The commission also would be able to request special studies of subsidiary operations in Canada and seek prompt prosecution for violation of anti-trust laws.

COURT NETWORK URGED AT BAR MEET

World Peace Seen Through Law

TORONTO (CP)—A plea for world peace through rule of law was made Wednesday night by Charles S. Rhyne of Washington, D.C., in a speech to the Canadian Bar Association.

Mr. Rhyne, past-president of the American Bar Association, said:

Mutual distrust, with its propaganda barrages and this situation of a world divided into two mighty armed camps, is the number one problem of our day.

"Against this almost terrifying picture of the world today, I suggest to you that law, which has brought order and peace within nations, can—if but given the opportunity—do the same between nations."

Mr. Rhyne called the International Court of Justice the most unknown court in the world and the most unused instrument for peace that mankind possesses.

Earlier appointment of judges and Queen's Counsel on the basis of political patronage was criticized by a panel of lawyers.

E. C. Leslie of Regina said he is convinced the calibre of appoints would be improved if only the justice minister made them.

"I am shocked by the number of lawyers who approach their members of Parliament and others, trying to get such appointments," Mr. Leslie added.

Gilbert D. Kennedy of Victoria, assistant attorney-general of British Columbia, said the honor of appointment as a QC is dying out in his province because only five appointments are made each year.

"It's dying in Saskatchewan for just the opposite reason," said Mr. Leslie. "There are too many QCs."

Alex W. Fisher of Vancouver said the bill could possibly interfere with laws already in force in the provinces.

He referred specifically to British Columbia where he said the government requires all children to attend school between the ages of 6 and 14 years.

In British Columbia, he said, the Doukhobors believe by their religion that their children do not have to attend school. Under the proposed bill the clause referring to freedom of religious beliefs would possibly provide a clear-cut infraction.

Chairman David W. Mundell of Toronto, in calling for a resolution, summed up the main objections to the bill as including its legal uncertainties; whether it should be an act of Parliament or an amendment of the British North America Act; whether it should be merely a declaration or have legal operations.

'DEPARTMENT NOT THAT BAD'

Mayor 'Nays' Police Study

Mayor Percy Scurrah Wednesday said he would vote against a study of the city police department by efficiency experts.

The non-profit International Association of Police Chiefs offered to make the study for $8,500 recently. It is under consideration by the police commission.

Mayor Scurrah, chairman of the commission, said he was sure that the study would not give value for such a large sum.

"It's not that necessary," he said. "Our department is not badly run."

Plea Made to Spare City's Playboy Whale

Fears were expressed today by Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the provincial museum, that someone may shoot a 25-foot finback whale which has roamed the waters off Ten Mile Point all summer and has become "too friendly" with fishermen.

The three to four-ton mammal nicknamed "Judo" by fishermen, apparently has no desire to leave the area and is frequently seen circling Discovery and Chatham Islands.

"I would hate to see her come to any harm," said Dr. Carl. "The whale is quite harmless and likes fun and a bit of sport. She wouldn't hurt a kitten."

Judo has had a whale of a time with fishermen this summer.

According to Charlie Guiget, museum biologist, she has swum and nosed around boats and on several occasions has jumped clean out of water.

"It's quite a sight seeing a whale leap like a salmon," he said. "What a splash."

The whale is so tame that Mr. Guiget, two weeks ago, took his wife to see Judo. They ran the boat alongside the mammal and had a good look at him.

Judo looked quite bored, Mr. Guiget said.

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1958 · 21

NEW WING TO OPEN SATURDAY

Art Gallery In Line With Best

Opening of the new wing of the Art Gallery Saturday will place Victoria squarely in the forefront among national art exhibit centres.

"We are now in line with the best, right along with Vancouver, Winnipeg, Toronto and Montreal," Curator Colin Graham said today.

While the new extension doesn't compare in size with galleries in Eastern Canada, facilities for handling displays are on a par with the best there is.

Culmination of years of planning and cultural effort will be reached at the 11 a.m. opening ceremony. Art lovers from throughout Vancouver Island and the mainland will be there.

"Everyone is invited," the curator said.

JUST ON TIME

Up to today, it was touch and go whether the new $75,000 centennial gallery would be finished in time. As the situation now stands, all will be ready, but only a few hours before opening observances.

Present as a representative of the provincial government will be Education Minister Leslie Peterson; Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, chairman of the Greater Victoria Centennial Committee will represent that organization, while Richard Simmins will attend on behalf of the National Gallery, Ottawa.

The gallery extension will be dedicated by Archbishop Harold E. Sexton and formally opened by Mayor Percy Scurrah. He will unveil a plaque which will read:

"This building was erected in the year 1958 as a Greater Victoria centennial project with funds provided by Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich, Esquimalt, and the Province of B.C."

The new fireproof gallery will allow showings of priceless art treasures that for security reasons were previously barred from display here. As a result, the exhibition program for the following year will be two-thirds greater than the year past.

For the opening, the National Gallery has prepared an exhibition of "the cream" of Canadian paintings from the past 200 years. Sculpture and ceramics will also be shown.

"They are our first dividends of the new gallery," Mr. Graham said.

A week-long open house will follow the opening. The gallery is closed Monday, but hours during the remainder of the week will be 11 a.m. to 5.30 p.m., from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, and from 7.30 p.m. to 9.30 p.m. Friday.

Up at Parksville I found a sturdy log cabin said to have been built 100 years ago by a long-forogtten Anglican clergyman.

This clerbyman, they say, was unfrocked for improper behavior while living in this cabin—but the details are lost in cobwebs.

Anyhow the people of Parksville feel his cabin is something of a Centennial effort. It now stands on property owned by Dick Ruston, formerly of the British Columbia Forest Service.

Then, as briskly as if he were still serving with his old Irish regiment, he marches back to his quarters.

A complaint frequently heard in Australia nowadays is that the native-born males spend too much time drinking beer in men's bars while the New Australians (immigrants) chase after the girls.

David Stirling, of Victoria, who has just returned from a motorcycle tour of Australia, said this criticism is heard frequently, but he preferred not to comment since "the Australian people were so very kind to me".

"It is true," he said, "that Australians drink a lot of beer, but then they live in a very thirsty climate."

A Vancouver bachelor who has spent all his working life in that city is planning to retire to the Empress Hotel in a few years time.

"I believe the Empress offers an ideal life for a single man," he told me. "If I lived in a cottage on my own, I would probably get slack in my ways. But, living in a fashionable hotel, a man has to keep up his self-respect and his appearance."

Father, Son Guilty; Assaulted Policeman

A Saanich father and son pleaded guilty in city police court today to assaulting a policeman and were remanded to Friday for sentence.

Horace Taylor, 55, of 651 Alpha, and Douglas Taylor, 28, of 609 Alpha, were arrested early today after a fight with Cons. James Ramsay in Victoria West.

The officer, whose equipment belt was ripped partly off in his single-handed struggle with the two men, said he was patrolling alone in a police car on Wilson at 1.15 a.m.

He said he noticed a car parked in bushes of the deserted area with a man standing beside it.

Investigating what he termed a "peculiar" situation, he found another man and two women inside the car.

He questioned the first man, Horace Taylor, and Douglas, still in the car, became abusive.

Douglas stepped out and both men became abusive and began struggling with the officer, court was told.

Cons. Ramsay said he put Douglas to the ground, but was jumped on by the father, sending both on top of the younger man.

FOUGHT AND ROLLED

The trio rolled and fought in the dirt and Cons. Ramsay broke free to run to his patrol car and radio for assistance.

Both men began fighting with him again, he said, and he again put the younger man to the ground.

After this struggle, Horace escaped, but Douglas was held until the arrival of more police in a prowl car and patrol wagon.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A black and white collie, owned by Howard Smillie, 4320 Douglas, was hit and dragged about 100 feet at the corner of Douglas and Quadra Wednesday at 8.30 p.m.

Mental Hospital Stalling Blamed On Poor Wages

CCF Leader Robert Strachan today blamed civil service wages for the fact that the B.C. government cannot find enough trained workers to establish a 1,500-bed mental hospital on Vancouver Island.

"This points up the need for a complete revision of civil service salaries to bring them in line with reality," Mr. Strachan told the Times.

"So long as the government refuses to be reasonable in their attitude toward the civil service they will have increasing difficulty persuading top calibre people to leave their jobs and work for the government."

Mr. Strachan was referring to a statement by Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, who said the Island hospital project had been shelved because of inability to find enough trained mental hospital workers.

Meanwhile, Victoria branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association has called for "a frank explanation" of all reasons for shelving plans for the island hospital.

Mrs. Charles Frankham, branch president, said the lack of a mental hospital on Vancouver Island has created "an intolerable situation" for the mental patient, his family and his doctors.

"It increases the cost of recovery and causes an inestimable cost in human suffering," Mrs. Frankham said.

CANNOT COMPETE

She referred to Mr. Black's statement in the legislature last February that "the government cannot compete without disturbing to an unacceptable degree the whole scale of civil service salaries."

Said Mrs. Frankham:

"This implies an unwillingness to offer wages which will attract qualified staff. If there are reasons not made clear why the government cannot afford to offer adequate salaries then surely a frank explanation is due."

Mrs. Frankham added that more people in Canada are suffering from mental illness than all other illnesses combined.

Burned Sailor Reported Still 'Seriously Ill'

Condition of PO Gerald McDormand, 406 Prileane Crescent, is reported unchanged today.

PO McDormand was injured in a flash fire in the boiler room of HMCS Cayuga Tuesday, and Wednesday he was reported "seriously ill but satisfactory" by RCN doctors.

Also injured in the fire was PO William Osecki, 901 Metchosin, whose condition is good. Both suffered first and second degree burns, but PO McDorman also suffered chest complications.

TRAFFIC FINES

Manfred Guenther, 3020 Quadra, $35 and licence suspension; Chun Pak Moak, 709 Discovery, $35 and licence suspension; Robert Sam Macdonald, Youbou, $35, for careless driving.

City Will Help Litter Campaign

THE TOP STORY

Reuters Official Visits City

The "hottest" news story of recent years has been the Middle East crisis, according to a man who should know — Stuart Underhill, 44, Vancouver native son and now assistant general manager of Reuters, with headquarters in London.

"It has been exceedingly difficult and costly to cover," he said here today on a visit. "Communications are bad, and reporters must use great ingenuity—and sometimes spend a lot of money—to get their stories out."

"Four or five paragraphs in the Times might have taken the efforts of half a dozen men, working at great risk to their lives, and probably cost thousands of dollars."

HOW IT'S DONE

How does Reuters, a non-profit trust owned by British newspapers, get its news?

"Chiefly by having experienced men at the right places," Mr. Underhill said. "We watch for tipoffs, such as an obscure assassination in a far off spot, that trouble is brewing. Sometimes that means we'd better send a couple of men there to watch developments."

Mr. Underhill was educated at University School here, and joined Canadian Press in 1937. He worked in Vancouver, Toronto, New York and London, then became bureau chief in London in 1947, and bureau chief in New York in 1949. He went to Reuters in 1950, and now lives in London with his wife and three children.

LONG SERVICE RECORD

"Reuters is 107 years old this year, and is bigger and more vigorous than ever," he said. "We are more than holding our own in a highly competitive business."

He and his wife and family arrived in Vancouver July 30, and will return to Europe Sunday on Canadian Pacific Airlines' Bristol Britannia flight over the polar route to Amsterdam.

Full Closing City "Duty"

City council today was asked to enforce the Wednesday afternoon store closing that goes into effect next week.

Archie Wills, spokesman for the Six-Day Shopping Committee, wrote council asking that the law be fully enforced by police if there is no extension of the present bylaw allowing six-day shopping 4½ months of the year.

Wednesday afternoon opening is allowed from June 1 to Sept. 15 and all through December under the present bylaw. It is under review by a council committee. A questionnaire is being sent merchants to discover their wishes.

Mr. Wills asked council to try a one-year experiment of six-day shopping for 12 months.

If it won't do this, then it is council's "duty" to advise operators that the law "will close tightly the stores of Victoria on Wednesdays after 1 p.m. until December," he said.

Public Works Group Offers Assistance

City public works committee has swung into action supporting Victoria's campaign against the litter bug.

The committee has asked the city engineering branch for reports on where more trash cans should be erected and possible re-painting of the cans in conspicuous colors.

In the meantime, it moved fast to clean up a trouble spot around Memorial Arena. Two trash cans have been erected on the east side of Blanshard today between the arena and Pandora.

"I think we are short of cans on the streets and at parks," said committee chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow. "We've got about 100 now but that's not too many when they are spread throughout the city."

The cans also may be painted a bright color, possibly yellow, to make them stand out and remind citizens that trash should go into them and not on city streets.

The present silver-painted cans blend with the background and are too hard to see. He said: "But no matter how many cans we put up or how brightly we paint them, they will not do the job unless we get the full co-operation of every member of the public," he emphasized.

Ald. Edgelow said his committee also will keep close watch on back alleys and building driveways in the downtown area "where some people seem to have a habit of throwing their litter."

He said this aspect of the problem not only added to unsightliness, it also presented a serious fire hazard to the downtown area.

WICKS SILENT ON FERRY ARBITRATION

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks this morning declined comment "at present" on the recommendation of Black Ball mediator Craig Munroe that the long dispute should be resolved by a board of arbitration if agreement on wages is not reached.

Mr. Munroe suggested the B.C. government continue to operate the ferries under the Civil Defence Act until the pay issue is settled.

Longshoremen Accept U.S. Strike Money

A spokesman for the 1,300 striking B.C. longshoremen said today the union has received $1,000 from the Seattle, Wash., local of the union and eventually would be taking in "considerably more than $50,000 a month from various sources."

William Henderson, chairman of the negotiating committee of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, told The Times:

"Seattle has promised $7,000 a month for the duration of the strike, Tacoma (Washington) more than $7,000 a month, and all the ILWU locals along the Pacific Coast and Hawaii will support us, too."

BIG ASSESSMENT

There are 60,000 longshoremen along the U.S. west coast, 18,000 in Hawaii. Average assessment per man in the Seattle local is $5 a month, $10 monthly in Tacoma.

"We don't believe in giving men strike pay automatically," Mr. Henderson said. The money contributed by the U.S. dockers would be given to strikers only when they were in actual need of it, he said, and payments were not made automatically as soon as a strike got under way.

"If a man doesn't think an issue is big enough to strike for it without pay, he shouldn't go on strike. Nor do we have an advance strike fund. If we had one, it might encourage the men to use poor judgment and go on strikes."

Federal mediator Eric Taylor has called the union and B.C. Shipping Federation together for a meeting in Vancouver at 10 a.m. Saturday.

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK — By STUART KEATE

Do It Yourself!

This summer, imbued with the do-it-yourself propaganda, I resolved to finish our beach patio.

It all began 19 years ago when we began throwing rocks at a hornet's nest. Pretty soon, a fair pile of rocks began to take shape; the hornet's nest was still there, but the rocks were beginning to look good.

Keate

Every summer thereafter, with a merciful respite during the war years, I tossed, rolled, pried, shoved and wheeled rocks. They looked elegant, jutting out into the lake a bit, conjuring up pictures of lazy afternoons by the barbecue, with the gentle lap of the waves lulling the mind and faint aroma of onions titillating the senses.

The year 1958 was clearly the summer of decision. The time had come to do-it-myself.

So I did. I went to the nearest telephone and summoned a Dutchman and an Italian to do the cement-work.

After two days of back-breaking toil a serried battlement reared above the placid waters of Sproat Lake. All that remained was the fill, and the flagstones.

For this job, I enlisted the aid of my friend Norm Dolan, an Alberni boy who has built himself a thriving sand-and-gravel business. In due course Norm arrived with his load and surveyed the terrain.

"Guess I can get down to the beach this way," said Norm, indicating a tortuous path through the forest. "I'll just back 'er up first. . . ."

Which he did. But suddenly the earth gave way, and with a sickening gurgle the entire front of his truck disappeared.

Norm looked at me, quizzically.

"Ye gods!" I exclaimed. "After all these years, I'd completely forgotten. You're in the septic tank."

A few minutes later his assistant arrived with a second load of fill. "I'll make it," he said, with a triumphant glance at his boss.

"Great stuff for pottery," he murmured, unenthusiastically, as he picked up a gob in his hands.

Painfully, by hand, we lugged every yard of that gravel over to the rockpile. By sundown it was full.

★ ★ ★

Norm looked at it, thoughtfully. "No sense putting concrete or flagstones down now," he said. "Let the water come up and wash that stuff down. You'll be much better off a year from now."

So it takes 20 years? So what?

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Should little girls curtsy?

Should I train my two preschool children to come downstairs before dinner and greet my guests? I have seen it done and thought it very nice. Should little girls be taught to curtsy instead of shaking hands?

Louise Davis answers:

Louise Davis It is excellent training for children to greet their parents' friends. Even though they may be awkward at first, practice makes perfect and will aid in developing poise. When teaching the youngsters, I suggest that you make a strong point of having them stay just long enough to say their how-do-you-do's, then depart promptly, politely and quietly. As time goes on, their self assurance will tell them what to say and do. I also suggest that the children learn to give firm handshakes early in the game. It is an excellent attribute of character and should stay with them for life if they are taught when quite young. How unpleasant it is to receive a weak or limp grip from any adult. Curtsying is almost a thing of the past. Many well brought up little girls still do it, however. It is a delight to see but is no criterion, as a well-behaved child can manifest her good "up-bringing" in other ways.

High Boots at Fashion Show Won't Set Trend

High-buttoned boots with pointed toes and inch-high heels, were shown as accessories at a fashion preview Wednesday evening.

But they're not likely to set a trend.

Boots were worn with only one costume when T. Eaton Company presented their preview of fall and winter fashions in the Victoria room—they were part of an old-fashioned nurses' uniform, typical of those worn by graduate nurses when the Royal Jubilee Hospital was first founded. This and modern day uniforms were modeled by nurses from the hospital, whose women's auxiliary sponsors the showings today and Friday.

High-buttoned boots and long skirts were not typical of the fashion trends for this year. Generalizations are difficult — costumes ranged from classic stylings to adaptations of the very newest trapeze lines. Skirts are definitely shorter, but many were shown in neat calf-length.

Outstanding was a pure silk paper taffeta gown in brilliant blue—an original model from Paris. Harem skirt was smooth in front, pleating over the hip from a low dropped waistline, "a shimmering bubble of taffeta." Worn with the gown was a Medici pink whimsy hat of bright pink velvet ribbon and veiling with clusters of tone-shaded velvet grapes and leaves, an exclusive import.

For sophisticated elegance there was black silk in a handmade cocktail dress from the boutique of Nina Ricci in Paris, fashioned with floating drapery caught at the waist with a tailored bow, a wrap-around skirt lined with pure silk chiffon, and a bodice buttoned in a curve from high neckline to waist.

Coats featured the new almond shape, slightly tapered at the hem, including two smart models in scarlet and "baker meringe." Deceptive styling was seen in a coat in devil's black wool fabric, with unpressed pleats falling from a low-set band, giving the impression of a walking suit with a full skirt.

Daytime suits ranged from classic styles to the new trapeze. One of olive green tweed featured the "split level" jacket over a very slim skirt. Another showed a belted jacket worn with all-round pleated skirt, a Sybil Conolly model.

These and many other models in sportswear, afternoon dresses and lingerie as well, will be shown again today and tomorrow at 3 p.m. Convener of the show for the Royal Jubilee Hospital Women's Auxiliary is Mrs. F. H. Loveday.

10 YEARS MORE

COOKSTOWN, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. Hannah Jean Couse, who wears glasses only because "I like to see my food before I eat it," celebrated her 100th birthday Thursday.

She told well-wishers she figures she's good for another 10 years.

Rummage Sale—Members of B.C. Protestant Orphanage Junior Auxiliary made plans for a rummage sale to be held next Wednesday at 9.30 a.m. in Wordsworth Hall, Courtney St., at their meeting at the orphanage, Mrs. M. Nelson presiding. Mrs. M. Gilman is sale convener. Reports were given by committee chairmen on plans for a forthcoming bazaar. Next work meeting will be held Sept. 23 at home of Mrs. M. Boyes, Hampshire Road.

Churchills Celebrate In Sun of The Riviera

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston and Lady Clementine Churchill celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Friday in the sunshine of the French Riviera at Cap d'Ail.

"My marriage was much the most fortunate and joyous event which happened to me in my whole life," Sir Winston has written. "For what can be more glorious than to be united in one's walk through life with a being incapable of an ignoble thought."

Churchill will be 84 next November. Lady Churchill is 73. Congratulations and gifts are pouring in.

Half a century ago "Clemmie" Hozier, granddaughter of the ninth Earl of Airlie, and Winston Churchill, Boer War hero and journalist, met at a dinner party. He recalls that he "manoeuvred" her into a lakeside pagoda at Blenheim Palace and proposed.

For the wedding 1,600 guests and many gate crashers packed St. Margaret's Church. Police struggled with crowds in Whitehall and all the way down to the Horse Guards' Parade.

"If you find yourself in competition with men never become aggressive in your rivalry," she said.

"She who forces her point may well lose her advantage. You will gain far more by quietly holding to your convictions. But even this must be done with art, and above all with a sense of humor."

On another occasion she gave this tip:

"If you want to make Winston happy," she told a friend, "the first and most important thing is to feed him well. He must have a good dinner."

Fair-Haired Bride Picture In Traditional Bridal Gown

In a candlelight ceremony at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Carol Diane, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Savage, of Falkland Road, became the bride of David Kemp Riddell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Riddell of Woodburn Avenue.

Dr. J. L. W. McLean conducted the ceremony in a setting of white gladioli and chrysanthemums. John Dunbar sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the fair-haired bride was radiant in her floor-length gown of white taffeta. The gown was fashioned with a scoop neckline outlined in seed pearls and princess line skirt that extended into a chapel train. For "something old" she wore her grandmother's pearls. Her pearl coronet held a chapel length veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of Joanna Hill roses and stephanotis.

A quartet of bridesmaids attended the bride. They included the Misses Ina Corbett, Elizabeth Savage, Annette Riddell and Brenda Savage. All wore shot taffeta gowns in copper, bronze champagne, apricot and peach respectively. The princess line dresses featured scooped necklines and full skirts with rosebud inserts. Headpieces were of flowers and they carried cascade bouquets of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums.

Best man was Jack Robertson and ushers were Jerry Stewart, Don Allen and Bill Emerton.

Wallace Room, Holyrood House, was scene of a reception following the ceremony. A three-tier cake flanked by baskets of tiny pink rosebuds centred the bridal table which was covered with a lace cloth. F. Hawes proposed the toast.

For a wedding trip to the United States, the bride wore a navy shantung sheath style dress. Her feathered hat was in matching shade and she topped the outfit with a flame colored coat. Her corsage was a white gardenia.

The newlyweds plan to make their home in Vancouver.

DEAR ABBY . . .

'Have a Heart-to-Heart Talk'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: If this man wasn't my husband I wouldn't put up with him for an hour. We've been married 16 years and he has always had the idea that he is the life of the party. He is really the loudest mouth in the place wherever we are. He tells the most vulgar stories right in front of women (including my own mother) and believe me, he has been told off more than once by many people. It doesn't do any good. How can I get him to clean up his talk so he won't embarrass me?—EMBARRASSED.

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Your "little boy" (because that's what he is) is still trying to get attention. His ego is desperately in need of nourishing. Maybe he needs a build-up on the home front instead of a scolding. Have a serious heart-to-heart talk with him and get a good psychologist to help you.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am a young man who would like to get married but I don't make enough money. The only way I could make it would be to marry a girl who had a good job and wouldn't mind going fifty-fifty. Is this okay or do you think the husband should take the full responsibility of earning the whole check?

—YEARNING TO MARRY.

DEAR YEARNING: When your earning capacity equals your yearning capacity, marry. But not until.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I decided that this year for my vacation I would stay home and relax. This was the worst mistake I ever made. My wife handed me all the odd jobs she had been saving up for five years. I cleaned the garage, painted the screens, repaired the roof, built an outdoor barbecue and poured concrete for the patio. I sanded and revarnished all the floors in our eight-room house. I never worked so hard in all my life. I have to go back to work on Monday and I need a vacation from my vacation. It's too late for me, but be a pal, Abby, and print this. It might save some other sucker who decides to spend his vacation at home just "taking it easy."—BEAT.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Eleven years ago I had a baby boy out of wedlock. When he was seven months old I met a wonderful man and we fell in love. I told him the whole story. He married me anyway and adopted my little boy. Since then we have had two of our own. We have never told the first boy that his "Daddy" is not his real father. There would be so many things we couldn't explain. Are we making a mistake, Abby, in letting him believe as he does? The only ones who know the truth are my mother and my sister.

—KEEPING IT A SECRET.

DEAR KEEPING: Go right on keeping your secret. Sometimes a kind lie is better than a cruel truth. If the time ever comes when you have to reveal the whole story, the boy will probably be mature enough by then to understand it.

Tiny Mouse Could Have Stopped Show

Acting as model in a fashion show at "Woodwyn" Wednesday afternoon, Miss Gilbert stepped on the patio in a breathtaking "balloon" line short formal that brought "oohs" and "aahs" as she stood for a moment, motionless and still.

Few realized that running across the flagstones in front of her was a tiny field mouse.

Doris may have wanted to scream—but she didn't. As the mouse scurried toward a flower bed, she walked slowly toward it. With a flick of its tail it disappeared.

GIRL GUIDES

Langford—Members of First Langford Girl Guide Company will hold their first meeting of the season on Thursday at 6.45 p.m. in St. Matthew's Hall.

'Woodwyn' Scene of Huge Garden Party;

Weather that included hot sun, blue skies and also a heavy deluge of rain failed to mar the enjoyment of more than 1,000 visitors who crowded through the stone gateway to "Woodwyn," country home of Mrs. W. C. Woodward, for a garden party arranged by the Guides and Brownies of the Saanich Division, Wednesday afternoon.

Stalls of home cooking, vegetables and flowers, did a brisk business and were sold out long before close of the party. A sum of $800 was realized.

The affair was opened by Mrs. George R. Pearkes, wife of Canada's defence minister, who was in Victoria on a brief visit. For the occasion she wore a cinnamon brown afternoon dress with gold-toned jewelry and a close-fitting cap of pheasant feathers.

OFFICIAL OPENING

Mrs. Pearkes was formerly a guide division commissioner when she lived in Calgary.

Mrs. Woodward, as hostess for the afternoon, wore a floral print dress in grey and green on a white background, with pearl jewelry.

General convener Mrs. J. McKevitt, Saanich division commissioner, with district commissioners Mrs. Freeman King, Mrs. F. Gilbert, Mrs. V. Heaslip and Mrs. E. Watters, and many others in the guide-brownie movement, wore their smart uniforms.

Assistant conveners were Mrs. A. Greenwood, Mrs. H. Cross, Mrs. Ken Cronk and the division secretary, Mrs. R. deM. Brown. Publicity was in charge of Mrs. K. K. John.

Association presidents assisting were Mrs. C. J. Douma, Mrs. F. A. Moulton, Mrs. J. Whitehead, Mrs. P. Delbrouck, Mrs. A. H. Iais, Mrs. P. Colbert, Mrs. S. Armitage, Mrs. W. Rowe, Mrs. R. Osmars, Mrs. G. F. Thorne and Mrs. R. W. Hagan.

Presiding at head tea tables on the terrace and on the lawns were Mrs. F. Sharples, Mrs. W. Parker, Mrs. E. E. Smalley, Mrs. Peter Speck, Mrs. F. A. Midgley, Mrs. Walker Taylor, Mrs. Dyson Phelps, Mrs. A. Cuthbert, Mrs. W. S. Emmerton, Mrs. H. C. Layard, Mrs. W. Margarson and Mrs. Keith MacDougall.

A fashion show, presented by Malleks Ltd. and Toojays, that had to be stopped during a heavy rain shower and started again when the clouds rolled away, was nevertheless received with much applause.

UP-TO-MINUTE STYLES

Ida Clarkson was the commentator and models stepped from the attractive living room doorway to the patio where everyone could see and applaud.

Mary Rawnsley was lovely in a soft pale beige wool dress simply cut but with new styling at waistline and at neck and in the sleeves. Hat worn with this dress was a melusine casual in white sand with feather trim.

An unforgettable short formal in black and blue pure silk organza worn by Doris Gilbert, featured the very new balloon line in the skirt. The strapless bodice was gathered at the bustline and caught in front with a large self rose. Worn with this was a Peggy Ann original—a spray of striped feathers on a blue band.

Striking in its beauty was the black lace over amber taffeta worn by Trudy Jones. Short skirted and slim fitting this attractive formal had a large flounce accented with an amber satin bow.

A pretty dress suit of blue faille, the jacket double breasted and with open collar line and a slim, slim skirt, won much applause when it was modeled by Doris Usher. With it she wore a natural grey Russian squirrel jacket with cuffed sleeves and a black hat and scarab earrings.

Jo Aitken modeled a black and white tweed clutch coat with rolled collar and tuxedo front in "Cloud" man-made fur, completely lined and weather and water-proofed. Her hat was a casual model in Kelly green melusine.

Quick changes brought the models back again and again to present street, afternoon and evening ensembles completed with the right hats, gloves, accessories and furs.

DRUNKENNESS NO EXCUSE

Indian Girl's Appeal Turned Down by Court

An Indian girl, in a white blouse and black skirt, sat in the B.C. Appeal Court Wednesday and heard her counsel raise the question:

Is a drunken person responsible for an assault which she cannot remember?

The question was argued before three judges of the appeal court by Joseph McKenna, QC, appearing for 22-year-old Ruth Charles of the Craigflower Indian Band.

Mr. McKenna argued that Ruth Charles was so drunk she did not know what she was doing when she broke a beer glass over the head of Mrs. John Hancock, wife of a beer parlor manager, and then jabbed her in the face with the broken glass.

Mrs. Hancock had to have 22 stitches in her face to close the gash.

The assault occurred at Sooke beer parlor on All Sooke Day, July 19, when, as Mr. McKenna said, a lot of people were "somewhat excited."

Later on Aug. 12 Ruth Charles was sentenced to six months in jail by Magistrate A. I. Thomas for assault causing bodily harm.

Appealing the sentence, Mr. McKenna emphasized that when Ruth Charles was asked in police court how many beers she had drunk she replied:

"The beer was coming so fast, I cannot remember."

He added that the potent effects of alcohol on Indians were well known, yet the beer parlour had exercised no restraint in serving beer to a girl who was already intoxicated.

Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran: "If we accept your argument that this person did not know what she was doing, we would have to acquit her. Do you think we should set her free when she has inflicted a rather severe facial injury?"

Mr. McKenna: "Yes, My Lord, if the evidence for the prosecution does not fit the crime she should be acquitted."

OFFENCE STANDS

Mr. Justice A. I. Bird questioned Mr. McKenna's contention that there could be no offence if the person charged was not conscious of inflicting bodily harm.

Mr. Justice O'Halloran told Mr. McKenna he had taken "a steep uphill road" in trying to prove the girl was provoked into assault.

"It might end in the Supreme Court of Canada," he said.

Mr. McKenna: "Well, it has got to start somewhere."

Later Mr. Justice O'Halloran stated that the appeal judges would dismiss Mr. McKenna's appeal from the six months sentence.

B.C. WOMAN HELD

BELLINGHAM, Wash.—A 19-year-old Vancouver, B.C. woman, Marie Judd, was held pending deportation proceedings here Wednesday after she and another Canadian girl were taken into custody with five Moses Lake, Wash., airmen near the border Sunday.

The other girl, a minor, was turned over to Canadian authorities to be returned to Vancouver.

WOMAN DRIVER GOT 'BIG SCARE' PLUS $15 FINE

"Oh, I was scared . . ." a woman driver said in city police court Wednesday when chided for driving over a railway crossing past an approaching locomotive.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Halton, 1960 Argyle, pleaded guilty to driving past a flashing red stop signal on Esquimalt Road, indicating a railway crossing and an approaching train.

She was fined $15 by Magistrate H. C. Hall, who said, "You know how dangerous that is," mentioning a passenger and two small children in the car with her.

Mrs. Halton said she was talking to her adult passenger at the time and missed the signal.

Maffeo Greets Utility Group

Island Payroll Boosts From $25 To $60 Million In Thirteen Years

NANAIMO (CP) — Mayor Pete Maffeo welcomed more than 100 delegates from publicly owned electric utilities in B.C. and the northwestern United States at the opening Wednesday of a three-day meeting of the Northwest Public Power Association.

Mr. Nash noted that since 1945, on Vancouver Island alone, salaries and wages have increased from $25,000,000 annually to nearly $60,000,000. Annual value of factory shipments had risen from $73,000,000 to $240,000,000.

During the same time annual production of electricity at B.C. Power Commission plants on the Island rose from 14,500,000 to 712,000,000 kilowatt hours.

Vancouver Island is a good example of the benefits which public power has brought to private enterprise, he said.

"Thirteen years ago, at the end of the Second World War, our forests held the raw materials. Men looked to this island as an ideal place to work and to live. Money was available for investment and markets were expanding, but the spark needed to bring into being the tremendous development which followed was lacking. When that was supplied by formation of the B.C. Power Commission, the industrial potential of the Island began to be realized.

Trial Exhibits Tampered With Police Charge

COURTENAY (CP) — A charge of attempting to defeat the course of justice was laid Wednesday against two Cumberland youths already facing two serious charges.

Kenneth Mackie and Robert W. McMullen, each about 20, were accused of tampering with police exhibits while in custody Tuesday at Cumberland. Magistrate John Ryland granted the pair bail totalling $6,000 each after a two-day hearing and reading of the other charges.

Mackie and McMullen now face joint counts of breaking into Cumberland Motors and stealing an empty safe Aug. 16, trafficking in a substance represented to be a drug and tampering with police exhibits.

Committal to a higher court was ordered late Wednesday on the theft charge, with bail set at $500 in two sureties. On the drug charge the two elected trial by a higher court and were remanded for preliminary hearing Friday at Courtenay, with bail set at $5,000 for each. The same day the attempt to defeat justice charge will be heard, with bail $500 each.

Maximum sentences possible are 30 years' imprisonment, plus a whipping if they are convicted of the drug charge. Cumberland police declined to divulge what exhibits the prisoners had tried to reach.

Gun Pellets Hit Hunter

NANAIMO—Hit in the face by shotgun pellets Tuesday evening while hunting at Crofton, Eldon Adams was treated at Nanaimo General Hospital and discharged the same night.

Charter Given Zoo Project At Wellington

NANAIMO (CP) — Charter for a North Wellington zoological gardens, which may expand to a 90-acre $500,000 project within five years, has been received by the sponsoring Vancouver Island Zoological Society.

Society member Paul Hertel, who noted he may manage the gardens, said present membership of the newly-formed group is nearing 200. He said he is not a member of the seven-man directorate.

Mr. Hertel said the project will be modelled along the lines of the gardens of Granby, Que.

He noted the Granby gardens have become a million-dollar investment in about eight years as a result of public support. Over 240 species of larger animals are confined in the Granby gardens.

About $60,000 is now invested in Hertel-owned land, which will be taken under a 10-year lease for the project.

"I will manage the gardens, but only if the directors decide to appoint me," Mr. Hertel explained. His animals would form the basis for expansion.

Driver Acquitted In Traffic Death

NANAIMO (CP) — Verdict of not guilty was returned Wednesday following the two-day trial of Melvin Edward Hanson, 27, on a criminal negligence charge arising out of the traffic death Jan. 24 of Charles Norval Petrie, 20, Youbou.

The dismissal in the Fall Assize Court here followed an hour and a half jury adjournment. This was the first case of a seven-case docket for the annual session.

Eleven witnesses were called by Crown counsel D. M. Cunliffe, while defence counsel Sidney Clark, also of Nanaimo, called none.

Mr. Cunliffe was assisted by William Craig, Vancouver.

In his defence Mr. Clark said: "The Crown has not produced any evidence showing Hanson to be the driver at the time of the accident. The fatal crash occurred on the Duncan-Lake Cowichan Road. Also killed was Robert Ketch of Youbou.

Mr. Justice MacFarlane presided.

Second case, also a criminal negligence charge arising out of a traffic accident, proceeded today at 10.30 a.m. Accused is Robert Steele, Port Alberni.

He is defended by A. G. McCulloch, Port Alberni.

School Board To Complain Of Bad Roads

GANGES—Trustees of School District 64 (Salt Spring) will complain to the highways minister of the "washboard" roads used by school buses on Salt Spring Island.

Complaint was lodged by the board of trustees transportation committee at a board meeting here. Members blamed the dry summer for the road condition.

Trustees reported improvements made during the summer included provision of a new washroom and play area at Saturna, and improved playing fields, new floor covering, new lighting, and redecoration of rooms and halls at Ganges school.

New retaining walls and a sidewalk now complete a staff parking and bus loading area at the school.

Mrs. H. Prior, Pender Island trustee, reported enrollment there had increased from 19 last June to 34 at present, and that a second room in the school will be reopened when a teacher is available.

8 CARD OF THANKS

I recently spent four weeks in St. Joseph's Hospital, Ward 17, Annex. I must say I cannot praise the nurses and staff too highly for the splendid care I received while there. Thanks a lot, folks. I would also like to thank my relatives and friends for their kind acts, such as visiting me, gifts of reading material, fruit, flowers, etc. Last, but not least, I would like to thank a very fine doctor and gentleman, Doctor C. H. Felix —Sincerely, Denny Laughren, 180 Island Highway, Victoria.

9 IN MEMORIAM

ANDERSON—In loving memory of our dear Dad and Papa, Arnold Clayton Anderson, who passed away Sept. 11, 1957.
Our dearest wish would be today
To have you back in the same old way.
To hear you laugh, to see you smile,
To talk to us a little while;
We often linger on the way
That leads us back to yesterday.
—Always remembered, sadly missed by Betty, John, Gary and Daunine.

GODDARD—In loving memory of my dear husband, Roger Goddard, who passed away Sept. 11, 1955.
Remembrance is a golden chain
Death tries to break but all in vain;
To have, to love, and then to part
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart.
The years may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never—
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.
—Ever remembered by his wife Elsie, son Stan and Florence Price.

MULHOLLAND—In memory of a loving husband and father, James Mulholland, who passed away Sept. 11, 1951.
The face I loved is now laid low,
His loving voice is still.
The hand so often clasped in mine
Lies now in death's cold chill.
I often sit and think of him
When I am all alone;
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.
—Remembered by his wife Rose, son James and daughter Grace.

RAWLINSON—In loving memory of our dear mother and father, Catherine and George Rawlinson, who passed away Sept. 11, 1956, and Sept. 17, 1956.
Two years have passed since that sad day
When ones we loved were called away;
God took them home—it was his will;
Within our hearts they liveth still.
—Ever remembered by John and Gloria.

Paul Muni Stars in Playhouse 90 Repeat, 'Last Clear Chance,' at 8.30

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

REVIEWS—For 30 years "The Voice of Firestone" has been treating music-lovers of radio and television to some of the finest music to be heard on the air. Now—obviously to boost its ratings appeal—it has changed its format to include the popular rather than only the classics and semi-classics.

If one can judge correctly from the opening show Monday night Firestone has come up with a thoroughly engaging program that should appeal to the long-hair and the crew-cut alike. Although it still retains its original tone and white-tie-and-tails flavor it has added a certain elan that was missing in previous years. The addition of quiet-spoken, gentlemanly John Daly as emcee must also be considered an adroit move.

"Don't yell! There's still 18 inches left!"

However, for all this, a certain danger lurks in the frou-frou on the old patina. In attempting to please everyone will Firestone lose that sturdy clique of faithfuls it has managed to retain over three decades? There is the rub. If Firestone discovers that the new format is not retaining these viewers then it may be necessary for "The Voice" to discard more and more classical stars in favor of pop artists.

Should this happen then the danger becomes very real indeed. For then Firestone is competing against Sunday night's merry Chevy Show, Perry Como, Lawrence Welk and other past masters of the bubble and froth who, at this time at any rate, are so well established that their fortress of popularity is almost unassailable.

However, devotees of Firestone will hope that such will not come to pass. For Heaven only knows TV is in great need of programs boasting the quality of the "Voice of Firestone" and it would be a great pity ever to dilute it in the name of ratings that can be regarded only as sure as a wager on the daily double.

* * *

WHILE "FIRESTONE" was winging its gay way something called "Music U.S.A." was occupying competitive Channel 7 (later repeated on Channel 2). Now our reception was poor, therefore it was difficult to make up one's mind whether the howling of the banshees was attributable to the set or to those purple people eaters Sheb Wooley, Diahann Carroll and Andre Previn. Oh, it must have been the set. The sounds were inhuman.

In other passages the show fared better, such as in the clarinet-playing of Benny Goodman, the offerings of guitarist Barney Kessel and drummer Shelly Manne. Indeed, "Music U.S.A." must, in all fairness, be dubbed a sincere try if not a triumph. It was well thought out. It possessed a certain smartness. Unfortunately it possessed very little soul.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1958

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Planning your hours intelligently will enable you to attend to pressing work or problems, plus combining social or business obligations wisely. Tonight you will be enlightened how you can do your work more efficiently. Follow hunch.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Long-standing duties make it necessary you attend to them though you would rather seek pleasure of some sort. P.M. is then free for fun with some choice companion who will also expound some very sound philosophy and make life easier for you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—There is a possibility of an a.m. quarrel that could be very unfortunate if you do not schedule your time and act wisely between tasks at home and obligations in business or to others. Tonight is fine for repairs to house, increasing harmony.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)—Inasmuch as it is impossible to be two places at once and the same time, it is wise to get regular work or immediate obligations attended to first, then you can attend those functions, have tete-a-tetes, etc., you like. P.M. enjoy yourself.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Be sure you look into your financial matters today although having fun is pretty much on your mind. All sorts of opportunities are open to you to add materially to your abundance and well being. P.M. is ideal for enjoyment at own home.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Don't permit that upset family to throw off his or her depression on you. And take care to be kind, not offensive. P.M. is then fine for being with chosen comrades for ideal evening doing what most pleases you personally.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Fretting or stewing over inconsequential little things today could certainly ruin the truly fine aspects present to accomplish much in several spheres of endeavor. P.M. follow your hunches for achieving greater success in life.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Did you contact that truly loyal pal who can do so much for you, or are you so busy endeavoring to work out your problems yourself that you have reached the point of staleness? Do it. P.M. is fine for having a wonderful time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Don't dream any longer. An authority expects an excellent job from you and it is imperative you perform it. Be dynamic and use the fine brain God gave you. P.M. is ideal for confidential talk with bigwig.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Secret worry will surely deter you from opportunity to step out and make new contacts of value in the higher brackets. Read your paper thoroughly too. Tonight you can then confide in pal the fine progress of the day.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—A rift is imminent between an associate and a bigwig, so be sure you do not get involved and tend strictly to own business. Tonight you will then have a chance to get vital information from a powerful individual.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—There are all sorts of things occurring that would appear to be to your disadvantage, but if you study them well, they are stepping stones to better living and greater success for you. P.M. take delightful associate to dinner, etc.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN FRIDAY . . .

The interesting child born Friday is the type who always wants to do things in the most difficult way, so it is necessary to early inculcate the basic standards and spiritual tenets of living in order to change this otherwise fine little individual. Then the chart is fine for any professions that require thoroughness as the main factor, such as medicine, law, library, all research work.

MOVE TO ALLOW SEEING-EYE DOG IN RESTAURANTS

Victoria-Esquimalt health board is drawing up a suggested amendment to provincial health legislation that would allow seeing-eye dogs accompanied by their blind masters to enter restaurants.

The action follows recent complaints by a blind visitor to the city who said he had difficulty entering Victoria restaurants because of present regulations banning animals from public eating places.

The amendment, if passed, would relieve restaurants of any penalty for admitting a seeing-eye dog.

WANT SEAT ON BOARD

JCs Threaten To Shelve Rink

City council was expected to decide today if Junior Chamber of Commerce representation will be allowed on the arena commission.

The Jaycees have threatened to shelve plans for the building of a $125,000 ice rink behind Memorial Arena if they are not granted a commission seat.

"All we want is one member to look after our interests—just a slight amount of protection," project chairman William Davison said today.

If it is a question of amending by-laws to allow representation, it should be done, he stated.

City council's finance committee has endorsed the rink proposal in principle, but aldermen said council had no power to guarantee Jaycee representation on the commission.

Time Loophole Left in Tenders On B.C. Ferries

The two new ferries to be built for the B.C. government for service between Swartz Bay and the mainland are unlikely to be in operation before late 1959 or early 1960, a government spokesman said today.

Tenders have only just been called and will not be opened until Nov. 14. It is unlikely contracts will be let before the end of November.

Two completion dates are mentioned in the specifications for the two ships, which are expected to cost about $3,000,000.

In submitting bids tenderers may choose either July 1, 1959, or Feb. 1, 1960, as completion dates. This is seen as a loophole if it is found impossible to build the two big vessels in six months.

The ships will be 329 feet long and 72 feet wide. They will be equipped with a complete dining room and lounge space for passengers.

VICTORIANS SEEK KNOWLEDGE

College Evening Classes Offer Skill to Hundreds

Skill in vocations and avocations is sought by hundreds of Victorians who have only their evenings to spare for learning.

For instance, this fall it offers three courses designed to improve skills besides many courses of purely academic nature.

The three courses are slanted towards large segments of the Greater Victoria community—the small boat owner, the businessman and the busy person who has to wade through a great deal of reading material.

The cruising with safety course, opening Sept. 24 at 8 p.m. in the college for the first of 12 meetings, is a completely practical survey of all important aspects of yachting, whether sail or power.

VOYAGES CHARTED

It will cover boat handling, sea regulations, navigation, safety equipment, boat care and even point out worthwhile trips in the area.

Cost of the course is $12. Instructor will be R. V. James, member of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club.

Switching to the needs of businessmen, the evening division is offering a course in control and management of retail and professional credit, sponsored by the Credit Granters' Association of Victoria, which issues a certificate to all successful participants.

Cost of this course, including text book and other materials, is $17.50 for nine sessions at the college, beginning Oct. 6 at 7.30 p.m. Instructors will be W. G. Ellis, co-manager of Victoria Credit Bureau, and G. A. A. Hebden, president of Hebden Printing Co. Ltd.

The third course, Workshop in More Effective Reading, probably would benefit most adults living in this fast-moving age. But it has to be limited to 20 students which means speedy registration is required to be sure of entry.

HOW TO READ FAST

Designed to improve the speed and comprehension of reading skills, it will be taught by optometrist F. W. Fraser with the use of special equipment and techniques.

Basic reading ability will have to be demonstrated by applicants before they can participate in the $30 course.

First meeting will be at the college Oct. 2 at 7.30 p.m. Full course is 20 meetings, with sessions held Tuesdays and Thursdays.

'TERRIBLE THING'

Starvation Death Probe By Scurrah

By JOHN MIKA

Mayor Percy Scurrah said today he will make a personal investigation of the death by starvation Thursday of a 71-year-old Chinese old age pensioner.

The tragedy, which sent violent ripples of shock through the city, has touched off separate investigations by police, health and welfare departments. Police Chief John Blackstock said today a report also would be made to coroner Dr. Edward Hart.

Dov Lum, 71, of 546½ Herald, apparently staggered down the stairs from his apartment building room Tuesday and collapsed in a side alley—only about 75 feet from the Chinese Hospital directly across the street.

He was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital emergency ward by police acting on a cryptic telephone call. He died within 24 hours without regaining consciousness.

At death, he weighed 60 pounds, was emaciated and in filthy condition with his finger and toe nails an inch long.

$75 A MONTH

Welfare officials confirmed the fact that he was receiving a $55 monthly old age pension and a $20 monthly bonus. He also had a provincial government card entitling him to free medical services.

"I'm going to go down to the neighborhood myself and make an effort to find out what happened to see if this sort of thing can be avoided," he said.

City Welfare Administrator William Hooson said there may be many similar cases of recluses falling ill and dying among the estimated 600 elderly Chinese sitting out their last days in one-room cubicles scattered through the Chinatown area.

CAN'T BE FOUND

"There's nothing we can do for these people because we cant' find them. They won't come to ask for help and their neighbors don't report them," he said.

Both Mr. Hooson and Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy, Victoria-Esquimalt medical health officer, said the appalling death pointed up the need for expansion of the 24-bed Chinese hospital which has been overcrowded for years.

"To put it bluntly," said Dr. Mahaffy, "these people are not willing to go to Occidental hospitals. They want to be among their own people. The only solution is to increase the size of their hospital."

REFUSED DOCTORS

Eric Joe, manager of the aparement building where Doy Lum lived and 1958 president of the Victoria Chinatown Lions Club, said the recluse refused every offer of assistance.

"I sent three doctors to see him. But he would have absolutely nothing to do with Occidental doctors. He refused to consider going to hospital," he said.

"Last year I got a Chinese doctor to visit him and he told me that Lum was not suffering

Searchers Listen In Vain

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Two hundred searchers remained outside overnight in the area surrounding the Willow River home of two-year-old Cindy Lou MacLane in hopes the child, if still alive, would make some sound that would lead them to her.

They heard nothing. Hopes that the little girl, missing from her home since 9 a.m. Tuesday, might still be alive flickered.

However, 500 searchers were back on the job shortly after daybreak and RCMP expected the number to swell to more than 1,000 later today.

Schools at Willow River, closed for 1½ days so that students could take part in the search 14 miles east of Prince George, reopened this morning.

Britain, U.S. Ready to Meet On Atom Ban

LONDON (AP)—Britain and the United States today agreed to meet Russia in Geneva Oct. 31 to negotiate a world-wide ban on nuclear weapon tests.

They restated their willingness to quit firing atomic and hydrogen weapons for one year from that Oct. 31 date.

In notes to the Soviet Union made public today simultaneously in London and Washington, the two countries rejected Premier Khrushchev's proposal that the Geneva talks be limited to two or three weeks.

The British reply said:

"Her Majesty's government of course agree that the negotiations should be concluded as quickly as possible, but believe that their importance requires the expenditure of whatever time may mutually be deemed necessary for their successful conclusion."

NO PERMANENT BAN

The American and British notes both make it plain that the two countries do not accept Khrushchev's demands that the ban on tests be made permanent.

Missing in Atlantic

Reprieve Refused In Death for $1.95

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The Alabama supreme court today refused to reconsider an earlier decision which upheld the death sentence of Jimmy Wilson for a $1.95 robbery. The Negro handyman's execution was reset for Friday, Oct. 24.

Wilson's death sentence for the robbery of an elderly white widow was upheld by the supreme court last June 12, but the condemned man asked for a rehearing. That request was denied by the court today.

The effect of the denial was to uphold the death penalty for a second time and to order the 55-year-old illiterate ex-convict put to death in the electric chair.

Wilson, whose fate has attracted world-wide attention, was sentenced to death on a charge of robbing 82-year-old Mrs. Estelle Barker at her home at Marion, Ala., July 27, 1957.

Mrs. Barker told the trial jury the Negro, along with taking the money, choked her, tried to rape her and threatened her life.

Robbery is a capital offence in Alabama, but only Negroes have ever received this maximum penalty.

U.K. EXPLODES H-BOMB

Reds Beat Off Quemoy Relief

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Nationalist supply ships, convoyed by American warships, reached Quemoy beach today but were forced to turn back by a heavy Red artillery barrage before they could unload the bulk of their cargo.

Associated Press Correspondent Gene Framer said an "intense saturation shelling" forced two supply ships to withdraw from the beach after they had unloaded only a few supplies for the Nationalist garrison.

American warships stood off at a distance, he said.

The Nationalist defence ministry said earlier that the supply ships had returned undamaged to their Pescadores base after unloading.

SECOND FAILURE

This was the first attempt to run supplies to the garrison since Monday, when Communist artillery blew up an ammunition ship and forced another to retreat after losing most of its cargo.

The U.S. command on Formosa announced that U.S. jet pilots have begun taking an active part in the defence of Formosa itself.

'HOT PURSUIT' IF ATTACKED

ABOARD THE CARRIER MIDWAY, OFF FORMOSA (AP) — If Communist planes attack aircraft of the U.S. 7th Fleet, they will be pursued to the coast of Communist China and possibly beyond.

The commander of the fleet's carrier striking force, Rear-Admiral Ralph S. Clarke, said today his pilots are restricted at present to flying no closer than 20 miles to the China coast.

But if attacked they will, under the doctrine of "hot pursuit," chase attackers to the mainland. Once there, it would be up to the individual pilot's discretion whether to pursue farther.

Ike May Tell Peace Plans On TV Tonight

* * *

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower was expected to discuss possible compromises to prevent war with Communist China in a speech to the nation tonight. The address will be broadcast all around the world by the Voice of America.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles hinted at his news conference Tuesday that some concessions might be made if the Communists would renounce use of force in the area.

President Eisenhower's address will be carried both by television and radio.

The speech will be carried live by Channel 5, Seattle, starting at 7. Radio stations CJVI and CBU will also carry it at the same time. It is expected to last a half-hour.

CHEK-TV will join the CBC network for a delayed telecast at 11.15. Channel 4, KOMO-TV, Seattle, will carry the delayed telecast at the same time.

Keen Race For Leader Predicted

Tory Convention Opens In Vancouver

By PETE LOUDON
Times Political Reporter

Voting takes place Saturday afternoon just prior to the convention finish. At this point anyone could win.

Candidates will make final campaign speeches Friday night.

Today's program was given over to registration of the first of the expected 600 delegates who are trickling in from all parts of the province.

Preliminary committee meetings are also being held.

Opening general session was set to begin at 8 tonight.

Acting president of the provincial executive, William Payne, MP, was to give the call to order. Keynote address was to be made by federal Public Works Minister Howard Green.

A battery of special guests is slated to appear at the three-day meet. These include Defence Minister George Pearkes, Justice Minister Davie Fulton, Vancouver Centre MP Douglas Jung, Alberta Tory leader W. J. C. Kirby, MLA, and Allister Grosart. Mr. Grosart, responsible for national party organization, is described as the man who won Canada for Prime Minister Diefenbaker in the last federal election.

FULL TURNOUT

Registration to date ensures a successful convention according to Derrick Humphreys, chairman of registration. Delegates are arriving by boat, plane, rail and private car from all parts of B.C. All 42 provincial and 22 federal ridings will be represented.

"A representation is even coming down from Alaska, just 30 miles south of the B.C.-Yukon border," said Mr. Humphreys.

LABOR PLANK

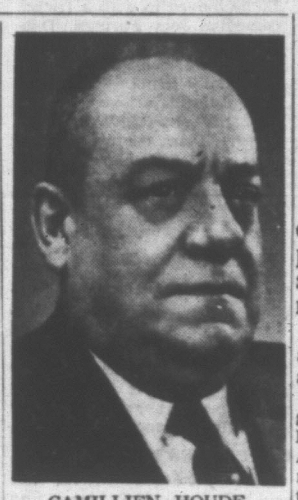
Leadership candidate Dr. Kidd said he felt one of the most important planks in the new Conservative platform will be the policy on labor matters.

He added that during his recent tour of B.C., he had been in 41 out of 42 ridings, and had spoken at least 60 times.

"I think I have spoken to 80 per cent of all the delegates. I don't know whether they all agree with me or not."

Asked what makes him think he will be a better leader than Mr. Finlayson, Dr. Kidd replied: "I know this province extremely well for one thing. I don't believe we have a provincial organization comparable to the federal organization. I would work on the provincial organization. It is not completely done."

He said if he did not win he would throw his full support behind Mr. Finlayson.



CAMILLIEN HOUDE

'Mister Montreal' Dies at 69

MONTREAL (CP)—Camillien Houde, 69, whose colorful terms as mayor earned him the title of Mr. Montreal, died suddenly today.

Mr. Houde, living quietly in retirement since 1954, had also served in the Quebec legislature and the federal parliament.

But it was as mayor of Montreal that he gained international fame, part of it due to his internment during the Second World War because of his opposition to conscription.

He was first elected mayor in 1928 and served until 1932. He was re-elected in 1934 and resigned in 1936. He was elected again in 1938 and served until 1940 when he publicly opposed national registration of Canadians.

On his release from internment in 1944 he was given a hero's welcome on his return to Montreal and was promptly re-elected mayor. He was undefeated in subsequent elections until his retirement due to ill health in 1954.

He served one term in Parliament from 1949 until 1953.

LED CONSERVATIVES

In provincial politics, he was elected to the Quebec legislature as a Conservative in 1923. He was defeated in 1927 but re-elected in a 1928 by-election. He was chosen leader of the Quebec Conservatives in 1929 but was defeated in the 1931 provincial election. Later he sat in the legislature for a brief period as an independent.

Mr. Houde was born Aug. 13, 1889, the son of Azade Houde and Josephine Frenette. Their home was a two-room tenement flat. Camillien was the only one of 10 Houde children to live beyond the age of two.

His first job was to carry butcher's delivery parcels for $1 a week. When he was 16 he got a job in a bank and rose to be a branch manager at 26.

YOUNG TORIES SUPPORT KIDD

Bargaining Club For Negotiators

More than 8,000 employees of the B.C. government have decided by an estimated 80 to 90 per cent ballot to take a strike vote, "if necessary," to force more pay from the Bennett administration.

Victoria civil servants will decide on their action at a mass meeting here Monday, and several other branches are still to be heard from.

John Murrell, director of organization for the 11,250-strong B.C. Government Employees Association, told the Times replies to an "Are you prepared to take drastic action?" letter have brought a loud "yes" so far from civil servants in 20 communities throughout B.C.

They are Vancouver, New Westminster, Chilliwack, Comox, Fort St. John, Golden, Powell River, Prince George, Kamloops, Merritt, Nanaimo, Princeton, Penticton, Terrace, Tranquille, Williams Lake, Salmon Arm, Woodlands School (Vancouver), Allison Pass and Vernon.

This is what the government employees voted "yes" to:

- Forego wage increases for 1958 (they have been demanding a 10 per cent boost);
- Go "all the way" for a pay boost starting at 11 per cent in 1959 by ensuring that sufficient money is provided in the 1959 budget for increases as of April 1, 1959;
- Take "all necessary steps," including a strike vote, to enforce demands.

No Satisfaction Given—Time to Act

"We don't like the government's attitude," said Mr. Murrell, "We have been trying to get some sort of satisfaction from Bennett for a long time, and now it's time to do something about it.

"But remember we are not pioneering a strike vote. Such a vote will be taken only if absolutely necessary and there seems no other way. We just would like to know where we stand."

The association demanded a 15-per-cent increase in 1957, but received only 7½ per cent.

Mr. Murrell said he had written several times to Premier Bennett, but did not receive any acknowledgement.

"The other day I made an appointment with one of the cabinet ministers, then changed the time of day when he asked me to. I took a plane and arrived in good time, but when I went to meet the minister I was told he was out of town.

"Is this any way to run the government? The public is entitled to something better from the men it has elected."

Mr. Murrell added the Bennett government had not been "at all courteous" in its dealings with its own employees.

Earlier, association officials said there is little likelihood the government will include money in the 1959 estimates to provide wage increases "unless the members of the association are prepared to take some militant action."

The civil servants' recent story began at the annual convention Oct. 11 and 12, 1957, when the association directed its executive to press for improvements in wages, superannuation, semi-monthly pay, substitution pay, night shift differential, annual holiday and other benefits.

These demands were incorporated in a brief to the cabinet Dec. 3, 1957. No answer was received.

On March 28, 1958, another brief was sent to cabinet, emphasizing the association's concern over the government's attitude in ignoring briefs, the Premier's failure to answer association letters, and the fact the government had failed to implement understandings (on pay) arrived at in the 1957 settlement.

In July, 1957, there was a 7½ per cent settlement but "it did not bring salaries up to the level of outside employment and since that time they have slipped to a position of approximately 11 per cent below comparable outside salaries."

The government gave no indication they intended to remedy the situation and the fact that no money was provided in the estimates at the last session is said to prove they have no such intention.

Whine of Shells 'Terrifying'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Residents of Roberts Creek, 30 miles northwest of here on the Strait of Georgia, today told of a naval bombardment that sent three shells whistling into the area of the quiet fishing village.

One shell was reported to have buried itself in bush a mile inland.

Residents said today the whine of the shells and the sight of the splashes were "terrifying."

An official spokesman for the Pacific Command at Esquimalt said today a check-out of the reports indicate they appeared to be inaccurate.

He said the location of the ships involved, and the direction in which they were firing, indicated the closest a shell could have landed to Roberts Creek would be about 3,500 yards from the wharf.

NO LETTER FROM JOHN D.

Tory Parley Issue Settled

VANCOUVER (CP) — Provincial Conservative leader Deane Finlayson today cleared up the mystery of a letter of support from Prime Minister Diefenbaker — he said there was no such letter.

The 39-year-old leader, who is seeking confirmation of his office at a party convention opening tonight, was questioned about the reported letter at a press conference.

After denying any knowledge of such a letter, Mr. Finlayson said: "This is a provincial convention and I am prepared to stand on my own feet."

The leader said he wanted to dispel the notion that he was trying to capitalize on the fact that he knew the Prime Minister and the Prime Minister knew him.

Earlier reports that the Prime Minister had sent Mr. Finlayson a letter endorsing him as provincial leader had been the subject of controversy.

Previously his opponent for the leadership in the Saturday vote, 52-year-old Dr. Desmond Kidd, said he had been assured that the Prime Minister was supporting no particular candidate for the leadership of the provincial party either publicly or privately.

He said the Prime Minister's attitude was the same as that in other provincial conventions—that he was not taking sides. He said that if Mr. Finlayson had such a letter he challenged him to produce it.

Dr. Kidd said he entered the leadership race because of his growing concern about the present provincial Social Credit government which he described as "third rate." He said he had nothing against Mr. Finlayson.

Governor Blamed For Segregation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Counsel for the Little Rock School board told the supreme court today that Gov. Orval E. Faubus and other state and local authorities "frustrated" racial integration of Central High School.

He said during cross-examination by the justices that the board would not be seeking a two and one-half-year delay in integration if state authorities had given their unequivocal support.

Richard C. Butler also suggested that Faubus' answer to integration may not work.

Faubus to Defy Supreme Court?

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Governor Orval Faubus indicated today that he expects the United States Supreme Court to order integration of the schools in Little Rock and said, "I will not force my people to integrate against their will."

He made the statement at a press conference shortly after the supreme court convened in Washington.

"I will fight to preserve the rights guaranteed to the people under the constitution," he said, "and that includes the control of the schools."

PM Won't Press Formosa at UN

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker now does not plan to pursue his suggestion that the United Nations intervene in the Formosa Strait dispute, it was learned Wednesday.

Feeling here is that there is no particular need for the UN to intervene now that the United States and Communist China are planning to hold ambassadorial talks in Warsaw on the situation.

Meanwhile, the national CCF party Wednesday sent a telegram to the prime minister expressing concern about "press and radio" reports that the United States Navy will land Chinese Nationalist forces on Quemoy Island in the next 24 hours.

The telegram, signed by CCF national president David Lewis, said if the reports are true they represent a "most serious and immediate" threat to world peace.

Mr. Lewis urged the government to abandon its "foolhardy course."

The "entire question" of Formosa should be referred to the United Nations.

but the party lacked proper organization in British Columbia, something on which he would go to work if elected.

Kidd committee spokesman, George McLean said "only 22 ridings were organized in the last provincial election — the Conservative party has died in many areas."

"The committee feels a rebirth cannot take place under present leadership. That is why the committee is sponsoring Dr. Kidd. Mr. Finlayson had six years to foster a rebirth—and no rebirth has been forthcoming."

Dr. Kidd would not comment when asked if the assurances were given to him direct by the prime minister.

"That question should be directed to Mr. Finlayson. I didn't start this thing, it began in Stuart Keate's (Victoria Times publisher) column."

Finlayson would neither confirm nor deny the existence of the letter. He said:

"The prime minister is an old political campaigner. I have supported him for years in his leadership of the Conservative party because I believed he was the right man.

"I've been in his company a number of times and I campaigned for his candidates in 1957 and 1958. He knows who I am and what I've done for the party."

The Tory leader said he had pulled the party together over the last few years and now he wanted a clear mandate. He admitted there had been criticism of his leadership, but said unity was the most important thing.

He promised if Dr. Kidd was elected, he would be thoroughly behind the new leader. Dr. Kidd, on his part, expressed a similar view and said his candidature was mainly to give the convention's 600 delegates a chance to make a choice.

Mr. Finlayson said he did not think British Columbians wanted socialism and in the next election the Progressive Conservatives would provide the main opposition to Social Credit. There was no question that Premier Bennett's stock had fallen, and the Conservatives planned to field a full slate of candidates in the next election.

Mr. Diefenbaker said in a telephone conversation in Prince Albert he would make no comment on the reported letter.

The prime minister said he never becomes "involved directly or indirectly" in provincial party affairs.

from any particular illness. He was thin and living in squalor but that was the way he wanted it.

"I offered to get him some decent clothes from the Lions Club or the Salvation Army because he was wearing rags, but he wouldn't have any of it."

NO PLACE TO GO

"He was living in a terrible condition but I couldn't turn him out, there was no place for him to go," said Mr. Joe. "I don't know of any relatives he may have had."

Investigations so far have not penetrated the circumstances of the death. However, several persons involved in the various investigations believe that he fell ill and became too weak to go out for food.

"I hadn't seen him for a month, but that was not unusual because he kept entirely to himself," said Mr. Joe. "I just got back last night from a holiday and I don't know what happened since I last saw him."

BIGGER HOSPITALS

Mr. Hooson said there is a growing problem in meeting the needs of elderly Chinese here since the Communists took over China. Few Chinese return to their homeland now when they grow old.

"They stay on here but they live alone and they are extremely reluctant to come to us when they need help," he said. "We can't trace them all.

"But most of them, when they are ill, are willing to go to the Chinese hospital where they are among their own people and eat their own food. That's why we must find a way of expanding that hospital to help these people."

Funeral arrangements are in the hands of the Dart Coon Club. The body will be buried in Royal Oak Burial Park when arrangements are completed.

Flowers on Display

The Gordon Head Garden Club will hold its annual fall show in the Gordon Head community hall Saturday from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m.

There will be a stall for sale of bulbs and plants.

EDDIE, DEBBIE SEPARATE AMID GOSSIP

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Debbie Reynolds and Eddie Fisher have separated although Debbie says, "I'm still in love with my husband."

They split up Wednesday amid rumors that Elizabeth Taylor was the cause of it all.

But Liz indicated there were some unhappy chapters in Hollywood's storybook marriage.

"I don't feel that I've taken Eddie away from Debbie—because they weren't getting along, anyway," said Miss Taylor.

She slipped into seclusion. Eddie moved in with a friend, comedian Joey Forman. Debbie, after hiding out Wednesday with friends, returned to the family home.

"I am still in love with my husband," she said Wednesday night. "I am deeply shocked over what has happened."

That means the planes stand on runways, fully armed and warmed up. American pilots are ready to take off the moment there is any report of unidentified planes approaching.

U.S. PLANES READY

The spokesman would not say how many U.S. planes and pilots are involved, but it is generally believed there are about 250 to 300 U.S. air force and marine jets on Formosa ready for combat.

Peiping radio reported that militia men have been mobilized at Amoy and the Tateng and Hsiao-teng islands across from Quemoy.

The broadcast said they were "ready to co-ordinate with the Chinese people's liberation army in wiping out invaders at any moment."

The Russians also issued another warning to the United States that war with China would mean war with the Soviet Union.

In a broadcast beamed to North America, Moscow radio repeated its pledges to come to China's aid and warned that China is no "little Lebanon." It repeated Premier Krushchev's demand that the 7th Fleet withdraw from the Formosa Strait and U.S. troops get out of Formosa.

Mainland Milk Strike Threat Averted by $25 Wage Boost

VANCOUVER (CP) — The threat of a lower mainland milk workers' strike was lifted Wednesday.

Milk drivers union spokesman Ben McCrone said peace terms were arranged at an all-day mediation session presided over by William Fraser, provincial government conciliator.

Operators agreed to give milk drivers a $25 monthly pay increase retroactive to April 1, and this will be boosted to $30 when a contract is signed.

From Jan. 1, they will receive an additional $13.75 until the agreement expires March 31, 1960.

Plant workers will get a $25 raise effective April 1 this year and a further $15 next April.

Women workers in the plants receive half these amounts.

The union originally asked $48 a month for drivers in a one-year agreement, and $43 for inside workers.

Drivers' pay will now average about $355 a month and plant pay will range up to $342.

HOURS LIMITED FOR BOAT RAMP

Effective immediately, the boat launching ramp near Oak Bay boathouse will be barred from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m., Reeve Fred Norris said today.

The move is being taken, he said, because of inconvenience to nearby residents associated with increasing use of the ramp.

We've gone fishing for facts

Education and information is an important part of the Department of Fisheries' work—telling the facts about Canada's fishing industry.

Fish are a great national resource . . . vital to this country's economy. Canada's welfare—which means yours—depends on keeping them in plentiful supply. The educational program of the Department is designed to tell Canadians what's being done to preserve the nation's extensive fish stocks and how valuable they are as a basic food resource.

This work is carried out through the daily and weekly press; radio and television; magazines; educational publications; recipe pamphlets for housewives; exhibitions; permanent fishery displays; film and filmstrip showings; and illustrated educational talks to fishermen and consumers.

DAY TELLS COURT

Inexperience Hurt Warriors

WINNIPEG (CP) — Clarence (Hap) Day, former general manager of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, said Wednesday that if the manager of the Winnipeg Warriors hockey club had been more experienced he would have snapped up several players offered him in the 1956-57 season.

Day was testifying for the defence in a damage action by Warriors of the Western Hockey League for the $125,000 from Leafs and Montreal Canadiens.

The court also was told both NHL clubs had dropped counter-claims for $25,000 each against Warriors.

Day said Warriors were offered four good players—Gerry James and Bill Harris on one occasion, and later Ken Hayden and Ed Slowinski.

He said that each time John Perrin, Warrior general manager, wanted time to discuss the men offered with Winnipeg coach Alf Pike.

"In my opinion if Mr. Perrin had been a more experienced hockey manager, he would have taken these players as fast as they were offered," Day said.

Warriors are claiming $125,000 damages and repayment of $12,621 on the grounds the two NHL clubs did not live up to an agreement to supply players of WHL calibre to the Winnipeg club during the 1956-57 season. Warriors finished last that season.

Day said he considered the players supplied to Winnipeg were all of WHL calibre. If they had not been, Day said he would not have paid them $2,000 each for signing.

"And I wasn't very free with Maple Leaf money, either," he added.

Columbia Takes Favorite's Role. In Sailing Series

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Rain forced a postponement Wednesday of the sixth trial race between Columbia and Vim to select a yacht to defend the America's Cup against Britain's Sceptre.

The selection committee ordered the sixth trial today.

The Columbia goes into the race with the nearly certain knowledge that a victory will win her the honor of defending the cup against the British challenger Sceptre in the races starting Sept. 20. The selection committee must name its choice by Saturday midnight.

The Columbia, a newly built boat, whipped the 19-year-old Vim Tuesday for the third time in five tries.

The winner whipped over the race course two minutes and 49 seconds faster than the Vim. Yachting experts generally agree that the newer boat is faster while the veteran has a more experienced crew. The performance of the crew is an equally important consideration.

Lions Purchase Import Linebacker

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manager Jim Ausley of Winnipeg Blue Bombers announced Tuesday the club has sold import centre and linebacker Hall Whitley to British Columbia Lions for an undisclosed amount of cash.

Title Bout 'News' To Fight Promoter

MONCTON (CP) — A world light-heavyweight title fight between champion Archie Moore of San Diego, Calif., and Yvon Durelle of Baie St. Anne, N.B., has been set for Dec. 10 in the Montreal Forum, it was announced Wednesday night by Durelle's manager, Chris Shaban.

But the announcement came as news to other boxing officials.

Shaban said he talked by phone with Truman Gibson of the International Boxing Club in Chicago. Gibson told him he had come to financial terms with Moore while on the west coast for the Carmen Basilio-Art Aragon fight.

Moore's terms will be announced later. He has constantly demanded $100,000 for a title defence. Durelle will be guaranteed $12,000 but stands a chance of making more depending on the TV and gate recipes.

In Montreal, fight promoter Eddie Quinn who had been trying to make arrangements for a Durelle-Moore match said Shaban's announcement was "all news to me."

In Chicago, Gibson told a reporter: "It's very premature. We are trying to make a Moore-Durelle title fight for Dec. 10 in Montreal but there are quite a few things to be ironed out before it can be definite."

Vancouver Athletes Top Nominating List

Bob Reid of Vancouver, silver medalist in the pole vault at the 1958 British Empire Games, has been nominated B.C.'s choice for the Norton H. Crowe trophy, awarded to Canada's outstanding track and field athlete of the year.

The B.C. Track and Field Association, which make the selections for four trophies, announced Reid is also its nomination for the F.N.A. Rowell trophy, for the outstanding field athlete.

B.C.'s other nominations for the national awards also from Vancouver, are: Runner Sig Ohleman, a 440 and 880 specialist, for the Viscount Alexander trophy for outstanding junior athlete;

KNOW SOMETHING, ARCH? WE BELIEVE YOU, TOO!

Ol' Arch, touring the night spots, was in a mellow mood when he was asked by a newspaperman: "How old are you, champ?"

"I'm going to tell you something I've never told anyone else," Moore confided. "Next Dec. 13 I'll be 49."

JUDGE 'CARRIED AWAY'

Court Reserves Appeal Decision

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Court of Appeal was told Wednesday that a six-month jail sentence imposed on National Hockey League star Murray Bert Olmstead would mean "lifetime destruction as a professional hockey player."

The three appeal judges, Chief Justice A. C. Des Brisay and Justices J. M. Coady and F. A. Sheppard, reserved their decision on Olmstead's appeal for quashing of the jail term.

Senator J. W. Farris, appearing for the hockey player, asked the judges to impose a moderate fine instead.

ASSAULTED AT BANQUET

The 31-year-old forward, formerly with Montreal Canadiens but traded in the off-season to Toronto Maple Leafs, was convicted and sentenced by Magistrate N. J. Bartman for assaulting Ralph D. Rooney of West Vancouver at a Vancouver Trapshooting Association banquet this summer.

Senator Farris said Wednesday the beating was not unprovoked and that Rooney struck the first blow by hitting Olmstead in the stomach. He called Rooney's allegation that Olmstead struck him at least 50 times "absurd."

He said Magistrate Bartman was "carried away with the extravagant descriptions of blood and pulp on the man's face" given in the police court.

N. R. Crump, CPR president, called him a "clean-cut young man not known to be a fighter."

NHL president Clarence Campbell said Olmstead always enjoyed the highest reputation for good character and conduct both on and off the ice.

Mr. Farris said that if the penalty were to be changed, that a fine in excess of $500, "say $1,000," would not be out of line.

Triple for Rocky

NEW YORK (AP) — Glenn (Rocky) Nelson, 33-year-old first baseman of the Toronto Maple Leafs, this year captured the International League's triple crown for the second time with a .326 batting mark, 43 home runs and 120 runs batted in.

Nelson also led in all three departments while with Montreal in 1955.

JAY JOINS DRAKES — FOR FRIDAY'S EXHIBITION

Ramblers Beefy Bunch

Oak Bay Drakes, who have had things pretty well to their liking in Victoria Intermediate Football League play during the past three years, can be excused if they dress a bulldozer Friday night.

Chances are Drakes will be able to put the machine to good use when they meet Seattle Ramblers in an exhibition encounter at Royal Athletic Park.

Bulwarked by a beefy line that averages 204 pounds, Ramblers are expected to give their Canadian hosts a good lesson in football. The game will be played under Canadian regulations.

Anchor man in the Seattle line is Bill Castrow, a six-foot, seven-inch tackle who formerly played with Olympic College. He weighs 240 pounds.

Drakes are expected to be without the services of fullback Ken Higgs, who scored four touchdowns in Oak Bay's first two games, and tackle Joe Kurylo.

Coach Jack Patrick, starting to work his passing arm back into shape, will move Wayne Henderson to fullback, along with newcomer Ronnie Jay, Peterborough athlete who originally came to Victoria to play lacrosse with Victoria Shamrocks.

Jay was on the first string of the Peterborough High School team two years ago and promises to add plenty of speed to the Drake backfield.

Maybe League Easier?

NEW YORK (AP) — Gordon Windhorn of Denver, a New York Yankee farmhand who flopped in the International League last season, won the 1958 American Association batting championship with a .328 average. Willie Tasby of Louisville, rookie of the year, finished second with .322.

Plea Made to Spare City's Playboy Whale

Fears were expressed today by Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the provincial museum, that someone may shoot a 25-foot finback whale which has roamed the waters off Ten Mile Point all summer and has become "too friendly" with fishermen.

The three to four-ton mammal nicknamed "Judo" by fishermen, apparently has no desire to leave the area and is frequently seen circling Discovery and Chatham Islands.

"I would hate to see her come to any harm," said Dr. Carl. "The whale is quite harmless and likes fun and a bit of sport. She wouldn't hurt a kitten."

Judo has had a whale of a time with fishermen this summer.

According to Charlie Guiget, museum biologist, she has swum and nosed around boats and on several occasions has jumped clean out of water.

"It's quite a sight seeing a whale leap like a salmon," he said. "What a splash."

The whale is so tame that Mr. Guiget, two weeks ago, took his wife to see Judo. They ran the boat alongside the mammal and had a good look at him.

Judo looked quite bored, Mr. Guiget said.

He didn't say how Mrs. Guiget felt.

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1958 21

Modernity is exemplified in new Art Gallery wing, to be opened officially Saturday.

Art Gallery In Line With Best

Opening of the new wing of the Art Gallery Saturday will place Victoria squarely in the forefront among national art exhibit centres.

"We are now in line with the best, right along with Vancouver, Winnipeg, Toronto and Montreal," Curator Colin Graham said today.

While the new extension doesn't compare in size with galleries in Eastern Canada, facilities for handling displays are on a par with the best there is.

Culmination of years of planning and cultural effort will be reached at the 11 a.m. opening ceremony. Art lovers from throughout Vancouver Island and the mainland will be there.

"Everyone is invited," the curator said.

JUST ON TIME

Up to today, it was touch and go whether the new $75,000 centennial gallery would be finished in time. As the situation now stands, all will be ready, but only a few hours before opening observances.

Present as a representative of the provincial government will be Education Minister Leslie Peterson; Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, chairman of the Greater Victoria Centennial Committee will represent that organization, while Richard Simmins will attend on behalf of the National Gallery, Ottawa.

The gallery extension will be dedicated by Archbishop Harold E. Sexton and formally opened by Mayor Percy Scurrah. He will unveil a plaque which will read:

"This building was erected in the year 1958 as a Greater Victoria centennial project with funds provided by Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich, Esquimalt, and the Province of B.C."

The new fireproof gallery will allow showings of priceless art treasures that for security reasons were previously barred from display here. As a result, the exhibition program for the following year will be two-thirds greater than the year past.

For the opening, the National Gallery has prepared an exhibition of "the cream" of Canadian paintings from the past 200 years. Sculpture and ceramics will also be shown.

"They are our first dividends of the new gallery," Mr. Graham said.

A week-long open house will follow the opening. The gallery is closed Monday, but hours during the remainder of the week will be 11 a.m. to 5.30 p.m., from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, and from 7.30 p.m. to 9.30 p.m. Friday.

. . . HERE AND THERE . . .

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Up at Parksville I found a sturdy log cabin said to have been built 100 years ago by a long-forogtten Anglican clergyman.

This clergyman, they say, was unfrocked for improper behavior while living in this cabin—but the details are lost in cobwebs.

Anyhow the people of Parksville feel his cabin is something of a Centennial effort. It now stands on property owned by Dick Ruston, formerly of the British Columbia Forest Service.

Victoria visitor John Badger, who runs the Hamilton Watch Company in Canada, is a member of the English-Speaking Union. On hearing that Bulganin had been dropped from the USSR central committee he shot off a letter to Bulganin asking him to join the Union.

Top marks for patriotism must go to long-service man W. C. Bradham-Thornhill, now a guest at Victoria's Veterans' Hospital.

Every morning before breakfast, come rain, hail or shine, Mr. Bradham-Thornhill marches to the front of the hospital, makes a smart right turn and salutes the flag.

Then, as briskly as if he were still serving with his old Irish regiment, he marches back to his quarters.

A complaint frequently heard in Australia nowadays is that the native-born males spend too much time drinking beer in men's bars while the New Australians (immigrants) chase after the girls.

David Stirling, of Victoria, who has just returned from a motorcycle tour of Australia, said this criticism is heard frequently, but he preferred not to comment since "the Australian people were so very kind to me".

"It is true," he said, "that Australians drink a lot of beer, but then they live in a very thirsty climate."

A Vancouver bachelor who has spent all his working life in that city is planning to retire to the Empress Hotel in a few years time.

"I believe the Empress offers an ideal life for a single man," he told me. "If I lived in a cottage on my own, I would probably get slack in my ways. But, living in a fashionable hotel, a man has to keep up his self-respect and his appearance."

Father, Son Guilty; Assaulted Policeman

A Saanich father and son pleaded guilty in city police court today to assaulting a policeman and were remanded to Friday for sentence.

Horace Taylor, 55, of 651 Alpha, and Douglas Taylor, 28, of 609 Alpha, were arrested early today after a fight with Cons. James Ramsay in Victoria West.

The officer, whose equipment belt was ripped partly off in his single-handed struggle with the two men, said he was patrolling alone in a police car on Wilson at 1.15 a.m.

He said he noticed a car parked in bushes of the deserted area with a man standing beside it.

Investigating what he termed a "peculiar" situation, he found another man and two women inside the car.

He questioned the first man, Horace Taylor, and Douglas, still in the car, became abusive.

Douglas stepped out and both men became abusive and began struggling with the officer, court was told.

Cons. Ramsay said he put Douglas to the ground, but was jumped on by the father, sending both on top of the younger man.

FOUGHT AND ROLLED

The trio rolled and fought in the dirt and Cons. Ramsay broke free to run to his patrol car and radio for assistance.

Both men began fighting with him again, he said, and he again put the younger man to the ground.

After this struggle, Horace escaped, but Douglas was held until the arrival of more police in a prowl car and patrol wagon.

Burned Sailor Reported Still 'Seriously Ill'

Condition of PO Gerald W. Dormand, 406 Prileane Crescent, is reported unchanged today.

PO McDormand was injured in a flash fire in the boiler room of HMCS Cayuga Tuesday, and Wednesday he was reported "seriously ill but satisfactory" by RCN doctors.

Also injured in the fire was PO William Osecki, 901 Metchosin, whose condition is good. Both suffered first and second degree burns, but PO McDorman also suffered chest complications.

Mental Hospital Stalling Blamed On Poor Wages

CCF Leader Robert Strachan today blamed civil service wages for the fact that the B.C. government cannot find enough trained workers to establish a 1,500-bed mental hospital on Vancouver Island.

"This points up the need for a complete revision of civil service salaries to bring them in line with reality," Mr. Strachan told the Times.

"So long as the government refuses to be reasonable in their attitude toward the civil service they will have increasing difficulty persuading top calibre people to leave their jobs and work for the government."

Mr. Strachan was referring to a statement by Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, who said the Island hospital project had been shelved because of inability to find enough trained mental hospital workers.

Meanwhile, Victoria branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association has called for "a frank explanation" of all reasons for shelving plans for the island hospital.

Mrs. Charles Frankham, branch president, said the lack of a mental hospital on Vancouver Island has created "an intolerable situation" for the mental patient, his family and his doctors.

"It increases the cost of recovery and causes an inestimable cost in human suffering," Mrs. Frankham said.

CANNOT COMPETE

She referred to Mr. Black's statement in the legislature last February that "the government cannot compete without disturbing to an unacceptable degree the whole scale of civil service salaries."

Said Mrs. Frankham:

"This implies an unwillingness to offer wages which will attract qualified staff. If there are reasons not made clear why the government cannot afford to offer adequate salaries then surely a frank explanation is due."

Mrs. Frankham added that more people in Canada are suffering from mental illness than all other illnesses combined.

Full Closing City "Duty"

City council today was asked to enforce the Wednesday afternoon store closing that goes into effect next week.

Archie Wills, spokesman for the Six-Day Shopping Committee, wrote council asking that the law be fully enforced by police if there is no extension of the present bylaw allowing six-day shopping 4½ months of the year.

Wednesday afternoon opening is allowed from June 1 to Sept. 15 and all through December under the present bylaw. It is under review by a council committee. A questionnaire is being sent merchants to discover their wishes.

Mr. Wills asked council to try a one-year experiment of six-day shopping for 12 months.

If it won't do this, then it is council's "duty" to advise operators that the law "will close tightly the stores of Victoria on Wednesdays after 1 p.m. until December," he said.

City Will Help Litter Campaign

STUART UNDERHILL
. . . holds hot spot

THE TOP STORY

Reuters Official Visits City

The "hottest" news story of recent years has been the Middle East crisis, according to a man who should know — Stuart Underhill, 44, Vancouver native son and now assistant general manager of Reuters, with headquarters in London.

"It has been exceedingly difficult and costly to cover," he said here today on a visit. "Communications are bad, and reporters must use great ingenuity—and sometimes spend a lot of money—to get their stories out."

"Four or five paragraphs in the Times might have taken the efforts of half a dozen men, working at great risk to their lives, and probably cost thousands of dollars."

HOW IT'S DONE

How does Reuters, a non-profit trust owned by British newspapers, get its news?

"Chiefly by having experienced men at the right places," Mr. Underhill said. "We watch for tipoffs, such as an obscure assassination in a far off spot, that trouble is brewing. Sometimes that means we'd better send a couple of men there to watch developments."

Mr. Underhill was educated at University School here, and joined Canadian Press in 1937. He worked in Vancouver, Toronto, New York and London, then became bureau chief in London in 1947, and bureau chief in New York in 1949. He went to Reuters in 1950, and now lives in London with his wife and three children.

LONG SERVICE RECORD

"Reuters is 107 years old this year, and is bigger and more vigorous than ever," he said. "We are more than holding our own in a highly competitive business."

He and his wife and family arrived in Vancouver July 30, and will return to Europe Sunday on Canadian Pacific Airlines' Bristol Britannia flight over the polar route to Amsterdam.

Public Works Group Offers Assistance

City public works committee has swung into action supporting Victoria's campaign against the litter bug.

The committee has asked the city engineering branch for reports on where more trash cans should be erected and possible re-painting of the cans in conspicuous colors.

In the meantime, it moved fast to clean up a trouble spot around Memorial Arena. Two trash cans have been erected on the east side of Blanshard today between the arena and Pandora.

"I think we are short of cans on the streets and at parks," said committee chairman Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow. "We've got about 100 now but that's not too many when they are spread throughout the city."

The cans also may be painted a bright color, possibly yellow, to make them stand out and remind citizens that trash should go into them and not on city streets.

The present silver-painted cans blend with the background and are too hard to see. He said:

"But no matter how many cans we put up or how brightly we paint them, they will not do the job unless we get the full co-operation of every member of the public," he emphasized.

Ald. Edgelow said his committee also will keep close watch on back alleys and building driveways in the downtown area "where some people seem to have a habit of throwing their litter."

He said this aspect of the problem not only added to unsightliness, it also presented a serious fire hazard to the downtown area.

WICKS SILENT ON FERRY ARBITRATION

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks this morning declined comment "at present" on the recommendation of Black Ball mediator Craig Munroe that the long dispute should be resolved by a board of arbitration if agreement on wages is not reached.

Mr. Munroe suggested the B.C. government continue to operate the ferries under the Civil Defence Act until the pay issue is settled.

Longshoremen Accept U.S. Strike Money

A spokesman for the 1,300 striking B.C. longshoremen said today the union has received $1,000 from the Seattle, Wash., local of the union and eventually would be taking in "considerably more than $50,000 a month from various sources."

William Henderson, chairman of the negotiating committee of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, told The Times:

"Seattle has promised $7,000 a month for the duration of the strike, Tacoma (Washington) more than $7,000 a month, and all the ILWU locals along the Pacific Coast and Hawaii will support us, too."

BIG ASSESSMENT

There are 60,000 longshoremen along the U.S. west coast, 18,000 in Hawaii. Average assessment per man in the Seattle local is $5 a month, $10 monthly in Tacoma.

"We don't believe in giving men strike pay automatically," Mr. Henderson said. The money contributed by the U.S. dockers would be given to strikers only when they were in actual need of it, he said, and payments were not made automatically as soon as a strike got under way.

"If a man doesn't think an issue is big enough to strike for it without pay, he shouldn't go on strike. Nor do we have an advance strike fund. If we had one, it might encourage the men to use poor judgment and go on strikes."

Federal mediator Eric Taylor has called the union and B.C. Shipping Federation together for a meeting in Vancouver at 10 a.m. Saturday.

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK By STUART KEATE

Do It Yourself!

This summer, imbued with the do-it-yourself propaganda, I resolved to finish our beach patio.

It all began 19 years ago when we began throwing rocks at a hornet's nest. Pretty soon, a fair pile of rocks began to take shape; the hornet's nest was still there, but the rocks were beginning to look good.

Keate

Every summer thereafter, with a merciful respite during the war years, I tossed, rolled, pried, shoved and wheeled rocks. They looked elegant, jutting out into the lake a bit, conjuring up pictures of lazy afternoons by the barbecue, with the gentle lap of the waves lulling the mind and faint aroma of onions titillating the senses.

The year 1958 was clearly the summer of decision. The time had come to do-it-myself.

So I did. I went to the nearest telephone and summoned a Dutchman and an Italian to do the cement-work.

After two days of back-breaking toil a serried battlement reared above the placid waters of Sproat Lake. All that remained was the fill, and the flagstones.

For this job, I enlisted the aid of my friend Norm Dolan, an Alberni boy who has built himself a thriving sand-and-gravel business. In due course Norm arrived with his load and surveyed the terrain.

"Guess I can get down to the beach this way," said Norm, indicating a tortuous path through the forest. "I'll just back 'er up first. . . ."

★ ★ ★

Painfully, by hand, we lugged every yard of that gravel over to the rockpile. By sundown it was full.

★ ★ ★

Norm looked at it, thoughtfully. "No sense putting concrete or flagstones down now," he said. "Let the water come up and wash that stuff down. You'll be much better off a year from now."

★ ★ ★

So it takes 20 years? So what?

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Should little girls curtsy?

Should I train my two preschool children to come downstairs before dinner and greet my guests? I have seen it done and thought it very nice. Should little girls be taught to curtsy instead of shaking hands?

Louise Davis

Louise Davis answers: It is excellent training for children to greet their parents' friends. Even though they may be awkward at first, practice makes perfect and will aid in developing poise. When teaching the youngsters, I suggest that you make a strong point of having them stay just long enough to say their how-do-you-do's, then depart promptly, politely and quietly. As time goes on, their self assurance will tell them what to say and do. I also suggest that the children learn to give firm handshakes early in the game. It is an excellent attribute of character and should stay with them for life if they are taught when quite young. How unpleasant it is to receive a weak or limp grip from any adult. Curtsying is almost a thing of the past. Many well brought up little girls still do it, however. It is a delight to see but is no criterion, as a well-behaved child can manifest her good "up-bringing" in other ways.

DRUNKENNESS NO EXCUSE

Indian Girl's Appeal Turned Down by Court

An Indian girl, in a white blouse and black skirt, sat in the B.C. Appeal Court Wednesday and heard her counsel raise the question:

Is a drunken person responsible for an assault which she cannot remember?

The question was argued before three judges of the appeal court by Joseph McKenna, QC, appearing for 22-year-old Ruth Charles of the Craigflower Indian Band.

Mr. McKenna argued that Ruth Charles was so drunk she did not know what she was doing when she broke a beer glass over the head of Mrs. John Hancock, wife of a beer parlor manager, and then jabbed her in the face with the broken glass.

Mrs. Hancock had to have 22 stitches in her face to close the gash.

The assault occurred at Sooke beer parlor on All Sooke Day, July 19, when, as Mr. McKenna said, a lot of people were "somewhat excited."

Later on Aug. 12 Ruth Charles was sentenced to six months in jail by Magistrate A. I. Thomas for assault causing bodily harm.

Appealing the sentence, Mr. McKenna emphasized that when Ruth Charles was asked in police court how many beers she had drunk she replied:

"The beer was coming so fast, I cannot remember."

He added that the potent effects of alcohol on Indians were well known, yet the beer parlour had exercised no restraint in serving beer to a girl who was already intoxicated.

Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran: "If we accept your argument that this person did not know what she was doing, we would have to acquit her. Do you think we should set her free when she has inflicted a rather severe facial injury?"

Mr. McKenna: "Yes, My Lord, if the evidence for the prosecution does not fit the crime she should be acquitted."

OFFENCE STANDS

Mr. Justice A. I. Bird questioned Mr. McKenna's contention that there could be no offence if the person charged was not conscious of inflicting bodily harm.

Mr. Justice O'Halloran told Mr. McKenna he had taken "a steep uphill road" in trying to prove the girl was provoked into assault.

"It might end in the Supreme Court of Canada," he said.

Mr. McKenna: "Well, it has got to start somewhere."

B.C. WOMAN HELD

BELLINGHAM, Wash.—A 19-year-old Vancouver, B.C. woman, Marie Judd, was held pending deportation proceedings here Wednesday after she and another Canadian girl were taken into custody with five Moses Lake, Wash., airmen near the border Sunday.

WOMAN DRIVER GOT 'BIG SCARE' PLUS $15 FINE

"Oh, I was scared . . ." a woman driver said in city police court Wednesday when chided for driving over a railway crossing past an approaching locomotive.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Halton, 1960 Argyle, pleaded guilty to driving past a flashing red stop signal on Esquimalt Road, indicating a railway crossing and an approaching train.

She was fined $15 by Magistrate H. C. Hall, who said, "You know how dangerous that is," mentioning a passenger and two small children in the car with her.

Mrs. Halton said she was talking to her adult passenger at the time and missed the signal.

Maffeo Greets Utility Group

Island Payroll Boosts From $25 To $60 Million In Thirteen Years

NANAIMO (CP) — Mayor Pete Maffeo welcomed more than 100 delegates from publicly owned electric utilities in B.C. and the northwestern United States at the opening Wednesday of a three-day meeting of the Northwest Public Power Association.

Mr. Nash noted that since 1945, on Vancouver Island alone, salaries and wages have increased from $25,000,000 annually to nearly $60,000,000. Annual value of factory shipments had risen from $73,000,000 to $240,000,000.

During the same time annual production of electricity at B.C. Power Commission plants on the Island rose from 14,500,000 to 712,000,000 kilowatt hours.

Vancouver Island is a good example of the benefits which public power has brought to private enterprise, he said.

"Thirteen years ago, at the end of the Second World War, our forests held the raw materials. Men looked to this island as an ideal place to work and to live. Money was available for investment and markets were expanding, but the spark needed to bring into being the tremendous development which followed was lacking. When that was supplied by formation of the B.C. Power Commission, the industrial potential of the Island began to be realized.

A home-cooking stall will be in operation, and hot dogs will be sold.

Trial Exhibits Tampered With Police Charge

COURTENAY (CP) — A charge of attempting to defeat the course of justice was laid Wednesday against two Cumberland youths already facing two serious charges.

Kenneth Mackie and Robert W. McMullen, each about 20, were accused of tampering with police exhibits while in custody Tuesday at Cumberland. Magistrate John Ryland granted the pair bail totalling $6,000 each after a two-day hearing and reading of the other charges.

Mackie and McMullen now face joint counts of breaking into Cumberland Motors and stealing an empty safe Aug. 16, trafficking in a substance represented to be a drug and tampering with police exhibits.

Committal to a higher court was ordered late Wednesday on the theft charge, with bail set at $500 in two sureties. On the drug charge the two elected trial by a higher court and were remanded for preliminary hearing Friday at Courtenay, with bail set at $5,000 for each. The same day the attempt to defeat justice charge will be heard, with bail $500 each.

Maximum sentences possible are 30 years' imprisonment, plus a whipping if they are convicted of the drug charge. Cumberland police declined to divulge what exhibits the prisoners had tried to reach.

Charter Given Zoo Project At Wellington

NANAIMO (CP) — Charter for a North Wellington zoological gardens, which may expand to a 90-acre $500,000 project within five years, has been received by the sponsoring Vancouver Island Zoological Society.

Society member Paul Hertel, who noted he may manage the gardens, said present membership of the newly-formed group is nearing 200. He said he is not a member of the seven-man directorate.

Mr. Hertel said the project will be modelled along the lines of the gardens of Granby, Que.

He noted the Granby gardens have become a million-dollar investment in about eight years as a result of public support. Over 240 species of larger animals are confined in the Granby gardens.

About $60,000 is now invested in Hertel-owned land, which will be taken under a 10-year lease for the project.

"I will manage the gardens, but only if the directors decide to appoint me," Mr. Hertel explained. His animals would form the basis for expansion.

The dismissal in the Fall Assize Court here followed an hour and a half jury adjournment. This was the first case of a seven-case docket for the annual session.

Mr. Cunliffe was assisted by William Craig, Vancouver.

School Board To Complain Of Bad Roads

GANGES—Trustees of School District 64 (Salt Spring) will complain to the highways minister of the "washboard" roads used by school buses on Salt Spring Island.

Complaint was lodged by the board of trustees transportation committee at a board meeting here. Members blamed the dry summer for the road condition.

Trustees reported improvements made during the summer included provision of a new washroom and play area at Saturna, and improved playing fields, new floor covering, new lighting, and redecoration of rooms and halls at Ganges school.

New retaining walls and a sidewalk now complete a staff parking and bus loading area at the school.

Mrs. H. Prior, Pender Island trustee, reported enrollment there had increased from 19 last June to 34 at present, and that a second room in the school will be reopened when a teacher is available.

Maffeo Greets Utility Group

Island Payroll Boosts From $25 To $60 Million In Thirteen Years

NANAIMO (CP) — Mayor Pete Maffeo welcomed more than 100 delegates from publicly owned electric utilities in B.C. and the northwestern United States at the opening Wednesday of a three-day meeting of the Northwest Public Power Association.

Mr. Nash noted that since 1945, on Vancouver Island alone, salaries and wages have increased from $25,000,000 annually to nearly $60,000,000. Annual value of factory shipments had risen from $73,000,000 to $240,000,000.

During the same time annual production of electricity at B.C. Power Commission plants on the Island rose from 14,500,000 to 712,000,000 kilowatt hours.

Vancouver Island is a good example of the benefits which public power has brought to private enterprise, he said.

"Thirteen years ago, at the end of the Second World War, our forests held the raw materials. Men looked to this island as an ideal place to work and to live. Money was available for investment and markets were expanding, but the spark needed to bring into being the tremendous development which followed was lacking. When that was supplied by formation of the B.C. Power Commission, the industrial potential of the Island began to be realized.

SCOUTS STAGE RUMMAGE SALE

LUXTON—Group committee of Luxton Boy Scout Troop and Wolf Cub Pack will hold a bazaar and rummage sale Saturday from 2 to 5 p.m. at the South Vancouver Island Rangers' grounds, Happy Valley Road.

A home-cooking stall will be in operation, and hot dogs will be sold.

Trial Exhibits Tampered With Police Charge

COURTENAY (CP) — A charge of attempting to defeat the course of justice was laid Wednesday against two Cumberland youths already facing two serious charges.

Kenneth Mackie and Robert W. McMullen, each about 20, were accused of tampering with police exhibits while in custody Tuesday at Cumberland. Magistrate John Ryland granted the pair bail totalling $6,000 each after a two-day hearing and reading of the other charges.

Mackie and McMullen now face joint counts of breaking into Cumberland Motors and stealing an empty safe Aug. 16, trafficking in a substance represented to be a drug and tampering with police exhibits.

Committal to a higher court was ordered late Wednesday on the theft charge, with bail set at $500 in two sureties. On the drug charge the two elected trial by a higher court and were remanded for preliminary hearing Friday at Courtenay, with bail set at $5,000 for each. The same day the attempt to defeat justice charge will be heard, with bail $500 each.

Maximum sentences possible are 30 years' imprisonment, plus a whipping if they are convicted of the drug charge. Cumberland police declined to divulge what exhibits the prisoners had tried to reach.

Gun Pellets Hit Hunter

NANAIMO—Hit in the face by shotgun pellets Tuesday evening while hunting at Crofton, Eldon Adams was treated at Nanaimo General Hospital and discharged the same night.

According to reports, he had been hit by a discharge from his hunting companion's gun. They were in thick brush and unable to see each other.

MOVE TO ALLOW SEEING-EYE DOG IN RESTAURANTS

Victoria-Esquimalt health board is drawing up a suggested amendment to provincial health legislation that would allow seeing-eye dogs accompanied by their blind masters to enter restaurants.

The action follows recent complaints by a blind visitor to the city who said he had difficulty entering Victoria restaurants because of present regulations banning animals from public eating places.

The amendment, if passed, would relieve restaurants of any penalty for admitting a seeing-eye dog.

JCs Threaten To Shelve Rink

City council was expected to decide today if Junior Chamber of Commerce representation will be allowed on the arena commission.

The Jaycees have threatened to shelve plans for the building of a $125,000 ice rink behind Memorial Arena if they are not granted a commission seat.

"All we want is one member to look after our interests—just a slight amount of protection," project chairman William Davison said today.

If it is a question of amending by-laws to allow representation, it should be done, he stated.

City council's finance committee has endorsed the rink proposal in principle, but aldermen said council had no power to guarantee Jaycee representation on the commission.

Time Loophole Left in Tenders On B.C. Ferries

The two new ferries to be built for the B.C. government for service between Swartz Bay and the mainland are unlikely to be in operation before late 1959 or early 1960, a government spokesman said today.

Tenders have only just been called and will not be opened until Nov. 14. It is unlikely contracts will be let before the end of November.

Two completion dates are mentioned in the specifications for the two ships, which are expected to cost about $3,000,000.

In submitting bids tenderers may choose either July 1, 1959, or Feb. 1, 1960, as completion dates. This is seen as a loophole if it is found impossible to build the two big vessels in six months.

The ships will be 329 feet long and 72 feet wide. They will be equipped with a complete dining room and lounge space for passengers.

VICTORIANS SEEK KNOWLEDGE

College Evening Classes Offer Skill to Hundreds

Skill in vocations and avocations is sought by hundreds of Victorians who have only their evenings to spare for learning.

For instance, this fall it offers three courses designed to improve skills besides many courses of purely academic nature.

The three courses are slanted towards large segments of the Greater Victoria community—the small boat owner, the businessman and the busy person who has to wade through a great deal of reading material.

The cruising with safety course, opening Sept. 24 at 8 p.m. in the college for the first of 12 meetings, is a completely practical survey of all important aspects of yachting, whether sail or power.

VOYAGES CHARTED

It will cover boat handling, sea regulations, navigation, safety equipment, boat care and even point out worthwhile trips in the area.

Cost of the course is $12. Instructor will be R. V. James, member of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club.

Switching to the needs of businessmen, the evening division is offering a course in control and management of retail and professional credit, sponsored by the Credit Granters' Association of Victoria, which issues a certificate to all successful participants.

Cost of this course, including text book and other materials, is $17.50 for nine sessions at the college, beginning Oct. 6 at 7.30 p.m. Instructors will be W. G. Ellis, co-manager of Victoria Credit Bureau, and G. A. A. Hebden, president of Hebden Printing Co. Ltd.

The third course, Workshop in More Effective Reading, probably would benefit most adults living in this fast-moving age. But it has to be limited to 20 students which means speedy registration is required to be sure of entry.

HOW TO READ FAST

Designed to improve the speed and comprehension of reading skills, it will be taught by optometrist F. W. Fraser with the use of special equipment and techniques.

Basic reading ability will have to be demonstrated by applicants before they can participate in the $30 course.

First meeting will be at the college Oct. 2 at 7.30 p.m. Full course is 20 meetings, with sessions held Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Deal for Lions Made at 'Bull Session'

(See Story Page 10)

EDMONTON (CP) — Ken Montgomery, former president of the Edmonton Eskimos, said today a suggestion he would form a syndicate to take over the clawless B.C. Lions had come up during a "Vancouver football bull session and received no serious consideration by either the Lions or myself at this point."

It had been reported that Montgomery had offered to organize a five-man syndicate of businessmen from across Canada to purchase the Lions and give Vancouver a "business-like" operation in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

City Man Fined $500 In Auto Death

CALGARY (CP)—A fine of $500 and costs or six months in jail was given Jack Leslie Hay of Victoria when he pleaded guilty before Magistrate R. V. Read in police court today to a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident in which Cecil Henry Hoffman, 46, was killed Monday night.

Court was told Hay's car struck Hoffman as he walked along the wrong side of the road on the Macleod Trail. Court was told Hay stopped his car, walked back, saw he had hit a man, panicked, left the scene, and later abandoned his car.

CIVIL SERVICE PAY ROW

8,000 B.C. Staff Back Strike Vote

More than 8,000 employees of the B.C. government have decided by an estimated 80 to 90 per cent ballot to take a strike vote, "if necessary," to force more pay from the Bennett administration.

Victoria civil servants will decide on their action at a mass meeting here Monday, and several other branches are still to be heard from.

John Murrell, director of organization for the 11,250-strong B.C. Government Employees Association, told The Times replies to an "Are you prepared to take drastic action?" letter have brought a loud "yes" so far from civil servants in 20 communities throughout B.C.

They are Vancouver, New Westminster, Chilliwack, Comox, Fort St. John, Golden, Powell River, Prince George, Kamloops, Merritt, Nanaimo, Princeton, Penticton, Terrace, Tranquille, Williams Lake, Salmon Arm, Woodlands School (Vancouver), Allison Pass and Vernon.

This is what the government employees voted "yes" to:

- Forego wage increases for 1958 (they have been demanding a 10 per cent boost);
- Go "all the way" for a pay boost starting at 11 per cent in 1959 by ensuring that sufficient money is provided in the 1959 budget for increases as of April 1, 1959;
- Take "all necessary steps," including a strike vote, to enforce demands.

No Satisfaction Given—Time to Act

"We don't like the government's attitude," said Mr. Murrell, "We have been trying to get some sort of satisfaction from Bennett for a long time, and now it's time to do something about it.

"But remember we are not pioneering a strike vote. Such action will be taken only if absolutely necessary and there seems no other way. We just would like to know where we stand."

The association demanded a 15-per-cent increase in 1957, but received only 7½ per cent.

Mr. Murrell said he had written several times to Premier Bennett, but did not receive any acknowledgement.

"The other day I made an appointment with one of the cabinet ministers, then changed the time of day when he asked me to. I took a plane and arrived in good time, but when I went to meet the minister I was told he was out of town.

"Is this any way to run the government? The public is entitled to something better from the men it has elected."

Mr. Murrell added the Bennett government had not been "at all courteous" in its dealings with its own employees.

Earlier, association officials said there is little likelihood the government will include money in the 1959 estimates to provide wage increases "unless the members of the association are prepared to take some militant action."

The civil servants' recent story began at the annual convention Dec. 11 and 12, 1954, when the association directed its executive to press for improvements in wages, superannuation, semi-monthly pay, substitution pay, night shift differential, annual holiday and other benefits.

These demands were incorporated in a brief to the cabinet Dec. 3, 1957. No answer was received.

On March 28, 1958, another brief was sent to cabinet, emphasizing the association's concern over the government's attitude in ignoring briefs, the Premier's failure to answer association letters, and the fact the government had failed to implement understandings (on pay) arrived at in the 1957 settlement.

In July, 1957, there was a 7½ per cent settlement but "it did not bring salaries up to the

'TERRIBLE THING'

Starvation Death Probe By Scurrah

By JOHN MIKA

Mayor Percy Scurrah said today he will make a personal investigation of the death by starvation Thursday of a 71-year-old Chinese old age pensioner.

The tragedy, which sent violent ripples of shock through the city, has touched off separate investigations by police, health and welfare departments. Police Chief John Blackstock said today a report also would be made to coroner Dr. Edward Hart.

Dov Lum, 71, of 546½ Herald, apparently staggered down the stairs from his apartment building room Tuesday and collapsed in a side alley—only about 75 feet from the Chinese Hospital directly across the street.

He was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital emergency ward by police acting on a cryptic telephone call. He died within 24 hours without regaining consciousness.

At death, he weighed 60 pounds, was emaciated and in filthy condition with his finger and toe nails an inch long.

$75 A MONTH

Welfare officials confirmed the fact that he was receiving a $55 monthly old age pension and a $20 monthly bonus. He also had a provincial government card entitling him to free medical services.

"I'm going to go down to the neighborhood myself and make an effort to find out what happened to see if this sort of thing can be avoided," he said.

City Welfare Administrator William Hooson said there may be many similar cases of recluses falling ill and dying among the estimated 600 elderly Chinese sitting out their last days in one-room cubicles scattered through the Chinatown area.

CAN'T BE FOUND

"There's nothing we can do for these people because we cant' find them. They won't come to ask for help and their neighbors don't report them," he said.

Both Mr. Hooson and Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy, Victoria-Esquimalt medical health officer, said the appalling death pointed up the need for expansion of the 24-bed Chinese hospital which has been overcrowded for years.

"To put it bluntly," said Dr. Mahaffy, "these people are not willing to go to Occidental hospitals. They want to be among their own people. The only solution is to increase the size of their hospital."

REFUSED DOCTORS

Eric Joe, manager of the aparement building where Doy Lum lived and 1958 president of the Victoria Chinatown Lions Club, said the recluse refused every offer of assistance.

"I sent three doctors to see him. But he would have absolutely nothing to do with Occidental doctors. He refused to consider going to hospital," he said.

"Last year I got a Chinese doctor to visit him and he told me that Lum was not suffering

Keen Race For Leader Predicted

Tory Convention Opens In Vancouver

By PETE LOUDON
Times Political Reporter

Voting takes place Saturday afternoon just prior to the convention finish. At this point anyone could win.

Candidates will make final campaign speeches Friday night.

Today's program was given over to registration of the first of the expected 600 delegates who are trickling in from all parts of the province.

Preliminary committee meetings are also being held.

Opening general session was set to begin at 8 tonight.

Acting president of the provincial executive, William Payne, MP, was to give the call to order. Keynote address was to be made by federal Public Works Minister Howard Green.

A battery of special guests is slated to appear at the three-day meet. These include Defence Minister George Pearkes, Justice Minister Davie Fulton, Vancouver Centre MP Douglas Jung, Alberta Tory leader W. J. C. Kirby, MLA, and Allister Grosart. Mr. Grosart, respon-

Reprieve Refused In Death for $1.95

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The Alabama supreme court today refused to reconsider an earlier decision which upheld the death sentence of Jimmy Wilson for a $1.95 robbery. The Negro handyman's execution was reset for Friday, Oct. 24.

Wilson's death sentence for the robbery of an elderly white widow was upheld by the supreme court last June 12, but the condemned man asked for a rehearing. That request was denied by the court today.

The effect of the denial was to uphold the death penalty for a second time and to order the 55-year-old illiterate ex-convict put to death in the electric chair.

Wilson, whose fate has attracted world-wide attention, was sentenced to death on a charge of robbing 82-year-old Mrs. Estelle Barker at her home at Marion, Ala., July 27, 1957.

Mrs. Barker told the trial jury the Negro, along with taking the money, choked her, tried to rape her and threatened her life.

Robbery is a capital offence in Alabama, but only Negroes have ever received this maximum penalty.

Tory Parley Issue Settled

VANCOUVER (CP) — Provincial Conservative leader Deane Finlayson today cleared up the mystery of a letter of support from Prime Minister Diefenbaker — he said there was no such letter.

The 52-year-old leader, who is seeking confirmation of his office at a party convention opening tonight, was questioned about the reported letter at a press conference.

After denying any knowledge of such a letter, Mr. Finlayson said: "This is a provincial convention and I am prepared to stand on my own feet."

The leader said he wanted to dispel the notion that he was trying to capitalize on the fact that he knew the Prime Minister and the Prime Minister knew him.

Earlier reports that the Prime Minister had sent Mr. Finlayson a letter endorsing him as provincial leader had been the subject of controversy, nothing against Mr. Finlayson

Previously his opponent for the leadership in the Saturday vote, 32-year-old Dr. Desmond Kidd, said he had been assured that the Prime Minister was supporting no particular candidate for the leadership of the provincial party either publicly or privately.

He said the Prime Minister's attitude was the same as that in other provincial conventions—that he was not taking sides. He said that if Mr. Finlayson had such a letter he challenged him to produce it.

Dr. Kidd said he entered the leadership race because of his growing concern about the present provincial Social Credit government which he described as "third rate." He said he had

Naval Gunnery Error Blamed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Residents of Roberts Creek, 30 miles northwest of here on the Strait of Georgia, today told of a naval bombardment that sent three shells whistling into the area of the quiet fishing village.

One shell was reported to have buried itself in bush a mile inland.

The other two plunged into the sea and near the beach, throwing up a shower of spray.

Residents said today the whine o the shells and the sight of the splashes were "terrifying."

A naval spokesman said the warships Skeena, Athabaskan and Cayuga were on gunnery exercise in the area Tuesday using three-inch anti-aircraft guns.

He said it was "entirely possible" shells could carry on for some distance if their fuses did not function properly.

Cmdr. William Kidd of Vancouver, captain of Skeena and senior officer of the group, was quoted as saying it was "unlikely" the shells would carry to shore.

The spokesman noted they were fired in a normal operational area noted on department of transport charts.

He said he could hear it whining overhead. "It appeared to strike in the bush at the other side of the highway a mile and a half from the beach."

He said another shell was seen by others to land in the sea 200 yards from the beach in front of the home of Mrs. Florence Johnson.

Mrs. John Southwell saw the third shell strike the water near the wharf. "I heard the whining and then saw smoke and spray coming from the water about 75 yards from the wharf," she said.

The women said the incident happened between 3 p.m. and 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Mr. Handy said the ships appeared to be closer Tuesday than they usually are when on exercises.

"They were so close all our windows shook," he said.

An official spokesman for the Pacific Command at Esquimalt said today a check-out of the reports indicate they appeared to be inaccurate.

At the time the first two shells were reported, about 10 a.m. Tuesday, the three ships were carrying out firing exercises about five and one-quarter miles southwest of Roberts Creek, the navy said.

The spokesman said they were firing in a westerly direction, and that it was "not possible" shells could have landed either inland or close offshore.

At the time the third shell was reported as landing "75 feet off the wharf," Cayuga was firing from a point 7½ miles southwest, with her guns pointed almost due east, the spokesman said.

He said the closest a shell from this ship could have reached Roberts Creek was 3,500 yards away from the wharf.

Searchers Listen In Vain

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Two hundred searchers remained outside overnight in the area surrounding the Willow River home of two-year-old Cindy Lou MacLane in hopes the child, if still alive, would make some sound that would lead them to her.

They heard nothing. Hopes that the little girl, missing from her home since 9 a.m. Tuesday, might still be alive flickered.

CONVOY ESCORTED BY U.S.

Reds Beat Off Quemoy Relief

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Nationalist supply ships, convoyed by American warships, reached Quemoy beach today but were forced to turn back by a heavy Red artillery barrage before they could unload the bulk of their cargo.

Associated Press Correspondent Gene Framer said an "intense saturation shelling" forced two supply ships to withdraw from the beach after they had unloaded only a few supplies for the Nationalist garrison.

American warships stood off at a distance, he said.

The Nationalist defence ministry said earlier that the supply ships had returned undamaged to their Pescadores base after unloading.

SECOND FAILURE

This was the first attempt to run supplies to the garrison since Monday, when Communist artillery blew up an ammunition ship and forced another to retreat after losing most of its cargo.

The U.S. command on Formosa announced that U.S. jet pilots have begun taking an active part in the defence of Formosa itself.

A spokesman said American air units now are in position at bases here and "have assumed full alert responsibilities

PM Won't Press Formosa at UN

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker now does not plan to pursue his suggestion that the United Nations intervene in the Formosa Strait dispute, it was learned Wednesday.

Feeling here is that there is no particular need for the UN to intervene now that the United States and Communist China are planning to hold ambassadorial talks in Warsaw on the situation.

Meanwhile, the national CCF party Wednesday sent a telegram to the prime minister expressing concern about "press and radio" reports that the United States Navy will land Chinese Nationalist forces on Quemoy Island in the next 24 hours.

The telegram, signed by CCF national president David Lewis, said if the reports are true they represent a "most serious and immediate" threat to world peace.

Mr. Lewis urged the government to abandon its "foolhardy course."

The "entire question" of Formosa should be referred to the United Nations.

but the party lacked proper organization in British Columbia, something on which he would go to work if elected.

Kidd committee spokesman, George McLean said "only 22 ridings were organized in the last provincial election — the Conservative party has died in many areas."

"The committee feels a rebirth cannot take place under present leadership. That is why the committee is sponsoring Dr. Kidd. Mr. Finlayson had six years to foster a rebirth—and no rebirth has been forthcoming."

Dr. Kidd would not comment when asked if the assurances were given to him direct by the prime minister.

"That question should be directed to Mr. Finlayson. I didn't start this thing, it began in Stuart Keate's (Victoria Times publisher) column."

Finlayson would neither confirm nor deny the existence of the letter. He said:

"The prime minister is an old political campaigner. I have supported him for years in his leadership of the Conservative party because I believed he was the right man.

"I've been in his company a number of times and I campaigned for his candidates in 1957 and 1958. He knows who I am and what I've done for the party."

The Tory leader said he had pulled the party together over the last few years and now he wanted a clear mandate. He admitted there had been criticism of his leadership, but said unity was the most important thing.

He promised if Dr. Kidd was elected, he would be thoroughly behind the new leader. Dr. Kidd, on his part, expressed a similar view and said his candidature was mainly to give the convention's 600 delegates a chance to make a choice.

Mr. Finlayson said he did not think British Columbians wanted socialism and in the next election the Progressive Conservatives would provide the main opposition to Social Credit. There was no question that Premier Bennett's stock had fallen, and the Conservatives planned to field a full slate of candidates in the next election.

Mr. Diefenbaker said in a telephone conversation in Prince Albert he would make no comment on the reported letter.

The prime minister said he never becomes "involved directly or indirectly" in provincial party affairs.

from any particular illness. He was thin and living in squalor but that was the way he wanted it.

"I offered to get him some decent clothes from the Lions Club or the Salvation Army because he was wearing rags, but he wouldn't have any of it."

NO PLACE TO GO

"He was living in a terrible condition but I couldn't turn him out, there was no place for him to go," said Mr. Joe. "I don't know of any relatives he may have had."

Investigations so far have not penetrated the circumstances of the death. However, several persons involved in the various investigations believe that he fell ill and became too weak to go out for food.

"I hadn't seen him for a month, but that was not unusual because he kept entirely to himself," said Mr. Joe. "I just got back last night from a holiday and I don't know what happened since I last saw him."

BIGGER HOSPITALS

Mr. Hooson said there is a growing problem in meeting the needs of elderly Chinese here since the Communists took over China. Few Chinese return to their homeland now when they grow old.

"They stay on here but they live alone and they are extremely reluctant to come to us when they need help," he said. "We can't trace them all.

"But most of them, when they are ill, are willing to go to the Chinese hospital where they are among their own people and eat their own food. That's why we must find a way of expanding that hospital to help these people."

Funeral arrangements are in the hands of the Dart Coon Club. The body will be buried in Royal Oak Burial Park when arrangements are completed.

EDDIE, DEBBIE SEPARATE AMID GOSSIP

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Debbie Reynolds and Eddie Fisher have separated although Debbie says, "I'm still in love with my husband."

They split up Wednesday amid rumors that Elizabeth Taylor was the cause of it all.

But Liz indicated there were some unhappy chapters in Hollywood's storybook marriage.

"I don't feel that I've taken Eddie away from Debbie—because they weren't getting along, anyway," said Miss Taylor.

She slipped into seclusion. Eddie moved in with a friend, comedian Joey Forman. Debbie, after hiding out Wednesday with friends, returned to the family home.

"I am still in love with my husband," she said Wednesday night. "I am deeply shocked over what has happened."

That means the planes stand on runways, fully armed and warmed up. American pilots are ready to take off the moment there is any report of unidentified planes approaching.

U.S. PLANES READY

The spokesman would not say how many U.S. planes and pilots are involved, but it is generally believed there are about 250 to 300 U.S. air force and marine jets on Formosa ready for combat.

Peiping radio reported that militia men have been mobilized at Amoy and the Tateng and Hsiao-teng islands across from Quemoy.

The broadcast said they were "ready to co-ordinate with the Chinese people's liberation army in wiping out invaders at any moment."

The Russians also issued another warning to the United States that war with China would mean war with the Soviet Union.

In a broadcast beamed to North America, Moscow radio repeated its pledges to come to China's aid and warned that China is no "little Lebanon." It repeated Premier Krushchev's demand that the 7th Fleet withdraw from the Formosa Strait and U.S. troops get out of Formosa.

Mainland Milk Strike Threat Averted by $25 Wage Boost

VANCOUVER (CP) — The threat of a lower mainland milk workers' strike was lifted Wednesday.

Milk drivers union spokesman Ben McCrone said peace terms were arranged at an all-day mediation session presided over by William Fraser, provincial government conciliator.

Operators agreed to give milk drivers a $25 monthly pay increase retroactive to April 1, and this will be boosted to $30 when a contract is signed.

From Jan. 1, they will receive an additional $13.75 until the agreement expires March 31, 1960.

Plant workers will get a $25 raise effective April 1 this year and a further $15 next April.

Women workers in the plants receive half these amounts.

The union originally asked $48 a month for drivers in a one-year agreement, and $43 for inside workers.

Drivers' pay will now average about $355 a month and plant pay will range up to $342.

HOURS LIMITED FOR BOAT RAMP

Effective immediately, the boat launching ramp near Oak Bay boathouse will be barred from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m., Reeve Fred Norris said today.

The move is being taken, he said, because of inconvenience to nearby residents associated with increasing use of the ramp.

We've gone fishing for facts

Education and information is an important part of the Department of Fisheries' work—telling the facts about Canada's fishing industry.

Fish are a great national resource . . . vital to this country's economy. Canada's welfare—which means yours—depends on keeping them in plentiful supply. The educational program of the Department is designed to tell Canadians what's being done to preserve the nation's extensive fish stocks and how valuable they are as a basic food resource.

This work is carried out through the daily and weekly press; radio and television; magazines; educational publications; recipe pamphlets for housewives; exhibitions; permanent fishery displays; film and filmstrip showings; and illustrated educational talks to fishermen and consumers.

Governor Blamed For Segregation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Counsel for the Little Rock School board told the supreme court today that Gov. Orval E. Faubus and other state and local authorities "frustrated" racial integration of Central High School.

He said during cross-examination by the justices that the board would not be seeking a two and one-half-year delay in integration if state authorities had given their unequivocal support.

Richard C. Butler also suggested that Faubus' answer to integration may not work.

Faubus to Defy Supreme Court?

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Governor Orval Faubus indicated today that he expects the United States Supreme Court to order integration of the schools in Little Rock and said, "I will not force my people to integrate against their will."

He made the statement at a press conference shortly after the supreme court convened in Washington.

"I will fight to preserve the rights guaranteed to the people under the constitution," he said, "and that includes the control of the schools."

Driver Acquitted In Traffic Death

NANAIMO (CP) — Verdict of not guilty was returned Wednesday following the two-day trial of Melvin Edward Hanson, 27, on a criminal negligence charge arising out of the traffic death Jan. 24 of Charles Norval Petrie, 20, Youbou.

The dismissal in the Fall Assize Court here followed an hour and a half jury adjournment. This was the first case of a seven-case docket for the annual session.

Eleven witnesses were called by Crown counsel D. M. Cunliffe, while defence counsel Sidney Clark, also of Nanaimo, called none.

Mr. Cunliffe was assisted by William Craig, Vancouver.

In his defence Mr. Clark said: "The Crown has not produced any evidence showing Hanson to be the driver at the time of the accident. The fatal crash occurred on the Duncan-Lake Cowichan Road. Also killed was Robert Ketch of Youbou.

Mr. Justice MacFarlane presided.

Second case, also a criminal negligence charge arising out of a traffic accident, proceeded today at 10:30 a.m. Accused is Robert Steele, Port Alberni.

'HOT PURSUIT' IF ATTACKED

ABOARD THE CARRIER MIDWAY, OFF FORMOSA (AP) — If Communist planes attack aircraft of the U.S. 7th Fleet, they will be pursued to the coast of Communist China and possibly beyond.

The commander of the fleet's carrier striking force, Rear-Admiral Ralph S. Clarke, said today his pilots are restricted at present to flying no closer than 20 miles to the China coast.

But if attacked they will, under the doctrine of "hot pursuit," chase attackers to the mainland. Once there, it would be up to the individual pilot's discretion whether to pursue farther.

The government gave no indication they intended to remedy the situation and the fact that no money was provided in the estimates at the last session is said to prove they have no such intention.

'Mister Montreal' Dies at 69

MONTREAL (CP)—Camillien Houde, 69, whose colorful terms as mayor earned him the title of Mr. Montreal, died suddenly today.

Mr. Houde, living quietly in retirement since 1954, had also served in the Quebec legislature and the federal parliament.

But it was as mayor of Montreal that he gained international fame, part of it due to his internment during the Second World War because of his opposition to conscription.

He was first elected mayor in 1928 and served until 1932. He was re-elected in 1934 and resigned in 1936. He was elected again in 1938 and served until 1940 when he publicly opposed national registration of Canadians.

On his release from internment in 1944 he was given a hero's welcome on his return to Montreal and was promptly re-elected mayor. He was undefeated in subsequent elections until his retirement due to ill health in 1954.

He served one term in Parliament from 1949 until 1953.

LED CONSERVATIVES

In provincial politics, he was elected to the Quebec legislature as a Conservative in 1923. He was defeated in 1927 but re-elected in a 1928 by-election. He was chosen leader of the Quebec Conservatives in 1929 but was defeated in the 1931 provincial election. Later he sat in the legislature for a brief period as an independent.

Mr. Houde was born Aug. 13, 1889, the son of Azade Houde and Josephine Frenette. Their home was a two-room tenement flat. Camillien was the only one of 10 Houde children to live beyond the age of two.

His first job was to carry butcher's delivery parcels for $1 a week. When he was 16 he got a job in a bank and rose to be a branch manager at 26.

Britain, U.S. Ready to Meet On Atom Ban

LONDON (AP)—Britain and the United States today agreed to meet Russia in Geneva Oct. 31 to negotiate a world-wide ban on nuclear weapon tests.

They restated their willingness to quit firing atomic and hydrogen weapons for one year from that Oct. 31 date.

In notes to the Soviet Union made public today simultaneously in London and Washington, the two countries rejected Premier Khrushchev's proposal that the Geneva talks be limited to two or three weeks.

The British reply said:

"Her Majesty's government of course agree that the negotiations should be concluded as quickly as possible, but believe that their importance requires the expenditure of whatever time may mutually be deemed necessary for their successful conclusion."

The American and British notes both make it plain that the two countries do not accept Khrushchev's demands that the ban on tests be made permanent.

Registration to date ensures a successful convention according to Derrick Humphreys, chairman of registration. Delegates are arriving by boat, plane, rail and private car from all parts of B.C. All 42 provincial and 22 federal ridings will be represented.

"A representation is even coming down from Alaska, just 30 miles south of the B.C.-Yukon border," said Mr. Humphreys.

LABOR PLANK

Leadership candidate Dr. Kidd said he felt one of the most important planks in the new Conservative platform will be the policy on labor matters.

He added that during his recent visit to B.C. he had spoken in 41 out of 42 ridings, and had spoken at least 60 times.

"I think I have spoken to 80 per cent of all the delegates. I don't know whether they all agree with me or not."

Asked what makes him think he will be a better leader than Mr. Finlayson, Dr. Kidd replied: "I know this province extremely well for one thing. I don't believe we have a provincial organization comparable to the federal organization. I would work on the provincial organization. It is not completely done."

He said if he did not win he would throw his full support behind Mr. Finlayson.

DRUNKENNESS NO EXCUSE

Indian Girl's Appeal Turned Down by Court

An Indian girl, in a white blouse and black skirt, sat in the B.C. Appeal Court Wednesday and heard her counsel raise the question:

Is a drunken person responsible for an assault which she cannot remember?

The question was argued before three judges of the appeal court by Joseph McKenna, QC, appearing for 22-year-old Ruth Charles of the Craigflower Indian Band.

Mr. McKenna argued that Ruth Charles was so drunk she did not know what she was doing when she broke a beer glass over the head of Mrs. John Hancock, wife of a beer parlor manager, and then jabbed her in the face with the broken glass.

Mrs. Hancock had to have 22 stitches in her face to close the gash.

The assault occurred at Sooke beer parlor on All Sooke Day, July 19, when, as Mr. McKenna said, a lot of people were "somewhat excited."

Later on Aug. 12 Ruth Charles was sentenced to six months in jail by Magistrate A. I. Thomas for assault causing bodily harm.

Appealing the sentence, Mr. McKenna emphasized that when Ruth Charles was asked in police court how many beers she had drunk she replied:

"The beer was coming so fast, I cannot remember."

He added that the potent effects of alcohol on Indians were well known, yet the beer parlour had exercised no restraint in serving beer to a girl who was already intoxicated.

Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran: "If we accept your argument that this person did not know what she was doing, we would have to acquit her. Do you think we should set her free when she has inflicted a rather severe facial injury?"

Mr. McKenna: "Yes, My Lord, if the evidence for the prosecution does not fit the crime she should be acquitted."

Mr. Justice A. I. Bird questioned Mr. McKenna's contention that there could be no offence if the person charged was not conscious of inflicting bodily harm.

Mr. Justice O'Halloran told Mr. McKenna he had taken "a steep uphill road" in trying to prove the girl was provoked into assault.

"It might end in the Supreme Court of Canada," he said.

Mr. McKenna: "Well, it has got to start somewhere."

Later Mr. Justice O'Halloran stated that the appeal judges would dismiss Mr. McKenna's appeal from conviction, but would hear further argument or an appeal from the six months sentence.

WOMAN DRIVER GOT 'BIG SCARE' PLUS $15 FINE

"Oh, I was scared . . ." a woman driver said in city police court Wednesday when chided for driving over a railway crossing past an approaching locomotive.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Halton, 1960 Argyle, pleaded guilty to driving past a flashing red stop signal on Esquimalt Road, indicating a railway crossing and an approaching train.

She was fined $15 by Magistrate H. C. Hall, who said, "You know how dangerous that is," mentioning a passenger and two small children in the car with her.

Mrs. Halton said she was talking to her adult passenger at the time and missed the signal.
